PIF JR. WINS LATONIA CUP.

LATONIA, KY., Oct. 28.—With the possible exception of a Derby Day, the largest crowd ever within the gates of the Latonia race track saw Pif Jr., R. L. Baker & Co.'s crack horse, beat Star Hawk by the margin of a nose in the Latonia Cup today. The race was at two and one-quarter miles and it was not decided until the last jump. The finish was so close that the thousands on the course stood breathless until the judges hung out Pif Jr.'s number. The vast crowd realized that they had seen a horse race par excellence. Star Jasmine finished third, beaten four lengths for the place.

The time for the race was 3:51 2-5, which is within three-fifths of a second of the track record made last year by Star Jasmine when she won the same stake. The last part of the race was run unusually fast considering the fact that it was such a long distance affair.

Seven horses went to the post in the rich event and Star Hawk was made the favorite. Everything in the race was bet on as it was considered an open event. When Starter Morrissey got them in line he sprang the barrier.

All the horses, keyed up to the highest pitch, were willing to go to the front, but every one of them was put under restraint. Hodge finally could not be held harder by Hunt, and he was made to set the pace. Star Jasmine and Star Hawk were close up with Pif Jr. in last place. They were all closely bunched, and five lengths would have covered the seven. Hodge held to the lead going around the first mile, but after that he started to slow up. Coming past the grand stand on the second time around, Star Jasmine showed in front, with Star Hawk lying right up alongside the McDowell mare. Pif Jr. was still in last place, but getting ready to run.

Around the clubhouse turn they ran in this position. Star Hawk was bearing in on Star Jasmine and Callahan's foot was scraping the rail. Hodge was going back, and in a quarter of a mile more had dropped out of contention. Fair Mac and Killanna, both imported horses, were up close. Rancher was in third position here after laying close to the pace makers in the first mile and a quarter. Murphy called on the Canadian horse on the backstretch, but he had enough of it. There was a general shifting of positions as they passed the half-mile pole, with Pif Jr. moving up a peg.

In the stretch Star Jasmine and Star Hawk were running head and head, with Pif Jr. lying in third place. Star Jasmine had enough by this time, and she started to drop out of it. Star Hawk went into the lead with Pif Jr. at his flank. The Macomber horse had the rail in that great battle in the last eighth of a mile. A few yards from the finish it looked like Star Hawk, but if ever a rider worked hard on a horse Robinson did on Pif Jr. and his efforts were finally crowned with success.

Star Jasmine was four lengths back of Star Hawk and just a neck in front of Killanna, which managed to save her entrance fee.

The net value of the race was $4,895 to the winner, to the second horse $800, the third $300 and the fourth, which was Killanna, saved its stake. In addition to the monetary value of the Latonia Cup, R. L. Baker, owner of the winner, received a silver service valued at $1,000. The presentation speech was made by Steward Charles F. Price and Mr. Baker responded with a neat little speech in which he told the officials that he had set his heart on winning the cup race early in the year with Pif Jr. and the honor of winning it was first in his mind. This marked the second cup race this fall for Pif Jr., he having finished second, beaten by a nose by Fair Mac in the Toronto Cup, which was at the same distance as today's race.

The cup race proved the best wagering proposition of the day, as every horse came in for a tremendous play, with Star Hawk the favorite at odds of 17 to 10. The winner paid odds of better than 6 to 1 and his victory was a profitable one for the Lexington contingent, as they backed him to a man.

George M. Hendrie, owner of the Windsor race track and also owner of Rancher, made the trip here from Detroit to see his horse perform, and he was very much disappointed at his poor showing. He told his many friends before the race that he thought sure his horse would win, and he said that he did not care how high-class the contenders were.

Handicapper Jack Campbell was the recipient of congratulations from all sides after the finish of the race, due to the close result which his allotment of weights produced. He worked faithfully on the weights before he gave them out, and there was no complaint from any source on this score.

The Woodlawn Handicap, at a mile and one-sixteenth, for three-year-olds and upward, again gave Bayberry Candle a chance to shine, and she did it in a highly creditable manner. She carried 124 pounds and beat a high-class field of route horses. She beat King Gorin by a length and one-half, and he beat Vogue half a length for second money. Vogue led the greater part of the way, but when Bayberry Candle was let out she ran away and hid from the Gallaher Bros.' mare. King Gorin finished with a good rush. There were six starters in this race, but the other three, Dorothy Dean, Hanovia and Grumpy, were outpaced all of the way.

Westy Hogan, capably ridden by Jockey Frank Robinson, again scored and showed his class when he won the Oakley Handicap, the third race on the card. He had to be driven out at that, as he only beat Believe Me Boys by half a length. The finish for second money also was close, as the E. R. Bradley filly only got the verdict by a head over Mary Belle. Believe Me Boys was in the van the greater part of the journey, but when Robinson got Westy Hogan straightened away in the stretch he finished fast and was drawing away at the end. The race was between the three placed horses all of the way. Westy Hogan was a top-heavy favorite at odds of 11 to 20.

Running on his own courage and with Jockey C. Tudor hanging on to him the best way he could, Mars Cassidy beat Uncle Hart by a nose in the second race. The winner came from behind to win, and had Jockey Buxton seen him coming through on the outside with his cyclonic-like rush Uncle Hart probably would have beaten him. Roscoe Goose and Uncle Hart ran head and head until right before reaching the wire, and then Uncle Hart got his nose in front. Mars Cassidy broke it all up, however, by nipping them both. Uncle Hart was the favorite.

Fizer finally graduated from the maiden ranks in the opening race and he had to be pounds the best to turn the trick, as he was almost left at the post and had to go around his field. He ran coupled in the betting with Spring Song. He beat Snowdrift, which was coupled with Shadow Lawn, by half a length, and Pluto was third. Eleven juvenile maidens contested for this race and it also was a good betting proposition. Lightfoot, with Jockey Roscoe Goose up, came in for a big play and she was well up part of the way, but she weakened to nothing. The winner was the favorite.

Lahore, at a good price, took down the sixth race, in which Conflagration again went to the post a "good thing." When the barrier went up Conflagration was almost in the betting ring, being jammed against the outside fence and he never had a chance to get up. Jessie Louise finished second, beaten a nose, while Almeda Lawrence was third. Jessie Louise was a favorite by five cents on the dollar over Howdy Howdy. The latter ran a bad race and was never a contender.

Sleeth was made the favorite for the last race, but he finished far back, beating only one horse, Hocnir. The farther he went the farther back he dropped and Jockey Roscoe Goose did not persevere with him when he saw that he was beaten. Syrian, which Joe Hawkins claimed from the Baker Bros. last week, was returned the winner, and Margaret N., which they had in their barn for a few hours recently, finished second. Yenghee was third and if there ever was a well meant horse he was one today. The presence of Jockey Frank Robinson, America's leading rider, did not help Sun God any.

The race meeting which ended today was the best in the history of Latonia for the fall. The attendance and volume of speculation was far in excess of previous years.

Today was the biggest day of any fall meeting in Kentucky. About 10,000 persons were out and $285,000 was bet in the machines. Hundreds were shut out, due to the short time between races, or the amount would easily have passed the $300,000 mark.

Bob Baker put Frank Robinson on the train for Baltimore tonight and handed him a check for $500. Robinson earned it, for he gave Pif Jr. a great ride.

Master Commissioner Hind, of Covington, sold the horses Irish Gentleman and Sauterelle today to dissolve the partnership between W. C. Metzger and J. H. Baker. J. H. Baker bid in Irish Gentleman for $900 and U. S. Wishard bid in Sauterelle for $825.

Joe Hawkins did not lose anything the other day when J. M. Henry ran up Margaret N. and took her away from him. Hawkins got $1,000 for Margaret N., won the purse and then claimed Syrian for $1,550. The first time they met Syrian defeated Margaret N. and Hawkins got a $650 purse out of it.

William Shelley and Eugene Elrod will leave for Laurel this afternoon to confer with Matt J. Winn regarding Juarez racing.

Hodge and Money Maker were shipped to Louisville last night, where they will be turned out for the winter.

At a conference with his trainer, Mose Goldblatt, tonight, Jeff Livingston, owner of one of the largest racing establishments in the country, mapped out his plans for winter racing, and will ship eleven horses to Pimlico on Monday as a starter. From Pimlico he will send this division of the stable to Bowie, and after Bowie closes will ship the string to New Orleans for the full session at the Fair Grounds track. After the New Orleans meeting is over the horses will be shipped to Hot Springs and thence back to Kentucky. Mr. Livingston had intended going to Havana with a stable of horses, but decided not to ship there. The remainder of his stable will be wintered at Louisville in charge of Trainer Louis Tauber. This section of the stable includes some of the most highly bred English horses in America.

Two new performers will race hereafter in the colors of Livingston. They are Syrian, winner of the last race at Latonia today, and Ben Hampson. He bought Syrian from J. S. Hawkins and Ben Hampson from Will Perkins. Jockey Harold Jeffcott was today signed as the stable's lightweight jockey. The boy can ride at 85 pounds. His contract was secured from John Walters.

Half a dozen or more owners here intend shipping to Pimlico for the racing there. Among those who are going are W. Feuchter, J. A. Gibson, E. W. Moore, H. Neustader, C. R. Richards and L. Marion.

Racing Secretary Campbell left for New Orleans last night, where he will hunt and fish until the New Orleans meeting opens.

Captain James Rees came up from Memphis to see the wind-up.

A. B. Hancock, master of the Ellerslie Stud in Virginia and also a breeder on a large scale in the Blue Grass region, came up for the wind-up. Mr. Hancock is one of the most level-headed men in the business and a big power in the Breeders' Association.

NEW ORLEANS CONTROVERSY ENDED.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., October 28.—"I think it is fair. The agreement ought to be binding on both," said H. D. "Curly" Brown today as he signed the final agreement with the Business Men's Racing Association, thereby ending a controversy which threatened to kill the sport of kings here during the coming winter season. Brown receives $401,250 for signing the agreement by which he agrees not to race here in eight years. The business men get City Park track with all of its buildings.

The agreement was signed at two o'clock this morning in a room in the Hennen Building. No one here but the men intimately interested knew it was taking place. Brown was got out of bed to attend it. He went with Chris Fitzgerald, W. P. Ball and A. B. Letellier accompanied President George A. MacDiarmid of the Business Men.

During the discussion the matter of financing the $75,000 which the Business Men are to pay Brown was considered. Brown said he appreciated that the task was not an easy one to be accomplished in twenty days in view of the fact that the Business Men are obliged to invest about $55,000 in the farm show.

"So far as that is concerned," he finally said, "while I do not want to put it in the agreement, if I can do so without financially embarrassing myself, I will extend the time ten days rather than see the deal fall through."

The business men decided to sell the sixty-per cent. of stock which they have not issued or so much as may be necessary. It is not expected they will find any difficulty in placing enough stock to provide the $35,000, which added to the $40,000 they are to post on Monday, will close the transaction.

Harry Rites has been engaged as manager of the stock farm at Binghamton, N. Y., of W. S. Kilmer, whose horses are trained by Henry McDaniel. They will retire for the season at the end of the Baltimore meeting.

NEW TRACK A CERTAINTY.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 31.—Rumors that a new race track is to be built in Kentucky, somewhere adjacent to Covington and Newport, were confirmed today by former Representative Joseph L. Rhinock. Certain grounds in Rosedale will be occupied by the new course, construction of which will begin as soon as the plans of the architect have been completed.

"It is true," said Congressman Rhinock today, "that local people have purchased about 100 acres in Rosedale and will construct a magnificent modern racing plant with a mile track. Covington is my home town and I have never lost interest in it. I shall be very glad to have an opportunity to purchase substantial interest in the proposed new racing plant, which I feel perfectly assured will be gladly welcomed by the local community."

It is understood that the new racing plant will be the last word in up-to-dateness and convenience. It is proposed that the track shall be from ten to fifteen feet wider than any other track in Kentucky, and that all of the turns will be so constructed as to afford greatest ease to the horses that will later negotiate it. The stables, it is said, are all to be of fireproof construction with facilities for trainers and jockeys that will be unequaled anywhere.

The grand stand is to be of steel and concrete construction and will have seating capacity for more than 20,000 people. Rest rooms, lunch hall and every modern convenience for the comfort and welfare of the public will be incorporated into this structure, which will be conveniently placed with reference to the pari-mutuel sheds and the paddock.

The topography of the grounds secured by Mr. Rhinock and his colleagues will lend itself to beautiful landscaping. It is their purpose to have one or more lakes in the infield, and to place all of the structures on the course with reference to the wonderful scenic beauty surrounding the track. Unusual attention is to be paid to the landscaping features.

The architect has been instructed to spare neither pains nor money in the plans for the clubhouse, which the projectors plan to make the finest that has ever been erected on a race course in this country. It, too, will be of fireproof construction, but the exterior will be of stucco, over which it is planned to train ivy or some other beautiful vine that will lend charm and dignity to the structure. A great living room, with ample lounging accommodations, will be a feature. In this room there are to be at least one, and perhaps two great fireplaces, which, in the chilly days of autumn, are expected to be a mecca for the racegoer, who dislikes the cold wind. Great windows from the living rooms will look out upon the course and a vast portion of the entire plant, enabling those patrons of the course who do not care to brave cold winds to see practically all that is going on. Runners from the clubhouse to the pari-mutuel sheds and paddock will keep clubhouse patrons in close touch with the active doings of the track.

It was admitted today that the new course will be more complete than any race course that has been projected or built within the past two decades. There will be enormous parking space for automobiles, which projectors of the track figure will occupy a greater part in racecourse gatherings in the next few years than ever before in the history of the sport.

It was announced today that the legal aspects of building and operating the new course have all been anticipated. It was said that the laws of Kentucky provide that any duly organized racing association incorporated under the laws of Kentucky is entitled to full consideration for racing dates by the Kentucky Racing Commission. It is expected by the projectors of the new course that the Rosedale course will receive an allotment of not less than forty days of actual racing.

There is absolutely no intention, according to Mr. Rhinock and the local subscribers to the new project, of conflicting in any way with the racing at Latonia. It was pointed out that Cincinnati has approximately twice the population of the city of Louisville, which supports two tracks, and in addition has an immeasurably larger contiguous population upon which to draw for patronage. It is asserted therefore with great positiveness that there is sufficient population in and about Cincinnati to support racing at two courses during the season.

"All this talk about a turf war in Kentucky," said Representative Rhinock, "is foolish. My associates and I have had no thought nor intention of conflicting in any way with the Latonia race track. The Racing Commission allotted to that course a certain number of days for racing each year. We expect to be allotted a similar number of days prior to or succeeding the racing at Latonia, which will in no wise conflict with the business or patronage of that course. There is evident and very apparent desire, both in Northern Kentucky and in the Ohio and Miami Valley districts, for more racing than the Commission allots to the Latonia course. This void will be filled by the course which my associates and I are going to build at Rosedale."

It was stated today that an architectural firm has been commissioned to survey the grounds secured by the projectors of the new course and to begin immediately preparation of the plans for the large number of buildings that are to be erected. It was asserted that the entire proposition has been fully capitalized and that there will be no want of funds wherewith to complete the project. It is hoped and expected by the projectors that they will be able to have the course completed in time to inaugurate the new track with a summer meeting in 1917.

BONDAGE TAKES POTOMAC STAKES.

LAUREL, MD., Oct. 28.—Mrs. James Arthur's Bondage, a two-year-old son of Ogden and Fair Atalanta, sprung a surprise on the holiday crowd here this afternoon by coming from behind and beating the Oneck Stable's Tragedy and Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Tom McTaggart in the Potomac Handicap, feature race on the card.

Queen of the Water and Friendless set the pace for the first half of the mile distance, with Tom McTaggart always close enough up to look like the most dangerous contender. At the turn to the homestretch McTaggart took command, but weakened in the final drive and gave way, first to Bondage and then to Tragedy. It was a warm finish between the first two, and Bondage, after having come from the rear ranks to take the lead, lasted just long enough to stall off the rush of Tragedy, which was running the best race of any of them at the finish.

There was another surprise, which came ahead of the running of the Potomac, when the Northwood Stable's Northwood won the Chevy Chase Handicap for jumpers over the two and a half mile course from Ral Parr's Shannon River and H. G. Bedwell's Early Light, while E. A. Burke's Quel Bonheur, the one most fancied by the holiday crowd, could finish no better than fourth. Lazuli, the only other starter, and one which had been showing well in her works, fell at the tenth jump.

J. W. Hedrick claimed the two-year-old Yellowstone after he was beaten in the opening race.

William P. Riggs, secretary of the Maryland Jockey Club, and Clarence Reynolds, treasurer of the club, motored over from Baltimore this afternoon. Mr. Riggs is enthusiastic over the prospects of the coming meeting at Pimlico, and predicts that it will be the most successful ever held at the famous old hilltop course.

The condition book for the first seven days of the Oriental Park meeting in Cuba was distributed among the horsemen this afternoon. There are six races every day and the purses range in value from $400 to $600. The horsemen who raced at Oriental Park in previous seasons almost to a man have reserved stalls there for this winter. The list of officials is the same with the exception of associate judge and clerk of the scales, C. C. Campau succeeding George Dillon in that position. James Milton will assist H. D. Brown in the management of the meeting this winter.

The weanling chestnut colt by Polymelus—Half a Slice, arrived in America recently from England.

LOCAL NOTES.

One of the biggest deals in the thoroughbred line in recent years was consummated Thursday, when John E. Madden of Hamburg Place, sold to H. Price Headley, Beaumont Farm, who with W. B. Miller of New York, owns Uncle (son of Star Shoot), twenty-seven foals by Star Shoot. No price was given out but a very substantial sum is known to have been received for them.

Mr. Madden raises more than a hundred foals every year and a similar sale to this was made in 1915, when Gifford Cochran purchased forty head of yearlings, half of them by Star Shoot and half by Ogden.

These weanlings are now at Hamburg Place, but will be traneferred to Beaumont next week, and with the the foals by Uncle now at Beaumont will give Messrs. Headley and Miller a most promising lot of yearlings for 1917. A complete list of the weanlings sold follows:

Pif Jr., the winner of the Latonia Cup, was bred by his owner, R. L. Baker. Smith Baker is R. L. Baker's son, and the horse is named for Smith Baker's son. The little fellow could not say Smith Jr., but did manage to get out Pif Jr., when asked his name. Little Smith always wanted a black pony, and so when they came to naming the black colt his grandmother immediately said Pif Jr., fits, and so the horse was named. It was Pif Jr., who was handed to Jockey Robinson, and he held the little fellow while a battery of camera men shot at the horse and the rider.

Among the Sunday morning visitors to Belmont Park were Schuyler L. Parsons, H. K. Knapp, Mr. Miller (owner of Uncle) and Registrar W. H. Rowe of The Jockey Club. The chief attraction was the working out of the yearlings in W. H. Karrick's big training barn. The track was in good condition and as there was a light breeze blowing down the stretch the workouts were made under unfavorable conditions, but after making due allowance for the slight advantage furnished by a wind behind them the moves made by some of the youngsters were bordering on the sensational.

Trainer S. C. Hilbreth, who did not breeze any of the Belmont yearlings, was one of the most interested spectators present and after seeing S. D. Riddle's chestnut colt by Plaudit out of Elise B., by Prince Royal, and S. L. Parsons' brown colt by Zeus out of Black Swan, by Herbert, work a quarter together he told Trainer Karrick that he was ready to pay $5,000 each for them The Plaudit—Elise B. colt was the first over the line, but Hildreth considered the big Zeus—Black Swan colt a good enough second to include him in the proposal to pay $10,000 for the pair. The quarter was run in :22 3-5, and while both were sent right along the trial was regarded as a wonderfully good one for young race horses thus early in the season.

Other workouts showed quarters as good as 23 seconds, with the youngsters full of run at the end, and in fact everything shown by Trainer Karrick Sunday morning created an extremely favorable impression. Two sons of Sir John Johnson, a bright bay out of Deviltree, by Top Gallant—Imp, and a dark bay out of Quack, worked a quarter together in :22 3-5 and in good style, the son of Quack showing a trifle the better of the two. By the way, this mare, Quack, should prove a valuable matron. She is by Ogden out of Allopath by Montana, second dam Homeopathy by Reform, and her third dam was the invaluable broodmare, Maggie B. B. by Australian.—[New York Telegraph.

Both Mr. Riddle and Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords (who owns the Deviltree colt) are newcomers on the turf, and it must have been very pleasing news to them to hear of this good work. The Elise B. and the Deviltree yearlings were the two highest priced ones of the Madden sale at Saratoga in August, selling for $3,500 and $3,200 respectively. While the Quack yearling was close up, bringing an even $3,000 at the same sale.

It must also be very pleasing to that popular New York sportsman, Frank J. Nolan, to see the get of his young stallion, Sir John Johnson, showing up so well.

G. W. J. Bissell will divide his string this winter and will send Mac, Seminole, Idolita and Otisco to Havana in charge of J. H. Stotler, while Filigree and Sister Emblem and ten yearlings by Bissell's stallion Rapid Water will be taken to New Orleans by James Gass. The yearlings are now in training at the Kentucky Association course and are a promising collection. Five colts are out of the mares Gunwad, Linda Lee, Icaria, Lady Baldur and Lady Ornama. The five fillies are out of Alberta H., Mabel Richardson, Comet, Playground and Bettie Beraud. The stallion Rapid Water and eight mares—Alberta H., Bettie Beraud, Dainty Mint, Icaria, Lady Baldur, Lady Ornama, Maria C. and Tourmaletta—all bred to Rapid Water are to remain at Beaumont Farm with four weanlings by Rapid Water, out of Alberta H., Bettie Beraud, Icaria and Tourmaletta.

Much interest is being manifested in the dispersal sale of the Iroquois Stud, the property of Garret D. Wilson, to be held at Tattersalls on Friday, December 1. Besides the successful stallions Stalwart and Duke of Ormonde, Mr. Wilson will dispose of thirteen brood mares, either winners or producers, by such sires as Star Shoot, Voter, Ormonde, Russell, Ben Strome, Garry Herrmann, St. George, Sir Modred and Stalwart. There are also seven excellent weanlings in the collection.

* * *

Transvaal, the Keene-bred stallion, that heads the dispersal of A. J. Gorey, a stake winner himself, comes from the family of Maskette, Sweep, Novelty and Pennant, all winners of the Futurity. He has proven a remarkable sire and bids fair to become the most successful son of Commando. His get have been eagerly sought by trainers because of the astounding percentage of them to be returned winners.

Jockey Willie Morrissey, under contract to George W. J. Bissell, is out after an operation for appendicitis.

John E. Madden sold this week to Canadian parties the weanling chestnut filly by Ballot, out of Blush Rose by Star Ruby; second dam Rhoda, by Master Kildare; third dam Violet Melrose, by Scottish Chief. The price secured for this weanling was $2,500.

At a meeting of the Kentucky State Racing Commission held Thursday, the following proposed rule was incorporated in the rules of racing in Kentucky:

"No horse foaled in 1915 or thereafter shall run in any race before April 1 of his two-year-old year and under penalty of thereby disqualifying himself for all races under these rules until December 31, of his two-year-old year."

Those present at the meeting were Senator J. N. Camden, Judge Allie W. Young and T. H. Talbot.

The new ruling is the outcome of a move started in New York in October, 1915. Senator Camden was appointed to represent the Kentucky State Racing Commission at a meeting held in New York, Nov. 7, 1915, at which the New York Jockey Club, the Kentucky State Racing Commission and the Canadian Racing Commission agreed upon the rule which was adopted Thursday.

The Commision also passed the following motion:

"Resolved, that the chairman of this Commission be empowered to employ Mr. John T. Shelby to associate himself with Attorney Fred Forcht, of Louisville, Ky., in defending a suit recently brought by John Hachmeister, manager of the Douglas Park Jockey Club against the Kentucky State Racing Commission, if it be mutually agreeable to the attorneys."

* * *

Walter Jennings, trainer of the A. K. Macomber horses, arrived in Lexington Thursday from Louisville. Peter Wimmer also is here.

* * *

John O. Whitlow's string, including Westy Hogan, has arrived at the Kentucky Association track from Latonia.

* * *

R. L. Baker will ship his string to New Orleans after a month's rest.

* * *

Charles H. Hughes has assumed the management of the Beverwyck Stable string numbering twenty-two horses, which are to winter at Churchill Downs. George Ziegler will continue to train the horses, but Hughes is to have full control and management.

* * *

A well-known horseman is advertising in this issue of THE RECORD for a position on a stock farm. See ad.

* * *

The Beverwyck Stable, property of Frank J. Nolan, promises to be particularly strong in the two-year-old division for 1917. These youngsters will be wintered at Churchill Downs, Louisville, with the older horses. There are twenty-three in all in the string and eleven are coming two-year-olds.

Already these yearlings have attracted a deal of attention and a colt by Hession out of Sister Jeanie is one that the Kentuckians have been talking about all fall. This fellow, besides being a youngster of wellnigh perfect conformation and action, has shown a quarter in better than 23 seconds. Another that has been much admired is a son of Sir John Johnson, which raced so well for Mr. Nolan, and out of Plaster. He has shown a furlong in :11 2-5 and a quarter in better than :23. Then there are two others that have been highly tried. One is a chestnut filly by Superman out of Grey Agnes and a bay colt by the same sire out of Onaga. This last named one is a half-brothhr to Yellowstone, which raced so well for George Odom this season.

Mr. Nolan reports that the older horses are all doing exceedingly well, and altogether the prospects are bright for a successful season in 1917. It is the present intention to begin the racing next year in Kentucky, but the silks will be shown in New York and at Saratoga.

* * *

Phil T. Chinn is getting ready to make a trip to the horse markets in Europe for the purpose of picking up some racing material for use in this country next season. Mr. Chinn expects to sail on the St. Louis on November 11, and while abroad he will make a tour of the principal stock farms of England, Ireland and France. Mr. Chinn represents horsemen, among whom are John A. Drake. He will purchase for Mr. Drake some of the best yearlings and weanlings obtainable, and possibly a few choice two-year-olds that may be run here next season as three-year-olds. Woods Dickerson, who has had a lot of experience in looking after ocean shipments of thoroughbreds, will accompany Mr. Chinn, together with two assistants.

* * *

Not only does the American thoroughbred hold its own against the best importations from England and France, but they invade foreign countries and command respect, as is attested by the following:

The success of the Americans in French racing has furnished a topic for favorable comment among those who review racing abroad. That which has attended the efforts of F. R. Hitchcock and W. K. Vanderbilt in their endeavors to test the merits of the youngsters bred in their French studs has come in for particularly keen commendation of the right sort.

It transpires that at the first day of the Moulins meeting, Mr. Hitchcock was successful in the most important two-year-old event with Whippoorwill, a filly by Yankee, out of Rossignol. Yankee, as is well known, is American-bred, being by Hanover, out of Correction, by Himyar, and was purchased as a yearling for $20,000 by John E. Madden, who won the Futurity with him. Rossignol is by Rossington, a son of Doncaster, and was bred by F. B. Harper, Nantura Stud, Midway, Ky. Her dam, Valuable, was by Ten Broeck; next dam, Lizzie Stone by Enquirer.

The high-class form shown by Whippoorwill in that particular race was even more strongly attested to when in a later race Seawave, a filly which had finished second to Mr. Hitchcock's youngster, being beaten by a neck, carried off the Prix de la Sioule in a field of twenty-one. Seawave is by Consols, out of Sea Mew, the sire being by Doricles, out of Console, a Bend Or mare.

Mrs. Victoria Schreiber, mother of the well-known breeder and turfman, Barney Schreiber died suddenly in her home at Los Angeles, Cal., October 27, and was buried in Calvary cemetery October 30.

Mrs. Schreiber was born in Germany and was seventy-three years of age when she answered the last call.

MRS. KEENE'S ESTATE VALUED AT $3,000,000.

MINEOLA, L. I., October 30.—In her will filed for probate in the Surrogate's Court, Mrs. Sarah J. Keene, disposed of an estate, the estimated value of which is $3,000,000. The entire estate is originally left in trust to her husband, who was alive at the time that the will was made. In the event of his death it provided that it shall be left in two equal shares to her two children, Foxhall P. Keene and Mrs. Jessica Taylor.

The half left to her son Foxhall was bequeathed to him outright, while the half left to her daughter was to be held in trust. This share was also conditioned to provide for the remarriage of her daughter, who, in 1911, was a widow. After her daughter's remarriage a fund was to be taken from the trust for the education of her children. The then Mrs. Jessica Taylor is now Mrs. Jessica Frost.

An income from a trust fund was left to Mrs. Keene's brother, Foxhall A. Daingerfield, of Lexington, Ky.

W. O. Parmer, thoroughbred breeder and turfman, has disposed of his farm Edenwold, near Nashville, to Richard Plater, of Nashville. He received in exchange Nashville business property and cash aggregating $100,000, it is said. Several months ago Mr. Parmer bought the old Belle Meade home place and fifty acres, his idea being to revive the prestige of that once famous race horse nursery.

LEXINGTON, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1916.

C. H. BERRYMAN BUYS BALLOT.

Charles H. Berryman has purchased from the heirs of the late James B. Haggin that very high-class race horse and sire Ballot, and the son of Voter and Cerito will be placed at the head of Mr. Berryman's stud at Sakonnet Farm.

Ballot was a very high-class race horse and stake winner at two, three and four years old of seventeen races of the value of $145,505, and in second and third monies, $7,750, while in England he won the Select Stakes of $1,347, making a grand total of eighteen races of the value of $154,602. He won the Double Event, Neptune, Matron, Iroquois, Invincible, Great Republic, Century (twice), First and Second Specials, Election Day Handicap, Edgemere, Standard, Advance (twice), Equality, and Suburban Handicap. Ballot was bred and raced by the late James R. Keene.

Ballot's blood lines are exclusively English, for both of his parents are imported animals. His sire, imp. Voter, will be remembered as one of the most brilliant milers in American turf history, and those who hold that the chief attribute of a successful stallion is "speed" have obviously no need of looking further than imp Voter for their ideal. Voter's sire, Friar's Balsam, was himself a racehorse of which it might well be said that no one really knew how good he was. Then, too, imp. Voter's dam, imp. Mavourneen, was a daughter of the unbeaten Irish-bred Barcaldine, for which no course was too long and no weight too high.

Ballot's dam also foaled Fair Count (a full brother) and the winners Ballet Girl, St. Kevin, Chop Suey, Coppelia (a producer also), Virginia Earle (which ran in both the United States and England and a producer) and the producers, Nautch Girl, Merry Dance and Stolen Moments.

Merry Dance, his second dam, was a winner and producer, as was his next dam, Highland Fling, a stake winner of the Alexandra Plate, etc.

Ballot comes from the Bruce Lowe No. 14 family, the one of Touchstone, Leamington, Macaroni, Buccaneer, Saraband, Trumpator, Pipator, Auckland, Hippia, Geheimness, Launcelot, Satirist, etc. Bruce Lowe says in his book of the No. 14 family: "This family ranks high as a sire line."

"Ballot is the sire of nineteen two-year-old winners this year, as follows: Ticket (stake winner) Kathryn Gray (eight races), Midway (five races), Mary Belle, Bally, Buford, First Ballot, Nebraska, Ballad, Paramount, Election, Lively, Top o' the Wave, Breeze, Spectre, Ponce de Leon, Basilius, Queen Errant and Sister Emblem.

At five different sales, held in New York, Saratoga, and Lexington, during 1915, there were sold twenty-one yearlings by Ballot for $33,675, an average of $1,603 each, and everyone remembers how well the Ballot weanlings sold at the late dispersal sale at Elmendorf in October, 1915.

For tabulated pedigree and full particulars of Ballot see stud announcement on another page.

HAMBURG PLACE STALLIONS.

The horses that will make the season of 1917 at John E. Madden's Hamburg Place are announced this week. They are Star Shoot, Ogden, Friar Rock, Plaudit, Pataud, Hessian and Ormondale. Only Hessian and Ormondale will stand for public service, the former at $300 and Ormondale at $100.

It was hardly to be expected that Mr. Madden would allow Star Shoot or Ogden any mares other than those among the matrons at Hamburg Place, with which these wonderfully prolific sires add fresh laurels to their fame each succeeding year, but we had hoped that the latest addition to the ranks of stallions at Hamburg Place, namely Friar Rock, would be accessible to the public. Friar Rock, for which Mr. Madden paid Mr. August Belmont $50,000 this summer, is not only a beautifully bred horse but was a very genuine race horse, as his victories in the Suburban Handicap, Belmont Stakes, Brooklyn Handicap and Saratoga Cup, 1¾ miles, in which he easily defeated Roamer and The Finn, will attest, and that his services would have been in demand goes without saying.

Plaudit, Kentucky Derby winner, by Himyar out of Cinderella (dam of Hastings) and sire of no end of good winners, among them King James (24 races and $103,405); Bill Curtis (Los Angeles Derby, 1¼ miles in 2:37) is again at Hamburg Place, after having been leased a couple of seasons and he will be reserved exclusively for his owner's mares.

The French-bred Pataud is also private. He is by Darley Dale (son of St. Simon), which traces on his dam's side to that famous stud matron Maid of Masham. Pataud's dam, La Poetica, is a grandaughter of that good Yorkshire race horse Tyrant, son of Beauclere and one of Mr. McIntyres' celebrated "Queen" mares, which trace to that remarkable winner and producer Alice Hawthorn.

Hessian, by imp. Watercress, out of imp. Colonial, by Trenton, secured by Mr. Madden at the dispersal of Elmendorf Stud, last year, will make the season at $300. This son of Watercress was a superior race horse, and while he has been handicapped by the fact that many of his get were sold abroad, he is the sire of that sterling performer Boots, winner in England, and in this country of the Mt. Vernon Handicap, the Dominion Handicap, one and a quarter miles in 2:02 4-5 (new Canadian record), and the two-year-olds Lady Moll, Tootsie, Gratitude, etc.

Hessian's bloodlines are faultless. His sire, Watercress, was the sire of many good winners, and his sire, Springfield, also sired a number of great horses, including Sainfoin, sire of Rock Sand. On the female side, Watercress was exquisitely bred, his dam (Wharfedale) being by Hermit, out of Bonnie Doon, a daughter of the immortal Queen Mary.

Imp. Colonial also produced La Venganza (dam of Manager Waite), Victoria M. (dam of Vigorous), etc. She is by Trenton, one of the most famous race horses and probably the greatest sire ever produced in Australia.

Ormondale (winner of the Futurity, Broadway Stakes, etc.), is by imp. Ormonde, known as "the horse of the century," and one that probably never had a superior on the English turf, where he was unbeaten, scoring sixteen victories, as a two, three and four-year-old. Ormonde got Orme, Llanthony, Ossary, Orsini, Honiton, Orthis, Beau Ormonde, Oremus, Gold Lace, Sorcerer, Goldfinch, Orville, Kilkenny, Orontes II., Rosormonde and Ormonde's Right. Orme, in turn, is sire of Flying Fox, Orby and a host of other good ones, while Goldfinch was one of the most successful sires in this country.

Imp. Santa Bella, Ormondale's dam, won in this country and is also the dam of Bellatrix, Duke of Ormonde, etc. She is a half-sister to imp. Maiden Poem, dam of Clark Griffith, Aimee C., Cleodora, etc.

Ormondale's yearlings for several years were shipped and sold in England. Among the few to race in this country are Futurity, Menlo Park, Anna Patricia, Ormesdale and Yermak, winners. Among his two-year-olds this year are the stake winners Rosabel and Fan G. and the good winners Pas de Chance and Sandal.

Among his get to win in England are: The Forest (a high-class winner in England, winner of the Tattersall Sales Stakes, the Royal Borough Handicap, the Royal Handicap, the St. Albans Handicap, the Sale Stakes, Rugeley Plate, etc.), Palo Alto (winner in England and France), Vachary, Maydale, Cric-Crac, Blue Mantle, Cooked Nuts, Bull Luck, Uncle Dale, Luxor, etc.

At the exceedingly nominal fee of $100, Ormondale will undoubtedly be liberally patronized.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO CONSIGNORS.

It is important and almost imperative that consignors to the winter sale of the Kentucky Sales Company, to be held at Tattersalls on Friday, December 1, should send in pedigrees and data at once. The catalogue is well on the way to completion, and as the first part of it will go to press in a few days, it is worth the attention of prospective consignors to communicate with the Kentucky Sales Company.

THE HAVANA MEETING.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 30—H. D. (Curley) Brown, President and General Manager of the Cuban-American Jockey Club, of Havana, Cuba, arrived in Cincinnati last night to confer with Charles H. Lansdale and Frank J. Bruen regarding the coming meeting at Oriental Park. Brown just closed his deal with the Business Men's Racing Association, of New Orleans, whereby that association takes over City Park, the property on which he intended to race this winter. Brown says he is entirely satisfied with the deal, that he got what he originally went to New Orleans for, that is an agreement regarding racing in New Orleans and Havana, and made a nice neat sum for himself. "Racing will begin at Oriental Park in Havana on December 6, and no purse will be less than $400. Already there are many horses on the ground, and with those which will ship from Latonia and other points in Kentucky and the Eastern contingent we will have more than enough to run a high-class meeting with. The meeting this winter is bound to be the best we ever had. Cuba is becoming a great point for American tourists and with the European War on more travelers than ever will find their way to the island. We will race eighty-three days."

Brown will go on to the Maryland tracks from here to arrange for the shipment of horses from there to Cuba. Mr. Brown has a remarkable record as a builder of race tracks. The first plant he put up was at Blackfoot, Idaho, in 1885. There he built a half-mile course. Next he went to Deer Lodge, Mont., where he built another half-mile plant. In 1904 he erected the City Park track in New Orleans, and in 1911 built the track at Jacksonville. In 1911 he put up the plant at Laurel, Md., and in 1914 he supervised the building of a handsome grandstand, clubhouse and mile course at Havana, Cuba. As a race starter Brown has officiate on more tracks than any other man. Among the places at which he raised the barrier were Latonia, Newport, Louisville, Jacksonville, City Park, Kansas City, Windsor, and nearly every one of the old tracks in Canada, also all the big tracks in California, as well as St. Louis, Mo., and Reno, Nevada.

The bay gelding Budweiser, sixteen years old, by Buckmaster—Missouri II., has started thirty-nine times this year to date, winning seven races, second eight times and third seven times—quite a record for a sixteen-year-old horse. Buckmaster, his sire, was bred by Col. Milton Young, being by Buckden, out of Meta H., by Harry of the West; 2d dam Louisiana B. by Daniel Boone; 3d dam Maggie G. by Brown Dick, etc. His dam, Missouri II., was bred and owned by C. C. Maffit, of St. Louis, Mo. She was by Luke Blackburn, out of Rhyme, by Aristides (the first Kentucky Derby winner); 2d dam Poetry by Longfellow, etc.

Willis Sharpe Kilmer says that with a view to further strengthening his holdings of thoroughbreds he expects to send Henry McDaniel to England on November 11 to make some purchases of racing material.

A short time ago Mr. Kilmer gave his London agent an order to purchase the best yearling colt that he could obtain in England. The result of this purchase was a colt by Magic out of Yama by Isinglass, and this youngster, together with a filly also by Magic and out of Grey's Best, by Grey Leg, has just arrived in this country and Mr. Kilmer is particularly pleased with both, as is Trainer McDaniel.

Seventeen of the Kilmer yearlings have been sent to Laurel to McDaniel to be broken and given their trials, and it is possible that these will remain in Maryland for the winter. McDaniel has retired Tom McTaggart for the season.

Jack Annandale and Farigold have been sold in England to foreign buyers.

NEW YORK GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, October 30.—Of the sixteen promising yearlings which August Belmont now has in training at Belmont Park, six are of the get of Trap Rock, five are by Hastings, two each by Watervale and Fair Play, and one by Uncle. These are the youngsters which will represent the Nursery among the two-year-olds of 1917 as far as the American-bred division of the Belmont thoroughbreds is concerned. As happened last year, Trap Rock is the sire of more individuals in Mr. Belmont's string of native-breds than any other, but his proportion numerically is lower this year than it was last.

Although only two of Mr. Belmont's home-bred yearlings are by Fair Play, himself a first-class racehorse, the grandson of Bend Or, half-brother of Friar Rock, and sire of Stromboli and Norse King, these two representatives of the son of Hastings and Fairy Gold are just now the most attractive looking of the sixteen. They are Princeps, chestnut colt, by Fair Play, out of St. Priscilla, and Magda, chestnut filly by Fair Play, out of Mahuba, a daughter of the great Rock Sand.

Princeps is the largest youngster of the lot, standing 15½ hands high, long of neck, barrel and quarters, deep through the heart, heavy quartered, having thick, deep stifles with well-spread points, rangy, oblique shoulders, grand loin, short, strong cannon bones, and a splendid muscular development everywhere. He is an own brother to Stromboli, and a half-brother to that other splendid gelding, Priscillian, which, like Fair Play, was by Hastings. Although more sturdy and masculine looking all over, Princeps bears a striking resemblance to Stromboli, being a light chestnut, with mane and tail inclining to flaxen, and having the same clean-cut, racy outline. He is more liberally marked with white than his distinguished brother.

The other youngster by Fair Play is Magda, chestnut filly, out of Mahuba by Rock Sand. This is a bright, golden chestnut filly, which bears some resemblance to Friar Rock, to which she is curiously related, but she is more smoothly and gracefully outlined than her great three-year-old relative. Magda's sire is a half-brother to Friar Rock, and her dam is a daughter of Friar Rock's sire. Relatively she has a longer neck and rather more oblique shoulder than Friar Rock, but the level line along her crest, and straight neck, are distinctly reminiscent of her distinguished kinsman. Magda stands 14 hands 3¾ inches high, has great length for her height and an uncommonly good way of going.

A particularly fine looking colt is Drastic, bay colt, by Hastings, out of Dragnet (he is an own brother to Deckmate). This colt stands 15¼ hands high, is well furnished, and has thoroughly good racing angles. Even now he appears to be quite as large as his two-year-old brother. Fragonard is a dark chestnut colt having a thin blaze and other white markings. He stands 14¾ hands high and has fair substance and good racing conformation. He is by Hastings, out of Ferment. High Olympus is another colt by Hastings, and his dam is Olympia. This colt stands just 15 hands high, and as he is a sprightly upheaded fellow, he is apt to impress visitors favorably. He is a bright chestnut, marked with white. High Vale is a large and well furnished dark bay filly by Hastings, out of Sand Vale. She has especially good quarters and is an attractive youngster. She stands 15¼ hands high. Turban is a dark bay filly by Hastings, out of Turquoise. She stands 14 hands 3½ inches high and is well furnished.

Trap Rock is represted by six yearlings, four of which are colts, while two extremely good-looking chestnut fillies round out the half dozen. Cockle is a dark chestnut colt by Trap Rock, out of Crossways, being an own brother to the rather smart chestnut filly, Cockleshell, which was one of the Belmont pair killed by lightning at Empire City; Nancy Fair having been mentioned as the other. Luck Penny is a fine, big brown colt by Trap Rock, out of Lucky Lass. He stands 15¼ hands high and is well furnished. Sir Oracle is a bay colt by Trap Rock, out of Souveraine, being an own brother to Serenest. He is 14 hands 3¼ inches high and has fair substance. Pecksniff is a moderate-sized chestnut colt, 14¾ hands high, by Trap Rock, out of Peccadillo. Destine is a very racy and well-finished chestnut filly, marked with white, lincuding a T-shaped blaze. She is by Trap Rock, out of Delusion, being an own sister to Deer Trap. She is 14 hands 2½ inches high. Wood Violet is another good-looking chestnut filly; she is by Trap Rock, out of Woodvine, being a full sister to Woodtrap.

Uncle Sand is a neatly-turned and substantial looking bay colt by Uncle, out of Golden Sand. He is 14 hands 3¼ inches high and substantially furnished. Belvale is a slashing big bay filly, standing 15 hands 1½ inches high, and having great length, fine substance and adt mirable racing conformation. She is by Watervale, out of the famous Beldame. This filly has a slightly blemished hock, but it is a better looking hock than the one for which Colin was criticized, and it is not anticipated that it will develop any weakness. Tea Party, the last of the lot, is another big bay. She is 15¼ hands high and very substantial looking. She is by Watervale, out of Toggery.

We have too many studmasters out here ready to breed from cheap imported English culls, and it is a matter for congratulation to see such class horses as Kilbroney, Bronzino, Roseworthy, Brakespear, and Absurd coming our way. It is a matter of common opinion that our horses have deteriorated a good deal within the last few years, and this is, no doubt, due in a very great measure to the importation of stallions with nothing but pedigrees to recommend them.—[Sydney, Australia, Referee.

MARYLAND GOSSIP.

BALTIMORE, November 7.—The stable that "Bub" May, one of the best known of the young Western trainers racing in the East this fall, will take to Bowie for the coming meeting of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, consists of but one race horse, but that horse is Bayberry Candle and the May outfit will earn its keep. The attention of the racing public is invited to an inspection of the record of this mare this year and the skillful manner in which she has been handled.

Without going into elaborate detail, it is sufficient to say that she began at Lexington in May by defeating the redoubtable George Smith—which was destined to win the Kentucky Derby from Star Hawk—in a race of one mile and a sixteenth, which distance she covered in 1:44 2-5, a new track record, the mile being run in 1:38, and, since that event, she has won a dozen handicaps. She has campaigned East and West in all sorts of going and in every variety of weather, and, if it cannot be said that she has beaten all the cracks of the mature division, she has, at one time or another, conceded weight to most of them, and either taken them into camp or forced them to run their fastest to beat her.

The performances of this daughter of Cunard and Tower of Candles, which was bred by Edward R. Bradley, compares favorably with those of any of the great mares of the past—with Imps, or Beldames, or Flying Fairys, and she is right now as good as she was at the beginning of the year. That she will beat the best horses that race at Bowie if they attempt to take liberties with her goes without saying. Her mile and a sixteenth in 1:46 1-5, over a rapidly slowing track, at Pimlico Saturday when the contending opponent was Joseph E. Widener's superbly set-up Chiclet, a son of the British Derby winner Spearmint and Nature, she a daughter of Meddler and Correction and a half-sister of Yankee, was by no means the least brilliant of her creditable career.

A mare of the stout, old-fashioned sort which runs close to the ground without the smallest waste motion she husbands her energies better than any jockey could do the trick. May, who has handled many a first class performer in his time, declares that she is the best workaday horse he ever saw and has unbounded confidence in her abilities. Quite appropriately one of the horses that will go to Bowie with Bayberry Candle to continue the rivalry begun at Pimlico is Chiclet. This sterling performer did not begin racing until July and he is now at the height of his form. Nor is Andrew Jackson Joyner, the veteran trainer who sent Chiclet to the post Saturday, willing to concede that Bayberry Candle will again give the son of Spearmint eight pounds (actual weight) and a beating. Chiclet probably did not like the gummy going of Saturday as well as did Bayberry Candle. Joyner is willing to give the Cunard mare at least one more trial.

Joyner will take with Chiclet to Bowie practically every horse he has in training, and among his good ones are George D. Widener's Columbine, the Walden Stakes winner, and Lady Hillington, Joseph E. Widener's King Mart, a maiden of parts, and Thomas Fortune Ryan's corking good two-year-olds Harvest King and Sea Wave. Columbine is very nearly the best, if not, indeed, the very best two-year-old filly of the season over a distance of ground and her condition is perfect. Harvest King, a strapping son of Sea King, bred at Mr. Ryan's Oak Ridge farm in Virginia, is already a winner at one mile, and Sea Wave is one of the best of the second raters.

John Powers, than whom there is no more skillful trainer of race horses in this or any other country, will take the best sprinter of which American race tracks boast to Bowie in Leochares. This son of Broomstick and Leayonara, which was bred by Harry Payne Whitney at Brookdale farm in Monmouth county, New Jersey, has been a breadwinner for several horsemen through many seasons, and he has stepped swiftly over the three-quarters and seven-eighths courses on many race tracks, but never was he as good as he proved himself to be at Pimlico last Saturday when he galloped three-quarters of a mile in 1:11 4-5 over a track that lacked a lot of being fast.

Rain had been falling for half an hour before the start of Leochares' race, and it was coming down right briskly when the horses engaged with the son of Broomstick assembled at the starting gate. Leochares is not supposed to be good on any save the fastest tracks, yet, under the skillful jockeyship of young Everett Haynes, he galloped from behind in the home-stretch and won going away. The excellence of his performance strikes one the more forcibly the more carefully the race is analyzed. Leochares ran under the staggering burden of 133 pounds and the race was hotly paced from the start. Kewessa and J. J. Lillis, which between them cut out the running, stepped the first quarter in 23 seconds and the half in 46 and a fraction.

Leochares is the best horse right now in the stable of John Powers, who believes that the son of Broomstick will beat the best horses at Bowie at all distances up to one mile and a furlong, but he has a promising stablemate in the veteran distance runner Harry Shaw. This son of Sain has been under the weather for the better part of six weeks, but he is fast rounding into condition again, and Powers is not without hope that he may win a race at Pimlico. Harry Shaw, always a horse of high class, was in tip top condition at Bowie last fall when he beat the best that started there in races of one mile and one mile and a furlong.

Everett Haynes is doing the riding hereabouts this fall for the stable of Mr. Powers and he is doing it well. The lad who could not please Sam Hildreth when he was riding August Belmont's horses on metropolitan tracks through the summer, to save his soul, has the highest percentage of winners of any lad riding in Maryland. He has been conspicuously successful with Yankee Notions, a crippled discard from the stable of Harry K. Knapp. Six times since the arrival of the horses from New York has Yankee Notions got down in front and six times has he been ridden by Haynes.

JOCKEY TANSEY IS KILLED AT PIMLICO.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6.—Death followed in the wake of the Mt. Washington Steeplechase, run at the Pimlico course this afternoon, and at the very first jump there was a jam and a fall, and when it was all over there was a jockey with a broken neck.

Harry Tansey, who has been riding jumping horses for several years, had the mount on J. Temple Gwathmey's Reliance, and just after the race was started one of the other horses seemed to bump Reliance, which faltered at the first jump, unseating his rider. The others in the field went on, and when the fallen jockey was reached it was found that he was beyond aid.

There was another fall, in which Jockey T. Parrette, who had the mount on Torero, suffered a broken wrist which will keep him out of the saddle for the remainder of the year. Both horses lost their riders at about the same instant, but it was not known until after the race was over that there had been a fatal accident.

The winner of the chase turned up in Stonewood, which beat Sharpshooter out a length and a half.

The colors of H. G. Bedwell were very much in evidence during the afternoon. The Bedwell stable furnished the winners of the Annapolis Handicap and the Severn Handicap in Golden List and Brave Cunarder. Bedwell had to stand a boost of $500 to retain the latter, Sam Louis doing the bidding.

Jockey O. Preece, who had the mount on Fonctionnaire in the sixth race, was bumped into by The Rump while at the post and was unable to ride. He was lifted off the horse and J. Brown substituted.

Queen of Paradise was boosted from $500 to $1,105 by J. W. Hedrick after she won the sixth race.

Prince of Como has been added to the sale of horses in training which will be held in the paddock at Pimlico on Saturday.

The grandstand at the Marlborough racetrack in Maryland was destroyed by fire this morning.

Joseph McLennan visited the Bowie course yesterday and reports everything in splendid shape for the opening. The track is said to be faster than any time since it was built. There are 150 horses already on the ground awaiting the opening of the meeting.

Jockey J. Dennison was suspended pending investigation for his ride on Ina Kay on Saturday.

In commenting on the clever victory that Columbine scored in the Walden Stakes on Saturday last J. Howard Lewis remarked that four years ago he purchased the dam of Columbine together with nine other mares and the stallion Garry Herrmann for $3,500.

THE LEADING STALLIONS IN ENGLAND.

Cannobie, by his victory in the Jockey Club Stakes, has set the seal upon the pre-eminence of Polymelus among the sires for the third year in succession. The success was worth £7,440, which sum in itself approaches that to the credit of the second in the list, Chaucer, which this week has benefited to the extent of £702 by Poignant's success in the Suffolk Nursery, and will take a further addition when the moiety of the value of the Prendergast Stakes, in which Poignant dead-heated with Lammermuir on Thursday, comes to be entered. Polymelus, it should be mentioned, also had a further success with Invincible on Thursday, and another with Phalaris in the final race yesterday, and these will be added in due course. The richest stake to be dealt with this week is the Cheveley Park Stakes won by Molly Desmond, worth £1,085, and this goes to the credit of Desmond. Radium, Simon Square, Fowling-piece and Santoi have all done well. There are no other points worth noting about this week's alterations in the table, which includes all racing in England up to and including Wednesday last, and that in Ireland up to the date of the last Irish "Calendar."

MARYLAND JOCKEY CLUB'S INNOVATIONS.

That conservative, staid and substantial organization of turfdom, known as the Maryland Jockey Club, has brought some innovations into racing with its fall meeting now going on at the old Pimlico course. Its first departure from the old cut and dried lines was in connection with selling races, when it made all events of this nature on its card either a selling handicap or a claiming race.

And now has come another announcement printed in pamphlet form, copies of which were distributed about the course Saturday. This new announcement is to the effect that this association proposes to do away with all stakes that call for entries months ahead and which carry with them forfeits that must be paid by those who may wish to enter horses for these more valuable pures.

"With the single exception of the Pimlico Nursery (which is already closed and the conditions of which now cannot be altered) it is our intention to offer no races to be run at Pimlico during 1917 to which horse owners will be required to subscribe, unless it be, by a starting fee, to discourage inferior horses from starting in races designed for those of superior quality, or by a penalty imposed to discourage withdrawals, which would reduce fields below the standard minimum.

"No purse will be less than $700 and there will be a 'feature' every day, varying in value from $1,200 to $5,000.

"Handicaps will close no earlier than the work to be done by the handicapper makes necessary.

"All other races will close the day before they are to be run.

"Our object is by holding all races, irrespective of value, open to all comers, as long as possible, to secure the maximum of quality and contention."

In further explanation of its course the announcement given out by the Maryland association, goes into detail as follows:

"The early-closing stake should not be used by racing associations, operated as commercial enterprises.

"Under conditions where there is little racing and where a few men who breed their own horses, for pleasure, want to bring them together occasionally, to test their relative merits, early-closing stakes, to which horse-owners contribute a large part, or all, of the prizes competed for, are necessary and fair.

"But where corporations conduct long race meetings for profit, as theatres and ball parks are operated for profit, there is no more justice in requiring horse-owners to contribute to early-closing stakes than there would be in requiring actors or ball players to contribute to the shows in which they perform.

"It is indisputable that a large purse, open to all comers until a few days before the race, is more likely to provide a keen contest than an equally large purse, added to contributions of horse-owners, who must name their candidates months before.

"In the former case all horses are eligible; in the latter case only those which happen to have been entered months earlier.

"Again, early-closing stakes are unfair, as between horse-breeders or owners of different degrees of wealth.

"The earning capacity of a horse is dependent upon the stake engagements made for him, many months in advance.

"If the horse goes lame or, for any reason, proves a disappointment, these stake engagements involve a heavy loss.

"Only the wealthy can afford such risks;hence early-closing stakes practically force the sale of nearly all 'good prospects' to the wealthy.

"Is this concentration of 'good prospects' in comparatively few hands calculated to stimulate contention in races?

"Is it calculated to improve the health of the turf?

"Would it not be better to make the earning capacity, and, hence, the value, of all horses dependent, at all times, and under all conditions, solely, upon their merit?

"If this were done, generally, there would be an incentive to men of moderate means to enter racing, for such men would have the assurance that, however modest their beginning might be, any time they were fortunate enough to develop a good horse, they could run him, anywhere, against the best, for the largest prizes, without having to assume, annually, a crushing burden of forfeits.

"Such an element, in racing, would also give new life to the respectable 'public trainer' and 'free-lance rider,' who are, now, being driven out of business, by the competition of the private trainers and riders retained by the few wealthy owners who, alone, can afford to assume the burdens of the forfeit list."

When the Maryland Jockey Club first issued its condition book, substituting claiming races and selling handicaps for the style of selling races that have caused considerable controversy the past season, this change was told of in THE RECORD. Later on a statement was issued explaining the attitude of the Pimlico people and their reasons for making the changes.

These views, which are of interest to followers of races as well as owners and trainers of horses, are as follows:

"The theory of the selling race is that the price a man is willing to take for his horse shall fix the weight he is required to carry in such races.

"If a horse is entered in a selling race at a lower price than his owner is willing to take for him this theory is violated.

"If the owner of the winner of a selling race protects him, when sold at auction, such owner thereby admits that he was running the horse below his value and thus attempting to secure an unfair advantage.

"This is equally true of owners who attempt to protect their horses when beaten in selling races by 'friendly claims' or otherwise.

"That owners guilty of such unfair methods should receive sympathy or encouragement from anyone interested in the welfare of the turf is preposterous.

"The easiest way to prevent unscrupulous owners from gaining an advantage in selling races is to make them handicaps, so that the selling price shall not determine the weights carried. But it must be admitted that the selling handicap is not a true selling race.

"Its general substitution for the true type of selling race, wherein the selling price determines the weight to be carried, would be equivalent to an admission that a substantial proportion of horse owners are dishonest. This is not believed to be the case. It appears, rather, that horse owners generally have been the victims of bad leadership by influential turfmen and turf officials.

"There has been an extraordinary tendency on the part of turf leaders, either actively or passively, to discourage the 'bidding up' or claiming of horses that engage in selling races. Such an attitude on the part of turf leaders has but one excuse, namely, the rule, only recently altered, which gave to racing associations half the 'run-up money' resulting from the sale of winners of selling races. This made the associations beneficiaries of the 'run-ups,' and it may be claimed that they did not wish to appear to encourage bidding in which they were thus interested.

"Presumably, with this thought in mind, the Jockey Club recently changed its rules so that 'run-up money' is now shared equally by all starters in selling races.

"This brought about a new development. Horses with no possible chance to win were constantly started in selling races in the hope that they might share in the 'run-up money.'

"The incentive to 'run up' horses was thus overstimulated and horses were 'run up' indiscriminately regardless of their true value. It would seem as if this trouble should soon cure itself by a gradual readjustment of the values of 'selling platers.' Meanwhile, conservative racing associations would prefer not to be involved in this so-called 'selling-race war.'

"Therefore, the only types of selling race that will be found in the Maryland Jockey Club's condition book are selling handicaps, wherein selling price does not determine weights to be carried, and claiming races, wherein there are no sales at auction and hence no 'run-up money.'

"As regards claiming races, the Jockey Club rules are unfortunate, they provide that the winner may be claimed as his entered price, while all other horses in the race may only be claimed at their entered prices, respectively, plus the winner's share of the purse.

"The effect of this, technically interpreted, would, of course, be to penalize the winner for winning. As that would be an absurdity, we have met the difficulty by introducing 'an alternative selling price'—that is, when an owner enters in one of our claiming races he agrees to take for his horse, if he shall prove the winner, the sum the horse is supposed to be worth, and if the horse shall not win, then the owner agrees to take precisely the same price, which, however, must be stated in a different way to comply with the unfortunate wording of the Jockey Club rule.

"We are fully aware that this may involve some slight confusion until owners fully grasp the fact that it is merely a device to comply with the Jockey Club rule and at the same time give an owner a chance to run a horse for his fair value in a claiming race and retain his share of the purse if he wins.

"This we conceive to be the object to be aimed at. If an owner runs his horse below his fair value, he should lose him. If he runs him at his fair value, he should be entitled to keep his share of the purse and the horse as well, and will do so until some one in the race places a higher value on the horse, in which case the owner should have no objection to letting the horse go."

THOROUGHBREDS AS STAGE HORSES.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The Coaching Club of New York during its recent outing of four days to the Maryland estate of Mr. William Woodward, president of the Hanover National Bank, in Maryland demonstrated that there are still in the possession of the members of that organization some horses of quality, and that the thoroughbred, though out of his natural element, played his part most notably during the final stage of the journey when the conditions were least favorable of the entire trip.

In speaking of the occasion Mr. F. K. Sturgis, vice-chairman of the Jockey Club, in active charge of the Breeding Bureaus, himself a breeder of high-class heavy harness horses at his farm in the Berkshires, said:

"We had a most delightful trip, leaving the Knickerbocker Club at 9 o'clock on the morning of October 11, and passing the first night at Princeton. The second night we spent at Wilmington and third at Baltimore, reaching our destination, Bellair House, Bellair, Md., on Wednesday at 3:30 P. M. We employed during the trip 64 horses, of which all but 24 were furnished by members of the Coaching Club, and every horse, including those hired from dealers, was of good strong coaching type that stood up to his work admirably and made the occasion one to be remembered with pleasure. We averaged eleven miles to a stage.

"That portion of the trip which impressed us all, and should carry a lesson to the horse breeders of the country at large," continued Mr. Sturgis, "was the final stage, on which Mr. Woodward furnished the horses. There were four thoroughbreds, while the cockhorse was also clean bred, and there wasn't one of them under 16 hands. They were big hefty specimens, which whirled us along over the loose sandy roads at an amazing rate of speed. The Pioneer, with its passengers and guard weighed 5,300 pounds, and the ability of this team to handle such a load in the manner they did was a splendid tribute to the bone and sinew of the thoroughbred as a harness horse.

"We remained at Bellair House," resumed Mr. Sturgis, "until 3:30 P. M. on Sunday, and returned to New York by train. I am glad to say that it is Mr. Woodward's intention to engage extensively in the breeding of thoroughbreds at his farm, which consists of 2,500 acres of good land. He has a good sire in Heno, the sire of He Will, and mated with the right kind of mares he should be a success."

Mr. Sturgis, like many other members of the Jockey Club, is fond of the standard-bred, and believes that the blood of the best trotting families nicks with the best thoroughbred most acceptably. In speaking of this he remarked: "The trotting sire of the right sort bred to thoroughbred mares of size and quality has proved the efficacy of the blending of these strains. At my place at Lenox I have bred harness horses of the highest quality in this manner. They were animals of great endurance, balance and action, and had beauty as well."

New Yorkers and all who come to Gotham to attend the approaching National Exhibition at Madison Square Garden will have a chance to see a notable example of the trotting top cross on the thoroughbred dam in Melrose, a member of Sir Adam Beck's string of half-bred hunters from London, Ontario. This very sensational performer was sired by the trotter Adbaron, while his dam was clean bred. He has as much quality as Sir Edward and Sir Thomas, stable companions by the thoroughbred sires Tupelo and Philosophy respectively. He was good enough to cross the water a few seasons ago and win a championship at the Olympia Show in London, England, over a class of more than 300 competitors. Horses of mixed trotting and thoroughbred lineage are notably successful in the saddle classes, but few with the trotting top cross achieve championship honors over the timber, while a great majority of the champions are the result of the mating of the thoroughbred sire and the trotting dam. This is an interesting fact and worthy of the attention of the student of breeding problems.

The management of the National is coming in for much commendation for the manner in which they have catered to the thoroughbred this year. If they will print the breeding of each of these contestants of pure blood in the catalogue visitors will be able to follow the fortunes of the clean bred entrants when they try conclusions with the half or three-quarter breds in the open competitions.

A group of horsemen at Latonia, on one of the closing days, were discussing the jockey fee question in Kentucky. Formerly jockeys in Kentucky received $15 for winning mounts and $5 for losing mounts. When the purses were boosted, it was also decided that the jockeys should share in the general prosperity, and the winning fee was made $25 and the losing fee $10. Some of the poorer owners believed this to be a hardship, and some change was suggested among them. One proposition, which seemed to meet with some favor, was to keep the winning-fee mount at $25, give the jockeys who finished second and third $10 each and the fee for the jockeys who finished outside the money $5. There is a great deal of merit in this suggestion, for it will be a little incentive for boys to ride out their mounts. In fact, it looks as though the jockey-fee question should be decided in the same way as the purse question. How would it do to make the winning fee $25, second place $15, third place $10, and losers $5 each? That would still be better, and would be something for which the boys would be nearly always striving. If he got $10 more for finishing second than he did for finishing last, more horses would be ridden out. Race patrons in the past have complained bitterly that some of the boys did not ride out their mounts when they found they had no chance to win. Jockey Roscoe Goose is one of the boys who is always easing up his mounts when he sees he has no chance to get into third place. Of course, to a boy who has the ability to earn real money in the saddle, the graduated scale of jockey mounts would hardly appeal, but to the smaller boys who have not as yet made their mark, an extra $10 or $15 a day would mean a whole lot. It looks like a good suggestion, and is worthy of consideration by the Kentucky Racing Commission.—[Cincinnati Enquirer.

WINNING OWNERS AND HORSES AT LAUREL.

The autumn meeting of the Maryland State Fair, which began at Laurel, Md., October 2 and came to a close October 31, embraced twenty-six racing days, during which time 182 races were decided and $158,340 was distributed in stakes and purses, representing a daily average of $6,090. Of the 158 owners, who shared in this distribution, the following were winners of $1,000 or more:

BETTING CASE TO COURT OF APPEALS.

NEW YORK, November 7.—Before another racing campaign on the New York tracks rolls around the Court of Appeals probably will hand down an important decision regarding the oral betting system which has prevailed since the sport was resumed three years ago.

Two men were arrested at the Aqueduct track last spring, charged with violating the Hart-Agnew law. When they were tried by a police magistrate they were found guilty, the evidence tending to show that they took cash wagers after laying oral odds to all comers. They accepted wagers from detectives who were strangers.

The case was carried to the Supreme Court, where the police magistrate's verdict was sustained. Then the Appellate Division again decided against the alleged lawbreakers, and in a lengthy opinion discredited the famous golf ball decision handed down in 1908 by the late William J. Gaynor. Another opinion by Supreme Court Justice Scudder, which allowed a certain amount of freedom, was overruled by the Appellate Division, much to the surprise of the sporting fraternity.

The case was promptly taken to the Court of Appeals for a final ruling, and if the lower courts are sustained it is said that oral betting on the New York race courses next season will amount to little or nothing. The Appellate Division, in reviewing the case, set forth that the acceptance of wagers from all comers, which means business with Tom, Dick and Harry, even without the display of odds or the use of paraphernalia, was "bookmaking" in the full sense of the word; also that persons who visited the tracks daily and made a practice of laying odds orally were professional bettors or bookmakers. Betting as a business or a profession is prohibited by law, according to the Appellate Division, so that if this point is approved by the Court of Appeals, price-makers will find many serious obstacles in their paths if they attempt to operate in 1917. Private wagers among friends will be permitted, as usual, for that form of speculation is not a violation of the law.

The highest price given for a yearling at Newmarket this week was 2,000 guineas by Mr. H. S. Persse for the Marchioness of Conynham's colt by Orby out of Grania, and it would have been surprising had the youngster not realized a big figure, for he is very promising and looks a high-class race horse in the making. Mr. Persse is a particularly sound judge of young stock, and this purchase reminds me that he gave Mr. P. Murphy £600 for a foal by Orby out of Stella, afterwards selling the younster for 2,000 guineas to the late Mr. George Edwardes. The colt proved to be the dashing Flying Orb, which proved worth every penny paid for him.

Orby's dam, Rhoda B., by Hanover, was a long way the most successful American-bred brood mare ever imported into the United Kingdom, for she foaled two classic as well as several other winners.—[London Sportsman, October 21.

W. K. Vanderbilt's Meigs, a bay son of Peter Pan and Megg's Hill, was winner of two of the best prizes offered in France during September. The racing was at Caen, and on September 5 he was winner of a seven and a half furlong stake for three-year-old colts that was worth 10,000 francs. Then two days later he also scored over the same distance in a race of like value and framed for three-year-olds and four-year-olds. In each of these races he took up 128 pounds and was ridden by Frank O'Neill, the American jockey.

LEXINGTON, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1916.

CELT AND WRACK.

A. B. Hancock announces the stallions Celt and Wrack in THE RECORD this week.

Celt was a first-class racehorse. He first started in the Flatbush Stakes and ran second to his stable companion Colin with which the stable had declared to win. He then won the Junion Champion Stakes, Jockey Club Stakes and Brooklyn Handicap, all very easily, beating Uncle, Jack Atkin King James, Fair Play, Dorante, Meelick, Firestone, etc.

Celt comes on the sire side from the famous Commando, sire of Colin, Peter Pan, Superman, and premier sire in 1907, with $270,345 to his credit, although he had died after a season and a half in the stud at seven years old. He, in turn, was a son of Domino and from the fashionable Himyar-Alarm branch of the Orlando line. On his dam's side, Celt is equally as well bred, as he is out of imp. Maid of Erin (half-sister to Voter, a very fast racehorse and sire of Ballot, $154,545; Electioneer, $56,380; The Manager, Hilarious, Runnymede in England, and others), by Amphion, a great racehorse and sire of Lally and Sundridge, sire of the Derby winner, Sunstar, and Jest, winner of the Epsom Oaks, etc. Mavourneen, the grandam of Celt, was by the unbeaten Barcaldine, also a great sire, among his get being Sir Visto, Marco, Morion, and the sire of Winkfield's Pride. Major Daingerfield said of Celt. "The horse most likely of all Commando's sons to transmit to his get the special quality which makes the thoroughbred essential to the improvement of all breeds."

Celt is the sire of Celandria, Coquette, Paddy Whack, Andrew M., Embroidery, Gaelic, Carbide, Celto, Bob Black, Tralee, Crank (a two-year-old stake winner this year of $6,290), Vague, Kilkenny, Verde, Comacho, etc.

Wrack was a stake winner in England for five seasons accounting for about $35,000 and retired sound. As a two-year-old he won Sandown Park Stud Produce Stakes, beating Jaeger, second in 1912 Derby, The Lancashire Nursery, Sportsman Nursery Handicap, Wallington Plate and was a close second in three other stakes. He afterwards won Whitesuntide Plate, Houghton Handicap, Newmarket Biennial Stakes 1½ miles, Newbury Spring Cup twice and was beaten, 119 lbs. up a short head for the rich Kempton Jubilee Handicap, 1¼ miles 2:02 4-5, giving the winner Diadumenos 9 lbs.

Wrack is beautifully bred, being by Robert le Diable (winner of City and Suburban Handicap, Duke of York Stakes and Doncaster Cup and sold to the Austrian Government for $80,000), out of Samphire, by Isinglass (sire of Star Shoot); 2d dam Illuminata (dam of Ladas), by Rosicrucian, etc.

Wrack is undoubtedly one of the greatest importations in a number of years.

See announcement on another page for full particulars.

NICE SUM REALIZED FOR MRS. STRINGFIELD.

No class of persons in the world are more generous than turfmen. When one is ill or dies and his loved ones are in need, the word goes out and within a short time something of a substantial nature is forthcoming. When John K. Stringfield died suddenly it was deemed proper by those who knew him to remember his widow and child, and without hardly any solicitation whatever slightly over $2,100 was raised. The $500 contribution, made with the request that the name of the donor be not made public, was the gift of a well-known Cleveland firm of turfmen who race and extensive stable and own one of the biggest stock farms in Kentucky. John K. Stringfield's untimely death was a great shock to his wife, and his friends could have paid his memory no greater tribute than to relieve the distress of Mrs. Stringfield and her little daughter.

Since the addresses were not given on the subscription list, the enclosed card of thanks was sent by Mrs. Stringfield to John Hachmeister, General Manager of the Latonia Jockey Club, to whom the contributions were sent. Mr. Hachmeister sent Mrs. Stringfield's letter to THE RECORD for publication, saying "I know it would be Mrs. Stringfield's wish to thank the many friends through the columns of your paper."

Card of Thanks.

HOTEL HONING, CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 29, 1916.

I wish to extend my most sincere appreciation and heartfelt thanks to one and all, of the sympathizing friends for the benevolence and sympathy extended to us in our late sorrow and sad bereavement, in the loss of our beloved father and husband, John K. Stringfield.

We especially wish to thank the donors of the floral offerings and the arrangements of the funeral and burial. THE BEREAVED FAMILY.

Several Cubans have purchased horses during the past few months to race at Oriental Park. Last week W. A. Carter disposed of Early Sight, J. B. Harrell and Molly O. to Senor M. H. Cespedes, and they will be among the horses that will be shipped from Windsor next week.

WESTCHESTER RACING ASSOCIATION STAKES.

A. McL. Earlocker, Racing Secretary of the Westchester Racing Association, announces a list of stakes for the spring meetings of 1917 and 1918, in this week's issue of THE RECORD. Nominations to these stakes will close Wednesday, November 15, 1916.

There are eleven stakes for the Belmont Park Spring meeting. The list as usual begins with the mile of the Metropolitan Handicap for three-year-olds and upward. The other races for three-year-olds and upward are the Suburban Handicap of a mile and a quarter, the Tobogban of six furlongs, the Ladies of a mile, and three selling fixtures, the Amateur Cup of a mile, the Harlem of a mile and the Hollis, a six furlong affair.

The two-year-old races, for now yearlings are: The Juvenile of $5,000; Keene Memorial, $5,000; the Fashion, for fillies and worth $3,500, and the Bouquet, a selling affair, with a value of $1,500.

In addition to these fixtures on the same date there will be the yearling closing for both the Belmont and the Withers of 1918. The Belmont will of course be over the usual mile and three furlong distance, and it will have a value of $7,500; the Withers remains at a mile and its value is $5,000.

Four steeplechase stakes to be run at the spring meeting of 1917, will be closed early in March, 1917.

The Lawrence Realization for the autumn meetings of 1917, 1918 and 1919, also will close on Wednesday, November 15. The 1917 race is for now two-year-olds and has $3,000 in added money. The 1918 race, for now yearlings, has $4,000 added, and the 1919 race, which closes on November 15, for now weanlings, has $5,000 added.

SARATOGA STAKES TO CLOSE NOVEMBER 27.

The Saratoga Association announces in THE RECORD this week five stakes for two-year-olds (now yearlings) to be run at the summer meeting of 1917. The value of the Hopeful Stakes next year will be $25,000, an increase of $7,500 over last season, and the Spinaway Stakes will be increased in added value from $3,000 to $5,000. The United States Hotel Stakes will have a value of $7,500, and the Grand Union Hotel Stakes will also carry with it a purse of $7,500. The Grab Bag Handicap of $3,000 value. The entrance fees to these events will be the same as last year.

Extensive improvements will be made to the Saratoga plant before next summer. The grand stand, field stand and club house will be repainted, and the latter building will be remodeled.

See advertising columns for announcement. Entry blanks may be had at THE RECORD office, or by addressing A. McL. Earlocker, Racing Secretary, 18 E. 41st St., New York, N. Y.

DEATH OF BEARCATCHER.

Dr. J. Lionel Shannon, of St. Kitts, B. W. I., who purchased the brown stallion Bearcatcher from Bradley & Bowman in October and shipped him to the British West Indies, writes THE RECORD that the son of St. George and Sallie McAllister died on the voyage.

Bearcatcher was a very fast horse and a good winner. He won four races in 1903 as a two-year-old and was a stake winner at both three and four years old. Considering his limited opportunities in the stud, he made a remarkably good showing, being the sire of J. C. Welch, M. Bert Thurman, Susan B., Behest, Oakland, La Cazadora, Wild Bear, Frank Ruhstaller, etc.

Bearcatcher was insured before leaving Lexington, so his death is not a total loss to Dr. Shannon.

LAST CALL FOR ENTRIES.

The catalog for the sale at Lexington, Dec. 1st, will go to press Monday morning. This is positively the last call for entries to this event. Attention is called to the display advertisement on another page of this issue, which shows a very attractive lot of entries. Data should be sent to The Kentucky Sales Co. at Lexington today.

DANNY MAHER DEAD.

HARTFORD, CONN., November 9.—Danny Maher, the American jockey, whose home is in this city, died today in a London hospital. A telegram was received to that effect by his relatives today. He started out in this city as a newsboy. He was assisted by a number of notable horsemen, including Father Bill Daly and Andy Welsh.

August Belmont, Nursery Stud, has consigned several yearlings to the sale here Dec. 1st. They are the get of Trap Rock and Flint Rock.

TWENTY LEADING SIRES IN AMERICA IN 1916.

After being put under eclipse for three successive years in the sire list by Broomstick, John E. Madden's Star Shoot has reasserted himself with a vengeance this year. He is the assured premier of 1916 away off by himself. His progeny have already won a greater money total than has been credited to any leading sire since 1908. He has sent the record number of twenty-six winning two-year-olds to the races.

The twenty leading sires up to the first of November are:

LOCAL NOTES.

When Mary Powell won the first race at Pimlico on Monday of this week, she credited her sire, Star Shoot, with his twenty-sixth winning two-year-old, a truly remarkable record even for this great horse. The report of the Jockey Club shows Star Shoot had fifty-two foals in 1914, and of this number twenty-six, or half of them, have earned brackets.

W. J. Young breezed the chestnut filly by Plaudit—Auvergne, by Sir Dixon, and the chestnut filly by Peter Quince—Little Oasis, by Belvidere, Monday, in 23 1-5 seconds. They finished head and head, and looked like they could have done anything asked of them. The Plaudit filly is the property of J. W. May and the Peter Quince filly belongs to Capt. J. Breckinridge Viley.

Transvaal, the young Commando stallion of A. J. Gorey in the Kentucky sales December 1st., has met with remarkable success in his time, considering he is only in the 11th year, having sired thirty-eight winners that have won upwards of 170 races, including five stake races, and in the neighborhood of $100,000 in money. Some three years ago, six of the eight living sons of Commando were sold at public auction by the late James R. Keene and the Kohler estate at an average price of $18,600 and up to date Transvaal has produced more winners and won more races and money than any of the six, consequently there has been considerable speculation among the horsemen as to what the probable price of Transvaal will be.

Transvaal is the sire of the stake winners King Gorin, Blackie Daw, Balko, Resign and Guy Fortune, and as a handicap horse King Gorin was one of the very best of the year. Blackie Daw, as a two-year-old in 1915, won the Cincinnati Trophy Stakes and eight other races, winning right around $10,000 as a two-year-old. This year at the late Latonia meeting he demonstrated his class by running a mile in 1:38 3-5 and winning over a very good field with remarkable ease.

* * *

G. D. Wilson, Iroquois Stud, has issued a synopsis of his horses that will be sold here Dec. 1st. The list shows the good sires Stalwart, Duke of Ormonde, about a dozen select mares, and half as many weanlings. It is a lot that should attract attention of breeders.

* * *

W. J. Dowling, Owosso, Mich., has broken three yearling colts by the stallion Arcite, which constitute the first crop of yearlings by this son of Alvescot and are as follows:

Chestnut colt out of Menlo Maid, by Nasturtium, and from the family of Hastings, Plaudit and Buskin in America and Sweetmeat and others of note in England. This is a big growthy youngster and a late foal, so was only broken.

Bay colt out of the winner Bob's Pet, by Cesarion; second dam Mary Kernaghan, by Whistle Jacket, and tracing back to Levity. This is an extra well made one and worked an eighth in 0:11 2-5, with very little handling.

Chestnut colt out of Irene Regent, by Makaland. This mare has not one cross of the blood of Pocahontas, an unusual thing nowadays, but has four crosses of Bonnie Scotland and three of Leamington. This yearling is of good size and has the look of hardiness about him, and that same characteristic was manifested in his training, which in the case of all three was only light, yet he galloped an eighth handily in 0:11 4-5.

These youngsters will be given plenty of time to grow and develop, for they will not be asked to race till well into the summer.

James Davidson wants a man to take care of mares and colts. See ad.

In printing the tabulated pedigree of R. L. Baker's Latonia Cup winner, Pif Jr., in our issue of last week, a cross on the dam's side was omitted, making Anna Bain read as by Onondaga out of Sally Howard, instead of by Kingston out of Laura W. by Onondaga, as it should have been. The correct pedigree is herewith given:

PIF JR.... Blk g. 4.

W. C. Clancy, former trainer of the Wickliffe Stable, arrived in Lexington Monday from Louisville and bought the three-year-old Pockichoo from T. C. Bradley. He says he will get together a string of six or seven horses for winter racing at New Orleans.

Uncle Hart has a new owner and is in Louisville. W. C. Clancy bought the consistent six-year-old racer Thursday morning from Ross & Looney and shipped him Thursday afternoon to the Falls City along with Pockichoo.

QUINCY STABLE HORSES IN RETIREMENT.

Trainer Stephen Lawler has a number of the Quincy Stable's horses in his care at Gravesend. Among them are the handsome big two-year-old chestnut colt Three Cheers, which now is a gelding. He is by Celt—Sumptuous. Babcock, another two-year-old by Waterboy—Phantasma, also a gelding, has been fired and blistered. The brown two-year-old gelding Jimmie Burns also has been fired and blistered, and so has the chestnut gelding Burlingame, a two-year-old by Cunard—Sweet Alice. Andrew, the splendid-looking son of Disguise and a daughter of Cyllene, a horse which was a crack sprinter two years ago, has been thrown out of training and will be sold for a sire. He is a fine horse and with his breeding he should be successful in the stud.

Trainer Lawler also has the chestnut two-year-old colt Barry Shannon, by Voter—Tower of Candles, and the two-year-old chestnut filly, Margaret L. by Ballot—Miss Crittenden, she having been fired and blistered but recently. He has now in active training two yearling colts and two yearling fillies, which constitute an attractive and promising quartette. They are a bay colt by Ballot—Discipline, a chestnut colt by Ballot—Blush Rose, a brown filly by Helmet—Grail, and a brown filly by Helmet—Eonic.

David Leary has sold the good plater, Roly, to S. C. Hildreth. His new owner weighed him Monday and found that the scales balanced at the 1,030-pound notch. Hourless was weighed at the same time and his weight was exactly 1,000 pounds, which showed that he had gained eight pounds in three days. Stromboli weighed 1,038 pounds, and this represented a gain of thirty-eight pounds in ten days.

TWENTY LEADING SIRES IN AMERICA IN 1916.

After being put under eclipse for three successive years in the sire list by Broomstick, John E. Madden's Star Shoot has reasserted himself with a vengeance this year. He is the assured premier of 1916 away off by himself. His progeny have already won a greater money total than has been credited to any leading sire since 1908. He has sent the record number of twenty-six winning two-year-olds to the races. He has had no winner of as much as $10,000 to his credit, but he has had the huge family of eighty-six sons and daughters industriously engaged in racing, every one of which won some amount of money to his credit. It is quite probable that this is itself a record. At any rate, one would have to delve deep in racing records to match it.

And since there is quite a bit of racing to be done before a new year is ushered in, it is quite sure that Star Shoot's various accounts will be further considerably expanded before the end of December. Of promise in a way is the fact that his four best winners are two-year-olds.

The dead sire, Peep O'Day, was well represented in the racing of this year and is a respectable second to Star Shoot, with Ogden a good third. After figuring as the premier for the last three years Broomstick dropped so far down that he is now in ninth place in the list of twenty leading stallions. The failure of Thunderer and Bromo to train on had much to do with his declension, as well as the turning over of many of the Brookdale Stud matrons to All Gold and Whisk Broom II.

The twenty leading sires up to the first of November and their largest money-earning representatives are:

AMERICAN-BRED MARE WINS IN INDIA.

Racing in India is going on well and I read in the Bombay Chronicle of September 24 that there was a big exodus from that city for the postponed second day of the Poona Second Meeting, four race specials being run, in addition to ordinary morning trains. In the result the enclosures were packed. The chief weight for age race, the Aga Shamshudin Plate, brought out a number of horses that were well-known here before being sent to India, included in the field being Radiant, Criton, Silver Balm, Jove, Vanity Box, Fire Finch and Primrose Morn. Victory went to Primrose Morn, on which W. Huxley rode a well-judged race. Radiant ran well, but he had 132 pounds to carry, and was trying to give 51 pounds to the winner, a seven-year-old gelding by Mocanna, which, as a three-year-old when owned by Mr. Frogley, defeated Castleton, Cigar, Borrow and other speedy horses for the Queensberry Handicap at Newmarket Houghton. Among the runners for the Stewards' Plate (one and one-half miles) was Philanthropist, now owned by the Maharajah of Gwalior, and he was much fancied, but he was beaten a short head in a tremendous finish by the topweight, Santa Barbara (133 pounds) and North (131 pounds), with Mr. Galstaun's Shining Way (98 pounds) fourth at an interval of a neck. The winner was ridden in artistic style by Trenoweth. Santa Barbara presumably is the American-bred filly of that name, by Ornus out of Santa Catalina, which three years ago, as a three-year-old, was sold at Haydock Park for 35 guineas. A. Templeman, Hardy and Pullin were other successful English jockeys. At the Calcutta Monsoon races on the same day Hayhoe won two welter races in succession on Sumurun for Mr. Cunningham and on Guess for Mr. Donetil.—"Vigilant" in London Sportsman.

CROKER'S HORSES BRING GOOD PRICES.

The sale of Richard Croker's horses at Glencairn, Ireland, October 27, was a successful affair, and London Sporting Life of the next day published the following particulars (prices translated into American money terms):

Messrs. Goff held the sale of Mr. Croker's horses at Glencairn, County Dublin, yesterday, and for forty-six lots an aggregate of 10,495 guineas was realized. The highest price was 1,950 guineas for the smart three-year-old sprinter Eleanor M., which was purchased by Mr. M. Arnott for the Hon. G. Lampton. Of the other horses in training, the best price was 950 guineas, for Geraldina, a two-year-old winner in Ireland, which was secured by Mr. W. T. de Pledge. The brown filly by Orby, out of Simon Lass, went to Captain Tuthill for 420 guineas, and next best was 350 guineas for the colt by Orby—Celona, Mr. P. Cullinan being the buyer.

The broodmare Grand Geraldine was retained at 800 guineas, but her colt foal made 470 guineas, Sir W. Tatem securing the youngster. The top price for a broodmare was 400 guineas, for the good-looking Florenza, by Orby—Iaurinn, by Persimmon, purchased by Captain Dixon. Mr. Peard, in paying 600 guineas for a bay filly foal by Orby—Iaurinn, gave the highest price for one of that age, and for fifty guineas less Sir W. Tatem secured the chestnut son of Orby—Crosscut. Unfortunately the weather was wretched, heavy rain pouring down all day. Prices and purchasers:

FOXHALL AND LADY ELIZABETH.

BRIGG, ENGLAND, Nov. 4, 1916.

EDITOR THOROUGHBRED RECORD.

In your issue of Sept. 2nd, Mr. James H. McCreery states that Mr. Keene offered the late George Fordham three thousand pounds sterling to ride Foxhall in both races. Fordham reluctantly refused to ride him * * * because he made a vow never to ride a horse again that Mr. Day trained. It transpired that Fordham rode a great favorite of the public and in the betting in, I think, Lady Elizabeth, which finished last in the Derby, if my memory is correct." As to Fordham refusing to ride Foxhall through a disagreement with William Day, his trainer, over Lady Elizabeth, appears to be absolute nonsense as William Day, of Woodyates, never had anything to do with the mare, as she was trained by his brother, John Day, of Danebury. Fordham was one of the finest jockeys, of his or any other time, and of sterling honesty, and as for what Wm. Day may have said in his books would not in the least influence me in my judgment of the two men. Then again, it was very possible that Foxhall would not be at liberty to ride Foxhall as he had the chief riding of Mons. Lefevre's (the owner of Tristan) horses. In the Grand Prix de Paris, Foxhall (Fordham up) beat Tristan (Archer riding) by a short head after a desperate race. This was in June when Sherrard trained for Mr. Keene, who took them away early in August and sent them to Day, who was lucky in getting such a high-class horse into his hands ready trained for the Autumn handicaps. In the Cambridgeshire Stakes, Foxhall had 9 st. to carry and Tristan 7 st. 9 lbs. and on their previous running did it not seem to give the latter a great chance of winning the race. According to the report of the race in Bell's Life, before reaching the distance post Lucy Glitters felt the pressure of the pace and swerving across to the left, twice interfered with Tristan before she crossed over in front of him. Foxhall, having a clear course, got the better of Lucy Glitters and won by a head, Tristan being third, after his knocking about. With a clear course the latter should have won easily, and had Foxhall returned to the land of his birth he would have made a much greater name as a sire.

In the October part of The Bloodstock Breeders' Review, Lady Elizabeth's name is again brought into prominence through the sale of Trevisco to an American owner, and a still greater blunder has been perpetrated. The writer of the notice of the event correctly traces the pedigree of the mare to another Lady Elizabeth, half-sister to Sir Tatton Sykes, winner of the Two Thousand Guineas and the St. Leger, which he describes as "the brilliant filly which plays so prominent a part in the story of the Marquis of Hastings' remarkable turf career." The Lady Elizabeth first named was by Sleight-of-Hand, and was foaled in 1845. The Marquis' filly was foaled in 1865, being a daughter of Trumpeter—Miss Bowzer, by Hesperus. She was sold into one of the Imperial studs in Austria, and was a dismal failure as a broodmare. She could not rear her foals and was very delicate, betraying some unaccountable symptoms. The purchaser of Trevisco may be thankful that instead of getting the offspring of a mare, which was said to have been poisoned, he will find his horse strains back to a healthy and stout Yorkshire family.

JOHN ASHTON.

LATONIA TRACK WINS ITS CASE.

COVINGTON, KY., Nov. 14.—The City of Covington was given a solar plexus blow in Police Court today by Judge T. J. Edmonds when he held that the ordinance assessing a license of $100 on each race against Latonia Agricultural Association was not only void but unreasonable and dismissed it. After the ordinance was passed and races were begun in October General Manager John Hachmeister was summoned daily to Police Court for alleged violation of the ordinance. Attorney Harvey Myers, President of the racing association, asserted at the outset that the ordinance was not only unjust but beyond all reason and excessive. Judge Edmonds directed both sides to file briefs, after which it was submitted.

There were three facts submitted to the Court:

1. "Has Covington power to license, by ordinance, occupation of conducting horse races?"

2. "Does defendant come within the provisions of this ordinance and what effect should be given to the fact that only half of the race course lies within Covington?"

3. Is the amount of the license so great as to render the ordinance void?"

Looking those facts in the face Edmonds held Covington has the right to regulate or license occupation of conducting races. He was of the opinion that Covington can regulate and license defendant, but he held that the license of $100 a race over a portion of course is so unreasonable as to indicate an abuse of discretion.

"Horse racing in itself," says the Court, "is not of such nature as would warrant charging such an enormous license and Court believes further that the betting sheds, pari-mutuel machines of the places where the money is won and lost would call for a high license and were this portion in the city of Covington the Court would probably rule differently, but as these are outside the jurisdiction of the City Commissioners Court held the ordinance void on the ground that it is unreasonable and dismissed the association."

MORE HORSES ARRIVE FROM EUROPE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—With her hatches taken off for the unloading of freight, the Manchuria had considerable light between decks today, and it was possible for visitors to obtain much more satisfactory views of her numerous equine passengers than were to be had Sunday.

Naturally enough much of the interest centered in the valuable shipment of yearlings which Trainer Thomas Welsh brought over for J. E. Widener, although the seven brought over for John Sanford, which proved to be a particularly fine lot, were not neglected. In fact, the Sanford yearlings shipped wonderfully well, especially in view of the long twenty-one-day voyage which had been made from France by way of London.

Relatively the Widener yearlings had not shipped as well as some of the others, although all of them looked bright and in perfect health, but they were a trifle low in flesh. Thomas Welsh insisted that his charges would not be fit for inspection before the lapse of a week or ten days, and, as they were not unloaded until very late in the afternoon, it was impossible to look them over other than very superficially, and that without any individual identification.

Trainer Welsh said that he saw some very good racing while he was abroad, and that he believed the prices for reallly good yearlings were as strong as ever, both in England and in France. He said that London and Paris just now were the busiest cities he had ever seen. It was well nigh impossible to obtain hotel accommodation in London, and everybody appeared to have plenty of money.

The list of the Widener yearlings is as follows:

Alaric, b c, by Verwood (son of Grey Plume and Kildonan) out of Porte Maillot, by Guarde Feu.

Sharrier, ch c, by Verwood, out of Reckless, by Gallinule.

Clef de Fer, b f, by Verwood, out of Clef d'Or, by Flying Fox.

Corps a Corps, b c, by Ajax, out of Bratina, by Doricles.

Just qu' Bout, b c, by Ajax, out of Roquette, by Chaleureux.

La Bayonette, b f, by Verwood, out of Rondeau, by Bay Ronald.

L'Independent, b f, by Ajax, out of Halima, by Doricles.

L'Infirmier, b c, by Verwood, out of Zahra, by Flying Fox.

L'Infirmiere, b f, by Ajax, out of Golden Key, by Ladas.

Sans Merci, b c, by Black Sand, out of Poupee, by Reverende.

Sournoise, b f, by Verwood, out of L'Eau qui Dort, by Flying Fox.

Tenons Bon, b c, by Verwood, out of Habanera, by Ajax.

Trompe la Mort, ch c, by Verwood, out of Marsa, by Adam.

These are the thirteen which were bought by Mr. Widener from Edmond Blanc. The six which follow were either bred by Mr. Widener or bought from other breeders in France.

Seafarer, ch c, by Rabelais, out of Ocean Bound, by Star Shoot, the dam being an American-bred mare.

Tufter, b or br c, by Macdonald II., out of Rose Pompon, by Rock Sand.

To and Fro, b or br c, by Fermoyle, out of Forward, by Sir Dixon, dam American-bred.

Asthore, b or br c, by Macdonald II., out of Martha Gorman, an American-bred mare.

Memories, b f, by Rabelais, out of Wallflower, by Meddler.

Abadane, b c, by Marboul, out of Alby, by Rabelais.

This last named colt was bought for 15,000 francs by Thomas Welsh, acting for Mr. Widener.

Grant Hugh Browne has nineteen thoroughbreds on board the Manchuria, but as he has their papers with him and is out of the city, it is impossible to obtain their pedigrees for the present.

The lot includes five broodmares, two two-year-olds, one five-year-old and eleven yearlings. They have shipped fairly well, and Bruce McDaniel was at the pier this afternoon for the purpose of sending them down to Gravesend. The yearlings include two colts, two geldings and seven fillies.

R. L. Montgomery, of Philadelphia, has a shipment of seven Irish hunters and the five-year-old thoroughbred horse Mellifont, by St. Brendan, out of Meldhre, by Enthusiast. This is a handsome bay horse of remarkably racy make-up.

H. T. Oxnard has a nice brown weanling colt by Adam Bede, out of Autumn, by St. Frusquin.

A. B. Hancock has one broodmare and two weanlings. The bay broodmare Gallice, 6, by Gallinule, out of St. Cecilia, by St. Serf. The weanlings are a bay filly by Junior, out of Bachelor Girl, by Bachelor's Button, and a fine chestnut colt by Polymelus, out of Half-a-Slice, by Robert le Diable.

The Shetland pony which came over on the Manchuria turns out to be a scant thirty inches high, and he weighs just 147 pounds, three pounds lighter than Tom Sayres was when he won the heavyweight championship of the world. He is six years old and he traces in a direct line to Lion, the horse numbered as low 22 in the Shetland pony stud book. His owner and importer is W. H. Sievers, of London, England.

I notice that my friend "Gareth," of the "Referee," is uncertain about the heaviest weight ever carried in a race by a race horse. He instances Sir John Astley's match in 1879, when Sir John rode his horse, Drumhead, to victory at Newmarket, at 16 st., 6 lb., against Mr. Caledon Alexander's Briglia, whose owner went to scale at six pounds less. "Gareth" is wrong in attributing Drumhead's breakdown to that match, for the horse subsequently ran a good third to Isonomy and Paul's Cray for the Brighton Cup, and then ran second to Rylstone for the Lewes Handicap. It was during a later match, over two miles, with Solomon (Mr. W. Bevill up), each carrying 16 st. 10 lb., that Drumhead broke down. As far as I know the heaviest weights carried were some time in the late fifties or early sixties, when Captain Machell and Captain McCraith (who together scaled 22 st. 5 lb.) jointly rode the latter's horse Clown in a match over two miles at Tramore for a substantial sum against Mr. Malcolmson's Bacon (owner up). Mr. Malcolmson weighed 18 st., but although the two captains were giving a lot of weight to their opponent, Clown easily carried his double burden to victory.—[Vigilant in London Sportsman.

Most people may have forgotten Watershed, the handsome son of Watercress which won the Cambridgeshire of 1901 for the late Mr. W. C. Whitney; but the old fellow is fit and well in far-away Wexford. A few days since I saw two good foals by him which Mr. Loftus Cliffe has bred at Belle Vue, Co. Wexford, one, a bay filly out of Cape Grisnez by St. Gris, being a youngster of the greatest promise.—[London Horse & Hound.

DETAILS OF KENTUCKY RACING.

As is customary, Latonia led the Kentucky tracks this year in the gross total of money returned to owners, but was second to Churchill Downs in daily average distribution. In the grand total distributed the Kentucky racing field showed an increase of $102,699 over 1915. This increase was mainly the result of the order of the Kentucky State Racing Commission prescribing a minimum value of purses. There have been rumors that one consequence was that the Kentucky tracks were operated at a loss this year. Of the truth or untruth of this only the officials of the various organizations are informed. Probably it was untrue. To all outward appearances all the meetingv were so well patronized that a profit must have been realized, even if not so great as in preceding years.

However, while it is possible that the year's results may have given the track officials and stockholders legitimate grounds for a bit of grumbling, it is apparent the owners who raced their horses over the Kentucky tracks have no right to anything but directly opposite sentiments. The racing was never better and left little to be desired. Condition were so well considered and devised that any owner of a horse able to run a little bit was sure to share in the money output. Horses of high-class were frequently in action and the deeds of Dodge, Ed Crump, George Smith, Harry Kelly, Kathleen, Pif Jr., America, Chalmers, Embroidery, Westy Hogan, Hodge, Auriga, Star Hawk, Bayberry Candle, Waterblossom, Bringhurst, Vogue and others of great speed or marked stamina, or both combined, served to entertain and delight thousands of admiring patrons. Quite sure it is that no better general brand of racing was ever witnessed in Kentuckey than that of 1916.

Among the owners John W. Schorr was first in stable earnings and has good reason to view his share in Kentucky racing with much complacency. One of the three great prizes of the field, the valuable Kentucky Handicap, of the net value of $11,650, was his through the speed and dauntless gameness of his sturdy campaigner, Ed Crump. W. H. Baker came in second to Mr. Schorr with a highly satisfactory total to his credit and R. L. Baker was a prosperous third. The Eastern turfman, John Sanford's foray was brief, but winning the Kentucky Derby was certainly ample justification and recompense for the excursion. J. Umensetter, Thomas C. McDowell, Jefferson Livingston, A. K. Macomber, Weber & Ward, George J. Long, Adair & Baker, J. S. Hawkins, William Bros. and W. J. Weber were other turfmen who garnered $10,000 or more as their reward for participating in Kentucky's favorite sport.

The number of racing days, races, winning owners and horses, total of money distributed at each meeting and other particulars of interest are here set forth:

JOHNSON & BILLINGS' NEW ORLEANS STRING.

NEW YORK, November 13.—Charles Patterson, who is in charge of the Johnson & Billings thoroughbreds at Belmont Park, has gone to New Orleans to look out for suitable quarters at the Fair Grounds for the dozen and a half animals in his charge. It is anticipated that he will race a valuable string of two and three-year-olds at New Orleans, and a majority of them are imported animals.

It will be remembered that about this time last year, or possibly a little later, he brought over a valuable shipment of yearlings for Messrs. Billings and Johnson, which he had bought at the Newmarket Autumn sales.

Originally there were eleven of these imported youngsters which came over in the Philadelphian, but one of these was sold out of the stable, leaving ten which will be sent to New Orleans, and along with these will be sent several imported and one or two American-bred yearlings.

It is hoped that these imported two-year-olds, of which much had been expected on account of both breeding and individuality, will do something worth while in the way of redeeming their reputations while in New Orleans, as they now appear to be in fine condition, and most of them have been working well of late. They are as follows:

Bachelor's Hope, ch c, by Tredennis—Ladytown, by Gallinule.

Sanscrit, br g, by Santry—Lilydale, by Juggler,

All Star, ch c, by Sunstar—Falling Star, by Rightaway.

Greek Legend, b c, by Polymelus—Evandne, by Sidus.

ADVERTISE YOUR STALLION.

This is the time of the year to advertise your stallion and it is a matter of vital importance that should have your immediate attention. The date is early in the breeding season, but just the time when the horsemen are making their plans and selecting suitable stallions to mate with their mares.

Nearly all horsemen, who are interested in the thoroughbred breeding industry, are subscribers and regular readers of THE RECORD, and in selecting stallions to which to send their mares, they consult and carefully weigh the suitability of bloodlines as set forth in each advertisement appearing in this paper. If you are represented, your stallion will be considered, but if you are not an advertiser, he will most likely be entirely overlooked, and, in all probability, the reader is ignorant of the fact that you own such a horse at all.

You, no doubt, consider your stallion worth keeping, and if he is worthy of being retained for breeding purposes, he is entitled to a little publicity. Consider your stallion proposition just like you would any other commercial endeavor and you will soon see the good of a little advertising. If you are the owner of a good stallion, and wish him to gain prominence as a sire, you must advertise and let your patrons know what you have.

Many a horseman makes the boast that his stallion is a noted race horse or sire, and does not require advertising, but he is unaware of the fact that horsemen soon forget noted race horses and sires once they are obscure from the public eye for a time. They must be reminded and the horse's name, breeding and achievements constantly kept before them. Competition is so strong in the stallion business that no matter how good a horse you own, the other fellow always has a match for him, but if you are the best advertiser you will get the mares.

The future never looked brighter for the thoroughbred industry and the owner of a good stallion should do all in his power to boost his horse. Stallion owners can find no better way of reaching the owners of mares than through the columns of THE RECORD. It is the only journal in America devoted entirely to the thoroughbred horse, and its circulation takes it into the hands of nearly every thoroughbred horseman in America. The cost is small compared with the great benefit to be derived from a stallion announcement in THE RECORD, and any owner who has a horse worthy of public patronage will scarcely fail to avail himself of the publicity that can be secured through the use of this paper as an advertising medium.

The Newmarket December sales will begin Monday, Dec. 4, and continue all the week.

HARTLAND STUD STALLIONS.

Hon. J. N. Camden, proprietor of Hartland Stud, announces his stallions Light Brigade, Ben Brush and Peter Quince for the season of 1917.

Light Brigade.

Light Brigade, Mr. Camden's recent English purchase, will be allowed to serve ten outside mares at $500 the season. A tabulated pedigree and summary of Light Brigade's races are given in the announcement on another page, therefore we will not go into details here. Of Picton, the sire of Light Brigade, it is only necessary to remind readers that he won the Dewhurst Plate as a two-year-old; and the following season ran second in the Chippenham Stakes at Newmarket, beating Radium a length and a half; and also second in the Derby to Spearmint, with Troutbeck (winner of the St. Leger), Radium, Malua, Beppo, Gorgos (winner of the Two Thousand Guineas), Lally and The White Knight behind him. Picton met with an accident in the Derby, which brought his racing career to a premature close. With Bend Or and Isonomy for grandsires and Doncaster, Macaroni, Sterling and Hermit for great grandsires, he passed on to Light Brigade a wealth of the best sire blood to be found in the Stud Book.

Light Brigade is the first foal of his dam, Bridge of Sighs, a mare which did not race. Santa Brigida, the second dam, was in training two seasons and won four races worth £4,762, including the Prince of Wales' Stakes at Goodwood. She is the dam of Bridge of Canny (by Love Wisely), a winner of fifteen races and £14,500, and which, in 1911, was sold for 12,000 guineas to go to the Argentine, where he died in 1914. Bridge of Canny was the sire of Cantilever, winner of the Cambridgeshire and of the Jockey Club Stakes of £10,000. Then comes Bridget, sister to Melton. In addition to Santa Brigida, she produced the winners Weybridge, Ormskirk, Bilbery II., Irish Stew, and Oliver Goldsmith. Violet Melrose was the dam of Melton (winner of the Derby and St. Leger), Seaton, Sir Benjamin, Hobart (a winner in Germany), and Editha (dam of Sir Jacob, a winner of £2,126, and of Hurst Park and Pope Joan, winners of many races in America). The fifth dam is Violet (by Thormanby), grandam of Mrs. Butterwick, an Oaks winner; the sixth, Woodbine (by Stockwell), a producer of six winners, and the grandam of St. Serf and of Atalanta, the dam of Ayrshire; and the seventh, Honeysuckle, sister to Newminster. These particulars could be elaborated, but the summary suffices to show that the family is a very virile one, and one which has given England many famous stallions.

Light Brigade's record affords all the evidence required to prove that he was both a very good and a very consistent horse. More often than not he was carrying weights exceeding 9st. In the autumn of his four-year-old career, he broke down while competing for the Whip at Newmarket, and his retirement from the turf thereupon became imperative. The second race he won as a two-year-old, and the eleven that stand to his credit as a three-year-old, were consecutive.

Light Brigade has had two seasons at the stud at Newmarket, the first at Captain Tanner's paddocks, and the second at the Graham Stud. Both were in every way satisfactory. English breeders showed eagerness to secure nominations to him. This was not surprising, having regard to Light Brigade's credentials, for he not only has a first-class pedigree and a striking individuality; he was also a first-rate performer on the turf. He measures fully 16 hands, is a whole brown, and in all respects fills the eye as a horse of fine masculine character. There are seventeen foals by him registered this year as the result of his first season at the stud, and the past season he had a full complement of mares.

Mr. Camden is certainly to be congratulated on securing Light Brigade, as horses of his class would probably not be on the market at any price, under circumstances other than those at present existing in England, and it is quite certain that breeders will gladly avail themselves of the opportunity of sending mares to him.

Ben Brush.

Ben Brush (son of Bramble and Roseville by Reform, he a son of Leamington), was a high-class stake winner and is the sire of Delhi, Sweep, Broomstick, Lady Amelia, Trance, Vandergrift, Pebbles, Catalina, Marse Henry, Broom Corn, etc., etc. He will be allowed to serve mares at $200 the season.

Peter Quince.

Peter Quince is a son of Commando and imp. Fair Vision (also dam of Trance) by Touchet, son of the Derby winner Lord Lyon. His second dam is Enchantress (dam of Necromancer, etc.), by Scottish Chief, and she out of Lady Love, by Blair Athol, winner of the Derby, St. Leger, etc. Peter Quince won the Culver Handicap and other races and was a very speedy horse.

Commando (Peter Quince's sire) was the premier sire of 1907, his get winning $270,345. Domino (sire of Commando) was a great racehorse, winning $193,550, and his is the most potent line in this country.

Peter Quince is the sire of Luke, Chalmers, Solly, Imperator, Ben Quince, Claxonette, Bermudian, Sweetheart Sue, Malabar, Maryland Girl, Theresa Bethel, Eddie Delling, Nigra, Anna Lou, Lady Always, The Baroness, etc., etc.

See announcement on another page for full particulars.

CHUCTANUNDA.

Chuctanunda, property of John Sanford, Amsterdam, N. Y., has been recently sent to Kentucky and is this week announced to make the season of 1917 at S. C. Lyne's Larchmont Stud at the very nominal fee of $50.

Chuctanunda, a son of imported Laureate (Rosicrucian—Laura) and La Tosca, by imported St. Blaise, was a superior stake winner for three seasons, possessing great speed and weight-carrying ability, as his mile in the Delaware Handicap, which he won easily with 118 pounds up in 1:38 flat, will demonstrate. His dam, La Tosca, was the best mare of her day, winning over $40,000 in three seasons. Since her retirement to the stud she has sent many good horses to the races, besides Chuctanunda, being the dam of Mohawk II., Caughnawaga ($50,890), La Tosca II. (dam of the great race horse Sir John Johnson, winner for eight seasons), Dr. Parker, etc.

Imp. Toucques, Chuctanunda's second dam, was a stake winner and the dam of stake winners. While his next dam, La Toucques, captured the French Derby, French Oaks, etc.

With limited opportunities Chuctanunda is the sire of many good horses and consistent winners, among them being Fort Johnson, Herkimer, Swart's Hill, Elwah and Tom McTaggart, one of the best two-year-olds in 1916. This youngster started eleven times and was only once out of the money, being winner of over $6,000, and four consecutive races, among them the East View Stakes. He was second in the Saratoga Special, and also second in the Grab Bag. Was a bang-up third in the Grand Union Hotel Stakes to August Belmont's great colt Hourless and H. P. Whitney's Rickety, and was third to Bondage and Tragedy, conceding weight to both in the Potomac Handicap, run at Laurel on October 28, being beaten a head and half a length for the big end of the purse.

Chuctanunda's pedigree is given elsewhere in this issue and no fault can be found with his bloodlines. As will be seen from the foregoing he comes from a great racing and producing family, was himself a stake horse and is the sire of stake horses. We believe Chuctanunda will prove a most attractive proposition to breeders around Lexington and we are sure that he will receive such patronage as to warrant his success in the stud in Kentucky from the outset.

SARATOGA STAKES TO CLOSE NOVEMBER 27.

The Saratoga Association announces in THE RECORD this week five stakes for two-year-olds (now yearlings) to be run at the summer meeting of 1917. The value of the Hopeful Stakes next year will be $25,000, an increase of $7,500 over last season, and the Spinaway Stakes will be increased in added value from $3,000 to $5,000. The United States Hotel Stakes will have a value of $7,500, and the Grand Union Hotel Stakes will also carry with it a purse of $7,500. The Grab Bag Handicap of $3,000 value. The entrance fees to these events will be the same as last year.

Extensive improvements will be made to the Saratoga plant before next summer. The grand stand, field stand and club house will be repainted, and the latter building will be remodeled.

See advertising columns for announcement. Entry blanks may be had at THE RECORD office, or by addressing A. McL. Earlocker, Racing Secretary, 18 E. 41st St., New York, N. Y.

John E. Madden, acting for Eastern parties, has purchased from T. C. McDowell the yearling bay colt by Star Shoot—King's Daughter. This colt worked a quarter in 0:23.

LOCAL NOTES.

Ten yearlings, property of A. L. Aste, New York, were shipped today from John S Barbee's Glen-Helen Stud, to training quarters at Gravesend. Mr. Barbee pronounces these yearlings one of the best lots collectively that ever left Kentucky. He says they will average over 1,000 pounds and that they are simply crackerjacks. They are as follows:

Chestnut colt by Star Shoot—Eyelet (dam of Jacquelina) by St. Andrew.

Chestnut colt by Duval—Helen Miller (dam of Stalwart Helen) by Jean Beraud.

Brown colt by Jack Point—Gold Lady (dam of Goldy and Lady Little) by Goldcrest.

Black colt by Hapsburg—Glad Smile (dam of Miss Fissy and Andrew Johnston) by Dr. MacBride.

The chestnut mare Wilful Maid, 6, reached Hon. J. N. Camden's Hartland Stud this week from England. John Miller brought her down from New York. She is a nicely bred mare, being by Sundridge out of Marian Hood, by Martagon; 2d dam Maid Marian, by Hampton; 3d dam Quiver, by Toxophilite; in foal to Prince Palatine. J. W. Parrish, Midway, Ky., has purchased from Crosthwaite & Johnson for $1,600 the three-year-old chestnut mare, Triad, by Star Shoot, out of Thirty-third (dam of Buckhorn and his good Ballot two-year-old, Midway), by Sir Dixon. Mr. Parrish will pick up seven or eight well-bred mares to mate with Bulse when the son of Disguise and Nethersole is retired. On bloodlines, Bulse is surely well qualified for the stud, his grandam being the St. Serf mare Fairy Slipper, and her dam the great Cinderella, dam of Peter Pan, by Hermit.

Richard Allman, Coulee City, Wash., reports the death of the weanling bay colt Lone Hummingbird, by Sager, Canadian Derby winner, out of Lady Keeveena. Mr. Allman writes that this was the only thoroughbred foal in the Big Bend of the Columbia River, and as he had great hopes for this youngster, he naturally feels his death quite keenly.

The last sale of thoroughbreds of the year will take place at Lexington on Friday, December 1, when, in addition to numerous other entries, the entire dispersal of the establishments of G. D. Wilson and A. J. Gorey will be made. Mr. Wilson's Iroquois Stud now numbers about twenty-five head, including the stallions Stalwart and Duke of Ormonde, together with upwards of a dozen mares and the 1916 foals. At the head of Mr. Gorey's stud is one of the most successful sons of Commando, Transvaal, now just eleven years old, and which for the last several years has been prominent in the "Twenty list of winning sires." Transvaal's get have won nearly two hundred races and a vast sum of money, and they have shown to like all kinds of tracks and distances. Nothing need be said of Stalwart, as he has successful representatives in all parts of the country, while Duke of Ormonde is a young horse that bids fair to obtain a prominent position as a sire. The sale will also include about fifteen yearlings and forty weanlings, the remainder of the catalogue being made up of broodmares and such stallions as Jack Atkin, Lord Rock Vale, Box, Black Pine, etc. The catalogue for this event has just come from the press and copy may be had by addressing The Kentucky Sales Company at Lexington, Ky. A notable consignment in the sale is the entire crop of weanlings by the good sire Sir John Johnson, while a star individual is the weanling filly by Star Shoot, out of Pastorella, the dam of the undefeated Colin.

Capt. J. B. Viley, Stonewall Stud, Midway, Ky., has purchased from Desha Breckinridge the three-year-old bay filly Cherry Blossom, by Peter Quince out of imp. Cherry Blossom has been retired and will be bred next season to Hon. J. N. Camden's Light Brigade, considered by many one of the best of the high-class English horses recently imported.

Cerina, the ten-year-old Meddler mare and dam Chinkara, by Galopin, listed in the Kentucky Sales Co.'s sale by A. J. Gorey, is considered by many the very best broodmare in Kentucky. She has nine English Derby winners on the top crosses on her male line and on her dam's side her third dam is also the fourth dam of Spearmint, winner of the English Derby. In addition to this the winner of a Two Thousand Guineas and One Thousand Guineas is found close up in her pedigree. Although bred in America, every drop of her blood is of English extraction and the buyer of this mare will purchase an animal which combines the most successful blood from the stud of Clarence Mackay and the late Jas. R. Keene.

A weanling colt of magnificent conformation and size from this mare by Transvaal, making it a full brother to the stake winner, Guy Fortune, will also be sold in this sale.

Phil T. Chinn and Henry McDaniel sailed on the steamship St. Louis last Sunday for England to purchase broodmares, yearlings and two-year-olds. Mr. Chinn has a big commission to execute for John A. Drake, who is coming back into racing next season on rather an extensive scale.

Berryman to be used as a stock farm.

W. M. Carter, former trainer of the Thomas Fortune Ryan horses, is here looking over available racing material.

Mr. Belmont has decided that he will not race his smart filly, Malachite, another season. She is now at Belmont Park, but she will be sent down to the Nursery Stud shortly and bred. Hourless and Stromboli have been thrown out of training and will not be given any more work before being taken up to be put in training for the season of 1917. S. C. Hildreth also is giving his latest purchase Roly, a complete let-up for the remainder of 1916.

The name of Mr. Belmont's yearling filly by Fair Play out of Mahubah, by Rock Sand, which was named Magda, has been renamed Madsa, as it appears the name "Magda" had been claimed before she was given it.

ARGENTINE SALES.

For some reason which I do not pretend to explain South America has not profited by the war, whereas North America has thriven on it to an enormous extent. One might have thought that Argentine beef would have ensured continuous prosperity to the producers of it, but it does not appear to have done so, and the demand for imported bloodstock has almost ceased in that country. Nevertheless, racing continues to flourish there, and every Thursday and Sunday the meetings at Palermo go on. It is easy to understand how under such conditions Pari-Mutuel betting produces astonishing results, for it is as if a race meeting were held twice a week in Hyde Park, with an immense number of machines to accommodate all classes of speculators and every facility given to encourage men to speculate. In such a case, no doubt, the whole of the rates of London could be paid by a small percentage of the money passed through the machines, but we know perfectly well that such a scheme will never be realized in this country, and it is idle to even think of it, except by way of explaining to the advocates of the Pari-Mutuel why its success in the Argentine affords no valid reason for its introduction in England under totally dissimilar conditions.

However, Argentines racing continues to flourish, whether trade in general be bad or good, and the sale of the two-year-old products of the famous "Haras las Ortigas" on the 2nd inst. was wonderfully successful. Nine Diamond Jubilee colts realized 145,000 pesos, which is an average approximately of £1,407 per head.

Nine Diamond Jubilee fillies made 94,500 pesos, an approximate average of £917 each.

Nor was this all, for there were nine Greenan youngsters, four by Asde Aspadas, one by Old Man, and one by Le Sancy; thirty-four in all, and the grand total was 322,900 pesos, which works out approximately at an average of £829.

One of the Diamond Jubilee colt is out of the extraordinarily successful broodmare, Celerina, which has produced a continuous succession of winners since she was sent to Buenos Aires from this country some ten years ago. Her colt on this occasion was sold for 20,000 pesos (£1,746) to the Gran Muneca stable. Celerina was originally bought as a yearling in the U. S. A. for Mr. Simpson-Jay, for whom she won a race or two. Mr. Taylor Sharpe afterwards became the owner of her, and her first three foals were dead ones. She had a living one, however, and that a winner before she was exported to the Argentine, and since then she has done no wrong. The highest-priced Diamond Jubilee colt is a chestnut out of that very good mare Sibila, the champion of her day. This colt made 32,000 pesos (£2,794), Senor Francesco Orrezoli being the buyer. He was tied for top price, however, by the bay colt out of Pega Pega, which was secured by Los Cerrilos stable.—[The Special Commissioner in London Sportsman.

Celerina was bred by the late James B. Haggin. She was foaled in 1897, being by Goldfinch, out of Carissima, by Kingfisher (a son of Lexington).

Willis S. Kilmer of Binghamton, N. Y., disposed of nine horses at Durland's Riding Academy in New York for a total of $4,210 at public auction last week. The star of the sale was the handsome big chestnut thoroughbred stallion Yellowcrest, which went to Miss Constance Vauclian of Philadelphia for $2,000. Yellowcrest is a ten-year-old son of Yellowtail and Playful, and he has never been defeated in the thoroughbred stallion class in the show ring. He was winner at Madison Square Garden in 1913, 1914 and 1915, and in addition he won a blue ribbon at Bryn Mawr in 1914. He is entered in the same class at the Garden next week and will doubtless be shown by Miss Vauclain. He raced as Captain John.

				Violet Melrose	Scottish Chief / Violet

LIGHT BRIGADE was bred by Lord Derby. As a two-year-old he won the Highclere Nursery, in a field of twenty-one, and Liverpool Nursery, carrying top-weight in a good field; beaten a neck by Prue in Hurst Park Foal Plate (with Jest third, two lengths away), a neck by Canzone in Lancaster Nursery, and two lengths by Jest in the Free Handicap, and once unplaced.

As a three-year-old he won eleven races consecutively, including the Column Produce Stakes (from Sun Yat, Young Pegasus, etc.), Hurst Park Yearling Plate (beating Roseworthy, Aldegond, and others), Great National Produce Stakes (giving the second 24 lbs.), Durham County Produce Plate (by two lengths from Cantilever, in receipt of 9 lbs.), Great Yorkshire Stakes, North Derby, an Ascot Triennial, etc., beaten a neck in Select Stakes, and twice unplaced.

Started seven times at four years, winning the Atlantic Stakes (by three lengths from Breakspear, etc.), March Stakes (by four lengths), and Bridgeman Stakes, carrying top-weight in each race, second to Birlingham at even weights in an Ascot Triennial, and to Sun Yat (received 3 lbs.), in New Biennial, savaged by another horse in Epsom Plate, and broke down in The Whip.

Value of stakes won about $60,000.

Light Brigade retired to the stud in 1915.

Leonard Davis Guilty on Booking Charge.

MINEOLA, L. I., Nov. 15.—Leonard Davis of 258 West Forty-sixth street, Manhattan, was found guilty of bookmaking today before a jury in the Nassau Couuty Court Judge J. P. Neimann presiding. Davis was fined $500, or three months in the county jail. He paid the fine.

Nassovian, the highest priced yearling of 1914, he having cost Mr. John Sanford 3,400 guineas at Doncaster from among the Sledmere batch, will not run again in this country, as he is shortly due to leave for his owner's place in America. His only success was in the Princess of Wales' Stakes, worth 3,604 sovs., at Newmarket in July last. Bred by the late Sir Tatton Sykes, and foaled on February 10th, 1913, Nassovian is a good-looking bay colt by William the Third out of Veneration II. (dam, among others, of the brilliant and most unfortunate Craganour) by Laveno (brother to Orvieto and sire of Valens) from Admiration (dam of that marvelous mare Pretty Polly). Although Nassovian had proved rather a disappointing colt, Mr. Sanford paid 4,000 guineas for his half-brother by Spearmint at the Newmarket sales last month, and I may add there is now at Sledmere an exceptionally promising filly-foal out of Veneration II. by another classic winner, Tracery.—[London Horse & Hound.

WESTCHESTER RACING ASSOCIATION'S STAKE ENTRIES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—If A. K. Macomber does not win one or all of the three feature handicaps to be run at Belmont Park next year, it will not be because he has been in any way backward with his nominations.

In the Metropolitan, Suburban and Toboggan Handicaps, the entries for which closed the fifteenth, Mr. Macomber has nominated more than twice as many horses as Harry Payne Whitney, the next most liberal nominator, and several times as many as any other one turfman.

For the Metropolitan Mr. Macomber has entered seventeen of his very best performers. For the Suburban he has named fifteen, and for the Toboggan, the sprint handicap, he has named eighteen from his extensive string.

With the one exception of the Amateur Cup, a high-weight selling affair for gentlemen riders, every stake closed by the Westchester Racing Association for Belmont Park, shows a big increase in the number of horses entered.

The Metropolitan Handicap has 85 entries against 57 in 1916, while the Suburban has 83 against 53 in 1916 and the Toboggan has 94 against 53. The stakes for two-year-olds, now yearlings, have even larger numbers entered. The Juvenile has 124 entries against 82 last year; the Keene Memorial, 117 against 86; the Fashion, 97 against 64, and the Bouquet, 63 against 58.

There were 50 entries against 30 of last year for the Ladies' Handicap for mares, while the Harlem has 50 against 22 and the Hollis, another selling stakes, has 46 against 35.

The entries of yearlings for the Belmont and Withers for three-year-olds to be run in 1918, also show an increase, there having been 132 yearlings entered in the Belmont and 152 in the Withers, as against 95 and 116, respectively, for last year.

There were 88 two-year-olds nominated for the Lawrence Realization, to be run in 1917; 145 yearlings for the Realization of 1918 and 224 weanlings for the Realization of 1919.

MAHER'S RIDE ON BANASTAR.

EDITOR THOROUGHBRED RECORD.

Doubtless not since the hour when the black mare Imp won the Suburban Handicap, has there appeared a turf article showing a charitable disposition towards vindicating the late jockey, Danny Maher, for his riding of Banastar in the above race. Nor of several published notices I have read since his death, not one cleared the atmosphere of unjust suspicion that arose over Maher that day, and it appears to me the time has arrived for belated true facts as they happened, which should be open to the light of those who don't know.

Being a spectator of the race, I had a clear view of the breakaway, and Banastar broke last, with his roguish ears laying nearly on his neck. This, coupled with his short propping strides, caused Maher to resort instantly to the whip—a necessary demand.

Thus, the whole trouble brewed in the erratic and sullen temper of Banastar. And Maher's reward for doing the proper thing at the right time resulted in his forced retirement from filling his contract, and driving away a first-class jockey from his native land to the British Isles.

Temper of the horse, his rider, and owner played their parts unthinkingly well for Maher, which proved a blessing in disguise, and little did the unfortunate jockey realize, that when he left his native shore, what a brilliant future awaited him in a great fortune and social position to ride into in his adopted country. There to be honored and mourned in death, whilst asleep in his earthly tomb.

JAMES H. MCCREERY.

HORSES FALL AT HEAD OF STRETCH.

BOWIE, MD., November 20.—Five horses fell at the head of the stretch in the second race at the Bowie track this afternoon, and one broke down so badly that he had to be killed. Jockey B. Koppelman, who had the mount on Short Ballot in this event, was the only jockey hurt. He sustained injuries to one of his legs that will keep him on the ground for several days. Ancon, owned by Archie Zimmer, had to be destroyed. Venetia, owned by Peter Sheridan, was winner of the Bonaventure Purse, at a mile, the best race on the card. She followed the pace to the stretch turn, where she came through on the outside and beat Indian Chant a length. The latter was second and Polroma third.

Maryland, which in recent years has become the happy hunting ground of the pari-mutuel race track betting machine, is to have two new mile tracks soon. This will make six—quite a fair allotment for a state no bigger than Maryland.

Baltimore County is to be the location of one new track, and the particular spot favored is near Chase Station, on the Pennsylvania Railroad. It is figured that such a location would be favorable enough to draw attendance from Philadelphia, as does the Havre de Grace track, to which special trains are run from the Quaker City during the continuance of each meet.

If the new tracks are built the Racing Commission will be asked to give the new interests as many days racing as Pimlico, which is now the only mile tracks in Baltimore County.

This second track is said to be backed by Oscar Lewisohn. He is willing to put up $10,000 to start the thing going.

LOCAL NOTES.

John E. Madden was interviewed at Madison Square Garden, New York, in regard to the stake system. He had the following to say:

"The stake system increases the value of the horse. What would the thoroughbred or the trotter be worth with his earning capacity impaired by the omission of stake races and futurities? So long have stake races been in vogue that to dispense with them would reduce the standard of racing as a 'sport of kings' and bury the good horse in obscurity. Every horse's chances in the stake races are discussed weeks before the event. For the Coney Island Futurity a dozen winners are picked as early as June.

"With stake races and future events done away with, high-class racing would soon become a thing of the past, for how many persons go to the races these days for the sole purpose of gambling?

"Look what stake races, and especially breeders' futurities have done for the trotter. Young horses, ever so fast, without engagements, are almost unsaleable.

"The first question the famous Fred Archer asked on being introduced to a well-known trotting horseman was, 'What are the fixed events among the trotters?'

"A horse entered in stakes keeps many a man from getting the blues. He winters on expectations. Who ever heard of a man with a lottery ticket in his pocket committing suicide?

"In banishing stake races, the horse is deprived of his laurels and turf history of its landmarks."

John H. Morris, Bosque Bonita Farm, has purchased of the Quincy Stable the chestnut stallion Andrew, foaled in 1911, by Disguise, out of Half Crown (dam of Last Coin), by Cyllene, sire of four winners of the Epsom Derby. The deal was made by the Powers-Hunter Company.

Andrew was a good race horse, having won five races in 1915, four in succession. At Havre de Grace he won at five furlongs in 1:00, at five and one-half furlongs in 1:06 and 1:06 2-5. At six furlongs at Pimlico, and at Belmont won at six furlongs in 1:11 2-5.

As Andrew is a grand looker, with plenty of bone and size, from very high-class families on both sire and dam's side, he should do well in the stud.

Mr. Emil Herz, owner of Short Grass, has definitely decided to send his great horse to Kentucky to make the season of 1917, and negotiations are now underway to have him located at a farm in close proximity to Lexington.

Short Grass was bred in Ireland, where he won numerous races. He also raced in England, where he acquitted himself creditably, winning among other races the London Cup Handicap, 1¼ miles, at Alexandra Park, with 116 lbs., conceding weight to all of the eleven starters except Blue Stone.

Since coming to the United States, Short Grass has demonstrated again and again what a really high-class horse he is. He won at Churchill Downs, Louisville, and at Latonia in 1914, and out of seventeen starts at seven in 1915, he was out of the money only four times. But it remained for 1916 to really put the seal of greatness on his racing career. He has won this year the Equity Handicap, the Queens County Handicap, at one mile, in 1:36 2-5, by three lengths, with such horses as Roamer, Gainer and Borrow behind him; Brookdale Handicap, 1¼ miles, in 1:52, the mile in 1:38; Empire City Handicap, Dixie Handicap, 1¼ miles, in 2:03 4-5, establishing a new track record, and that the pace was a hot one is evidenced by the mile in 1:38 1-5. His final appearance on the turf was at Pimlico on November 10, when he won the Bowie Handicap, 1½ miles, with 128 pounds, in 2:37 3-5, from a field of good horses.

Short Grass, in addition to being bred along approved lines, is a horse of splendid conformation and individuality. His sire, Laveno, won the Jockey Club Stakes, and is the sire of many high-class winners, while his dam, Outburst, a winner and dam of winners, is by Enthusiast, winner of the Two Thousand Guineas and sire of the great horse Eager.

Among the many high-class imported horses that will stand in Kentucky in 1917, none has better credentials for success than Short Grass.

If you have a horse or mare for sale, read the want ads. in this week's RECORD.

E. R. Bradley's racing stable of twenty horses, in charge of Trainer Cliff Hammon, is to leave Idle Hour Farm for winter training quarters at Charleston, S. C., on Monday, December 4. A dozen men and boys, including Jockeys Paul Lowder and Chris Kirschbaum, will accompany the horses. Jockey J. Brown will not go with the stable. He is to go to New Orleans to ride for his father, Frank Brown, who made arrangements with Mr. Bradley for his son's services during the Crescent City meeting. In the spring he is to again join the Bradley stable.

The oldest horse in the string is the English colt, Desmond Day, by Desmond—Palmy Days. He is four and hasn't started in this country. The star of the string in all probability is the two-year-old Frigerio, winner of seven races, for which Bradley paid the Baker Brothers $12,000. Unless he goes amiss, he will probably carry the quite familiar green and white in the Kentucky Derby next May. Blind Baggage, Black Coffee and Bribed Voter are the other three-year-olds in the string. Bribed Voter has never been to the post and only recently was named. He is by Ballot—Marie Frances, the dam of Money Maker. Believe Me Boys and Breathing Spell, the latter bred in England, by Dark Ronald—Romagne, will be taken along. The coming two-year-olds in the stable number thirteen, which is attestation that their master is not superstitious. They are:

Bay colt by Helmet—Ella Smith (dam of Brig, Brig's Brother, Brig's Sister and Bigtodo).

Brown colt by Helmet—Miss Caldwell.

Brown filly by Helmet—El Salado (dam of Jack Atkin).

Bay filly by Helmet—Bandello (dam of Bac and Busy Joe).

Chestnut colt by Cunard—Winning Widow.

Bay colt by Cunard—Arthesia (dam of Moller).

Bay filly by Cunard—Melton Mowbray (dam of Clubs).

Chestnut filly by Abe Frank—Negligee (daughter of Dishabille).

Bay colt by Sweep—Whisk Broom.

Black filly by Mauvezix—Macaroon (dam of Butterscotch II.).

Bay colt by Radium—Badura.

Bay colt by Mushroom—Lady Colonist.

Black filly by Macdonald II.—Sunstroke.

The four last-named are English and are well liked by their owner and trainer. Among the home-bred colts and fillies several are highly promising, and the prospects are that this string will be in the first flight of winning establishments next year. At any rate, the friends of the owner are hopeful that it will, for he has been a liberal patron of the turf, and annually puts more into his breeding establishment than it yields him.

O. A. Bianchi has purchased of R. J. Austin the bay mare Gypsy Blair, 3, by Cyclades—Moonshine, by Peep O'Day. She will be bred to Jim Gaffney.

* * *

F. E. Driver has sold to W. Perkins the four-year-old bay gelding, Jim Winn, by Handsel—Mattie Haley, by Conrad.

* * *

Swoon and Courtship II. have been retired for the winter to Walter S. Payne's Mapleton Farm.

J. Marrone's Caraquet has been turned out at John S. Barbee's Glen-Helen Farm.

In speaking of stake races from the standpoint of a man chiefly interested in the sales end of the thoroughbred, W. L. Powers, of the Powers-Hunter Co., cited an instance:

"Dodge was sold to Mr. Macomber at auction at Saratoga for $17,500," said Mr. Powers. "It's a certainty that had he had a stake engagement at Pimlico or for any one of the fall meetings, for that matter, in a $10,000 stake, he would have brought $25,000 instead of $17,500. The same is the case with any other thoroughbred that may be offered for sale. If he is a horse worth while, and his stake engagements are such as are worthy of a good horse, he is certain to bring a far larger price than if, even though a good thoroughbred, he had no future stake engagements."

* * *

Skiles Knob, the four-year-old son of Hurst Park—Felicity Murrat, started thirty-nine times this year up to November 1, winning eight races, second five times and third ten times, amounting to $5,282. Skiles Knob is erroneously credited to Marta Santa in the "Twenty List."

Next Friday, Dec. 1st, the Annual Fall Sale of thoroughbred stallions, mares, weanlings, and horses in training will be conducted by The Kentucky Sales Co., at Tattersalls, Lexington. The catalog, which has just come from the press, shows about 110 head and a supplement is now being prepared, which will make the total number to be sold about 125. While the number has been exceeded in fall sales, it has been quite a while since so many really well bred ones have faced the auctioneer in one of these breeders' sale. The first horse to be offered is the good son of Commando, Transvaal, a stake winner himself and a horse that has attained greater success in the stud than any other son of his illustrious sire. Other stallions to be offered are Stalwart and Duke of Ormonde from Mr. G. D. Wilson's Iroquois Stud, the former a sire of established merit and the latter one that is sending his first foals to the turf now and these foals are demonstrating that he is beyond the guessing point. Jack Atkin, sire of numerous good winners, is another noted one that will find a new home, as will also Box and several younger, well bred horses that have not yet sent any representatives to the track.

There are any number of high-class mares, with foal by fashionable stallions to be offered, and a notable offering among the weanlings is the entire crop of the get of Sir John Johnson, among them brothers and sisters to many good performers. The yearling division includes about fifteen head of untried ones. They are the get of popular and successful sires and any owner who has not provided material for the two-year-old divison for next season will do well to be on hand for these.

Catalogs of the sale will be mailed to any address upon application to The Kentucky Sales Co., at Lexington. The sale will begin promptly at two o'clock in the afternoon and all will be sold on the one day, Friday, Dec. 1st.

* * *

We desire to call attention to the announcement in this issue that The Forest, bay horse, foaled 1911, a high-class winner in England, will be sold at Newmarket on Monday, December 4. The Forest was bred in the United States (being by the Futurity winner Ormondale out of Futurita, by the Futurity winner His Highness, out of the Futurity winner Butterflies), but did all his racing in England, where he demonstrated himself to be a really high-class horse, winning among other races the Tattersall Sales Stakes, Ruguley Plate, 1½ miles, by three lengths; St. Albans Handicap, Royal Handicap, Royal Borough Handicap, 1½ miles, etc.

LEXINGTON, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1916.

PIMLICO'S COURSE DETRIMENTAL TO RACING.

The recent announcement by the Maryland Jockey Club that its future policy would be antagonistic to the early closing stake system which prevails in every country where the breeding and racing of thoroughbreds is an institution and their assumption that they are serving the best interests of the sport by their policy has not met with the approval of those in high places in racing in the United States.

Mr. August Belmont, the chairman of the Jockey Club, which licenses the meetings at Pimlico and other courses in Maryland, had the following to say in connection with the reactionary pamphlet which was recently distributed by the Maryland Jockey Club.

"If the Pimlico management is right," said the head of the governing body of the turf in this country, "then England, France, Germany, Russia, Spain, Italy, Austria, The Argentine, and the United States are wrong and the development of the turf for the last 150 years has been along false lines. The splendid elimination tests such as the Derby, St. Leger, Grand Prix and our own Futurity, which were made so great that no breeder or owner could afford to neglect them and which created a prestige and an earning power, at the same time made the development of the thoroughbred to his present state of perfection possible. You can't raise the quality of the thoroughbred to a high pitch without making the object of selection thoroughly worth while.

"The earning capacity of a horse is therefore fundamentally important, not because it is a mercenary feature, but for the reason that it conveys conspicuous merit. Earning capacity establishes a standard of value for sire as well as dam. It affects their produce, and makes possible the maintenance of breeding studs at a rate of expense which commonplace values would not warrant.

"The Pimlico management plumes itself on what it will do for the poor owner. The poor owner is better served by the stake system, because future closing events remove from competition in overnight contests the better class of horses, whereas with nothing but these races on the programme they would encounter the strongest kind of opposition at all times. All foreign countries have races for every class of horse, stakes as well as overnight events. This gives all owners a chance and in my opinion such a system is right, while that of Pimlico is emphatically wrong.

"So far as any material benefit which might come to the owner of moderate means through the possession of a good horse is concerned," resumed Mr. Belmont, "if the poor owner has a horse of great earning capacity the market value of such an animal is greatly enhanced by the stake system. It would be idle to claim that the same state of affairs would prevail under the overnight method where no extraordinary earning capacity could exist because of the fact that such an animal's future would be largely in the hands of the handicapper. No owner or breeder would feel justified in making the same outlay under such conditions as he would with his candidates eligible for great stake engagements where the horse's previous earnings would determine the weight he should carry.

"No horse can establish a great reputation by winning moderate races. The public outside of those who see in racing nothing but a vehicle for betting has its attention focused on great winners. Its interest in the turf comes through the tests between the winners of the classics—horses which have established their renown by achievements which lift them out of the ordinary and make them worthy of reproduction. Every man familiar with racing in this country knows that when a horse is beaten not twenty per cent. of the public takes into consideration the conditions under which the contest was decided. They know little of the weight carried—one horse has won and the others have lost. Thus a good horse is frequently lost sight of.

"Under this so-called overnight system," resumed Mr. Belmont, "the good horse would be under a constantly increasing difficulty because of the additional burden he would have to bear for winning. I know of nothing that will make a horse turn rogue or cur more quickly than repeated gruellings where there is only a remote chance of victory. The stake system insures an adequate return for a horse of superlative merit without unduly taxing his capabilities. The horse that might have been great under conditions that have prevailed would otherwise pass into oblivion and his qualities be lost to posterity.

"Pimlico had an opportunity to build up a strong stake system and its leaders promised the turf authorities, which they are now so ready to criticise, sometime ago that they would do so. Now, however, that racing has a chance to return to what it ought to be they not only fail to avail themselves of the chance to be helpful but pursue a course which is detrimental to the best interests of racing. They have become a mere money making organization and their claim that their method is better for the future of the sport is specious hypocrisy."

SIR JOHN JOHNSON.

Mr. Frank J. Nolan's bay horse Sir John Johnson will stand in Kentucky the coming season for public service. A picture of Sir John appears on the last page of this issue. That Mr. Nolan's horse was possessed of more than ordinary racing ability, a glance at his performances will convince the most skeptical. His pedigree, too, is replete with the best strains to be found in the English Stud Book.

Sir John Johnson was a most consistent winner for eight season. He won twice at two, once at three, when he won the Huron Stakes, 1 3-16 miles, in 1:58 3-5. He won in 1909 nine races, including the Sheepshead Bay Stakes, a mile, in 1:39 1-5; the Merchants' and Citizens' Handicap, 1 3-16 miles, in 1:58 and seven furlongs in 1:24 4-5. In 1910, he won six races, including the Delaware Handicap, a mile, in 1:40, and miles in 1:38 and 1:39. In 1911, he won seven races, including six furlongs in 1:13, 1:13 2-5 and 1:13 4-5, and the Earl Grey Cup, at Montreal, 1¼ miles, in 2:06 3-5. In 1912, he won twice at six furlongs and at a mile. In 1913, he won four races, including the Monticello Hotel Handicap, and in 1914 he continued his victorious career, as he was again returned a winner.

Sir John Johnson's speed is undeniable, and he has shown his ability to stay by his two victories in the Saratoga Merchants' and Citizens' Handicap and the Earl Grey Cup at Montreal. Speed and the ability to stay are the essentials in the make-up of the modern racehorse, and both of these requisites are possessed by this famous horse to a marked degree.

So much for a brief summary of the performances of Sir John Johnson. Let us now turn to the blood lines of this tried and true campaigner, which is by the imported horse Isidor, from La Tosca II., by another importation, Laureate. Isidor was a stake and frequent winner and is the sire of Corinth, Roy Jr., Hoffman, Montagnie, Sir John Johnson, Adriuche, Brumley, May Dora, Song of Valley, etc., etc. He is a son of Amphion, a mighty runner in his day and a great sire. Amphion traces through Rosebery and Speculum to Vedette, the sire of Galopin, and is out of Suicide, a daughter of that equine celebrity Hermit. Isis, the dam of Isidor, is by the Derby winner Bend Or, from Shotover, one of the five mares successful in the greatest of England's classic races. This is the best branch of the No. 13 family, from which descended Orlando, Beadsman, Shotover, Mendicant, Ellis, Galliard, Highflyer, Salvator (by Dollar), etc.. etc.

On the dam's side, Sir John Johnson is equally well bred. His dam, La Tosca II., is by the Rosicrucian horse Laureate, a half-brother to Petrarch, a great broodmare sire and winner of the Two Thousand Guineas, St. Leger and Ascot Gold Cup. Laureate himself was first home in the Craven Stakes at Newmarket, the Singleton Stakes at Goodwood and a Biennial at Stockbridge.

The second dam of Sir John Johnson is that celebrated racemare La Tosca, which as a three-year-old won sixteen races out of twenty-one starts and was then retired to the stud to produce such sterling campaigners as Chuctanunda, Caughnawaga, Mohawk II., etc. La Tosca was a daughter of Mr. Belmont's Epsom Derby winner, St. Blaise, from imp. Toucques, by The Baron. This is the famous Industry branch of the No. 2 family, from which so many of our famous horses of the past and present descend.

There is every reason to predict Sir John Johnson's immediate success as a stallion. The breeding, the individuality, and, more than all, the genuine racehorse ability are there to see him through, and in all confidence a highly successful stud career seemed assured for the son of Isidor and La Tosca II.

The Sir John Johnson yearlings brought good prices at public auction at Saratoga in August, one bringing $3,200, another $3,000, while two others brought $2,000 and $1,300 respectively. These yearlings have made very sensational trials since their sale.

See announcement on last page for full particulars.

CANADIAN RACING IN 1916.

It is interesting to note that, considered as a racing field, Canada increased its return of money to owners from a total of $688,652 in 1915 to $906,245 in 1916. In the major part this quite considerable gain was accounted for by the advent in Canadian racing of Kenilworth Park, Devonshire Park and Kempton Park. Collectively these three new tracks contributed $159,000. But aside from this every track in Canada, except King Edward and Maisonneuve, showed an increase over 1915. Considering the stress of war this is eloquent testimony to the vitality and progressiveness of the Canadian turf. Since 1911 the money returned to owners from the various racing associations of our northern neighbor shows the great increase of $403,920. By reason of the establishment of new stake races, to be run for the first time in 1917, it is to be expected that the Canadian returns for next year will not be far from the million-dollar mark. In this there is substantial reason for the enlargement of the zest with which owners on this side of the line help in the way of sending good horses over as additional attractions in Canadian racing.

It was a great thing for the Canadian racing organizations when mutuels were substituted for bookmaking. The coming of the machines meant immediate prosperity. It is due to the profits derived from the mutels that it was possible to increase stakes and purses and still show goodly sums available for dividends and improvements in track equipments. All the most important tracks in the Dominion are now using the mutuels exclusively and the smaller ones are preparing to follow suit.

The racing of the year was of high grade, with many good horses participating. Such equine celebrities as Borrow, Boots, Runes, Rancher, Top o' th' Morning, Thornhill, All Smiles, Manokin, Mandarin, A. N. Akin, Arriet, Faux-Col, Langden, Gala Water, Moss Fox, Squeeler, Water Lady, The Masquerader, Monocacy and others, some exponents of brilliant speed in sprinting and others sturdy stayers up to a cup route, served to give pleasure to thousands of applauding admirers of the gallant thoroughbred. Boots appeared in racing over the border only once, but those who enjoyed the privilege of seeing him defeat Rancher and Borrow in the Dominion Handicap at Fort Erie and reduce the Canadian record for a mile and a quarter to 2:02 4-5 knew they had viewed a truly high-class racer in action. Another racing episode of moment was the success of Mr. J. E. Seagram in capturing the King's Plate at Toronto after an interval of many years since the same prize of the turf had fallen to his share as an owner. Coincident with this was his return to the leadership among Canadian owners.

Joseph E. Seagram once again figures as the leading Canadian owner, his stable meeting with a greater measure of success than in any year since the days when the Seagram horses swept everything before them. His stable winnings this year reach the gratifying total of $24,475. Of the many owners, sharing in the rich returns of Canadian racing, the following won $9,000 or more:

Owner.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Amt.
J. E. Seagram	13	18	14	$24,475
H. G. Bedwell	46	29	34	23,200

C. A. Davies	26	25	31	9,815
E. Trotter	12	8	3	9,805

The four-year-old colt Runes was the leader of the money-winning horses, his victories in the rich Toronto Cup and other stakes netting his owner, the Mirasol Stable, the goodly sum of $8,810. Not far behind was the fast colt, All Smiles, with $8,535 to his credit. Rancher, Thornhill, Achievement, Mandarin, Boots, Sun King, Borrow and Copper King all won over $5,000 and, of the extraordinary large number of winning horses, the following won $4,000 or more each:

Horse.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Amt.
Runes	4	2	3	$8,810
All Smiles	6	5	5	8,535

DISASTROUS FIRE AT BOWIE.

BOWIE, MD., Nov. 21.—Eight thoroughbred racehorses were burned to death and two of the largest stables on the Bowie racecourse were burned to the ground when a fire of mysterious origin started in Stable H. here this morning.

It was due only to a shifting of the wind that other stables, and possibly the main buildings of the course were saved from the spreading flames. Stables H and G were destroyed entirely, and it was due to the heroic and untiring efforts of grooms and stable boys that a large number of other horses were saved. The stables burned were situated near the end of the seven-furlong chute.

Stable H caught first and a brisk west wind carried the flames to Stable G. The stables burned with astonishing quickness. They were smoking piles of glowing embers at 12:45, when the first race trains pulled in from Washington and Baltimore. That the loss in horseflesh was not greater, was due to the spontaneous efforts of one hundred or more men and boys, who did all they could to save the imperiled racers. Half a dozen boys were badly scorched at this work. The loss in buildings and horses exceeds $30,000.

The horses lost were Running Shot, Chelsea, Father Riley, Corsican, Bootle's Baby, Yellowstone, Joyland and Ballygunge.

King Box, Rose Juliette and Bonanza were burned a bit, but the grooms succeeded in saving their lives.

Father Riley was out of his barn and safe, but he became frightened and ran back into the flames. The best of the horses killed were Corsican and Yellowstone, both owned by J. G. Wagnon. Corsican, a son of Golden Maxim and Personal, was bred by Henry T. Oxnard in Virginia. He had won at nearly every race track in the United States and Eastern Canada. Yellowstone, a son of Rockton and Onaga, was bred by John Sanford in New York State. He was a two-year-old and the winner of half a dozen races this season.

Yellowstone campaigned earlier in the year under the colors of Theodore Smith, of New York. George Odom trained the colt and lost him after a selling race at Laurel. These two horses were intended for winter racing.

Father Riley was owned by Richard E. Watkins. He won on the occasion of his last appearance under colors at Pimlico.

Such is the crowded condition of the Bowie stables this fall that Manager James F. O'Hara had to order half a dozen big tents to shelter the racers thrown out by the fire. New stalls will be constructed immediately. Mr. O'Hara has not been able yet to discover the cause of the fire, but he attributes it to the carelessness of some stable hands with matches or a burning cigarette. Today's was the second big fire at a racetrack hereabouts within the last fourteen months.

A dozen stables were consumed at Benning last fall, when a score or more horses and several grooms lost their lives in the conflagration.

A PLEA FOR THE OLD HORSE.

LEXINGTON, KY., Nov. 21, 1916.

EDITOR THOROUGHBRED RECORD:

With the coming of the fall catalog of our annual sale, a time which should advertise far and near our horses and our horsemen, I am again reminded of the ingratitude of man. Each fall the general class and effect of our sale at Lexington is reduced by the offering of old, and through age, worthless mares.

The fault is not with the Kentucky Sales Company. The fault is surely not with the old mares, or rather old horses, for often stallions are thus offered, which have given of themselves for their owners' benefit, until age renders them unproductive, when they are offered for sale to go, nine times out of ten, to bad homes, hunger, cold and work they were never fitted for in their palmiest days.

I do not believe the owners who sell such horses face squarely the fact. They pursue the same mental process offered in defense of throwing pups and kittens into the road—"perhaps somebody will pick them up." Age and extreme youth are rarely picked up. Pickings belong to the heyday of youth. It is not the act of a sentimentalist to protest and ask the owners of these aged mares, when they have won a right to death, to have them humanely destroyed. Do not give them to the negro nearest your right hand thumb, who, if he feeds them at all, must do it at your or your neighbor's expense. Do not send them to the sales ring to be sold for a few dollars, to be broken to a plow or killed in the effort to break him or her. If a thoroughbred horse's education must begin as a yearling to be effective, imagine the torture of these moonlight schools in their declining years. Practically you make nothing by it—you feed these old mares to make them look in foal, and you fool nobody—and your mare goes at the top price, twenty-five dollars, more probably five. Counting feed, leads, per cent. for sale, cataloging, is it worth while? You have materially hurt the horse market by reducing the average; you have robbed some work horse of its rightful home; you have in a small measure, injured the farmer, who has a right to the work horse market; you have helped to make the Blue Grass a joke to the tourist and those who come far to see the boasted horse sales. The work teams are pathetic.

But most of all you are adding terribly to the world's burden of pain. Age and its infirmities bring suffering at best. When old age robs these animals of commercial value, if gratitude does not make you pension them—as you should surely do if your financial condition allows—let them be put to death in a painless way by a veterinary surgeon. JAY DAINGERFIELD.

FORMAL PROTEST AGAINST A NEW RULE.

Joseph A. Murphy, manager of the racing department of the Business Men's Racing Association of New Orleans, La., has filed with the Jockey Club, the Kentucky State Racing Commission and the Canadian Racing Associations, a protest against the rule barring from races under their jurisdiction two-year-olds that race before April 1. His letter of protest reads as follows:

The Business Men's Racing Association of New Orleans, La., herein files a protest against the rule barring two-year-olds from tracks under your jurisdiction, during the year 1917, that are raced before April 1, and respectfully asks that the rule be amended by the substitution of any one of the subjoined features.

First—That the rule be suspended for the year 1917.

Second—That the prohibition be limited to races run before April 1, only on tracks within the geographic lines of jurisdiction claimed by the Jockey Club, the Kentucky State Racing Commisson or the Canadian Racing Associations.

Third—That the prohibition be limited only to stakes for such horses as may run in races before April 1.

In support of our protest I wish to submit the following reasons:

First—The Business Men's Racing Association is not within the geographic lines of jurisdiction claimed by any of the above associations and it believes, as it races under its own rules, that its position is sufficiently established in racing to entitle it to the courtesy of representation in legislation directly affecting its interests.

Second—That the rule is without merit. Close analysis of track and climatic conditions will show that horses trained at New Orleans are as fit to run three and three and a half furlongs in January and February, as those trained in Maryland and Kentucky are to run a half mile in April. That there is no more logical reason for barring horses that run three-eighths in January, than for barring yearlings that are tried out, under whip and spur, a quarter of a mile in October.

Third—That owing to adverse legislation and other causes, the breeders of the country have been sorely tried for the past few years and that it is unwise to curtail the earning capacity of the horses they breed. The crossing of high-class stock does not necessarily produce a stake winner and it costs as much to raise a selling plater as a champion. The effect of your rule will be to make what appear to be culls of a sale practically worthless.

Fourth—That the alleged injury to horses racing early is purely theoretical, with no concrete facts to bear it out, while the records will show that many champions have been developed in winter racing. Old Rosebud, the holder of the record in the Kentucky Derby, was a winter product. Westy Hogan and Harry Kelly were developed in New Orleans. I might name others.

In conclusion, I beg to submit that an amendment, simply barring from stakes during the year, horses that race before April 1, will be satisfactory to us and seems to meet all requirements.

Speaking of the protest, Mr. Murphy, who is presiding at Bowie, said:

"We shall give a two-year-old race every day except Wednesdays, when we will have no race of less than a mile. We are doing this at the request of a number of breeders and horsemen. If the rule we are protesting against, as at present drawn has merit, which personally I question, its sole aim must be to induce owners to lay away for late racing, what might seem to be stake prospects. The amendment asked for would be no sacrifice of principle on the part of the three associations. Abraham Lincoln once said that God must have loved the common people because he made so many of them, so in the same proportion he must love the common thoroughbred, to create as many as he does. Still, these horses have their place in the equine world, just as the middle classes have in the human race."

HORSEMEN PLAN NEW RACE TRACK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Plans for a racetrack to be owned and conducted by an association composed only of owners of horses are underway. Possibly more than one track may result. At any rate, a movement now is on foot to build a plant in Maryland, which may be in operation near Baltimore during the next season of racing.

"Why not a racing association in Maryland to be owned and operated by horsemen for horsemen and the patrons of the sport?" was the question put by Oscar Lewisohn in Baltimore a few days since.

The question of this enthusiastic young owner of thoroughbreds started some others to thinking that it might be a good thing, and then when they had talked it all over, a plan immediately was set on foot whereby such a track as proposed by Mr. Lewisohn may be in operation next season. He volunteered to start the subscription list with $10,000, and expressed a willingness to go even further if necessary.

His plans, so far as outlined to date, are about as follows:

First—None other than a horse owner will be allowed to purchase stock in the association.

Second—No man will be permitted to own enough stock to give him control.

Third—It is to be understood that the stock in the enterprise shall not pay to the stockholders more than ten per cent. per annum on their investment in the association. All revenues of the track, after running expenses and the ten per cent. dividend are taken care of, will go into purses for the horsemen. So far it has not even been proposed that a sinking fund to protect the stockholders against any depreciation in value of the plant be provided, but it is but natural to suppose that there will be something of the kind.

On the face of it, this would seem to be a proposition that would meet with favor and sufficient support from the horsemen to put it over with a rush. The scheme is not that of a dreamer, but the proposition comes from a business man who is able in every way to carry out his plans, so far as financing such an association may go.

"Just how the Jockey Club may look upon such an association remains to be seen," remarked one of those interested, "but it is natural to suppose that the plan will be looked upon with anything but favor by the other associations now couducting racing in Maryland. These gentlemen who have been receiving such enormous dividends from their holdings in the Havre de Grace, Laurel, Pimlico and Bowie plants probably will decry as revolutionary anything so akin to the eleemosynary in connection with the promotion of such a paying proposition as racing has proved in Maryland."

Despite any objection on the part of those already owning tracks in Maryland, it is difficult to conceive how anything could be done to block an association owned and run by horse owners. It also seems most reasonable to suppose that the Jockey Club would lend its sanction, if not much stronger support, and that spring and fall dates would be forthcoming.

The plans of Mr. Lewisohn and his associates go even further than to have a track run by horsemen in Maryland. They see great possibilities in it, and if it promises to meet with success, they contemplate building or buying a plant in this State to be run under the same conditions governing the Maryland association. It is most likely, however, that developments in the Maryland project will be awaited before anything is attempted so far as New York goes.

It would seem on the face of the proposition that enormous purses would be put up, such as to make those offered by other associations look insignificant, especially in Maryland, where the mutuel system of wagering is permitted. Such an undertaking would insure enough rich stakes to bring the best horses in the country to such a meeting, while the purses for the selling platers also would be of such size as to encourage the owners of the poorer ones and allow them to earn a living for him.

If the Horsemen's Association gets its work underway quickly enough, it may tend to stop the plans of a coterie of Baltimoreans who are now organizing a company to build a new track mid-distant between that city and the Havre de Grace course.

These gentlemen have been busy with organization plans for some weeks, but with another course owned by horsemen assured, they scarcely would consider that theirs would be a paying proposition when the chance of their being allotted satisfactory dates is taken into consideration.

FRANCIS J. PONS TO BE BURIED AT JACKSONVILLE.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Nov. 21.—The body of Francis J. Pons, prominent turfman and breeder of thoroughbred horses, will be buried in Jacksonville, Florida. Pons died yesterday from the effects of pneumonia. Mr. Pons was fifty-four years of age and a native of Florida. He received his early education in the public schools of Savannah, Ga. Meeting success in his first business venture in the lumber regions of Florida, he turned his attention to the breeding of thoroughbred horses. Early in manhood he was elected to the legislature and served two terms.

Mr. Pons' father was State Treasurer of Florida for years.

He moved to Nashville five years ago. He has done wonders in reviving thoroughbred breeding in this State. Attention from all over the country has been attracted to his nursery stud here.

Mr. Pons was at one time manager of the Jacksonville track when racing was at its zenith in that city and was also manager of the Charleston (S. C.) race track.

S. C. Hildreth and Thomas J. Healey have been weighing and measuring the two great two-year-olds which they have in their charge, Hourless and Campfire. Hourless, which stands just 15 hands and 2¾ inches high, is a quarter of an inch the taller of the two, while Campfire is a bit longer. Hourless weighs 1,018 pounds and girths 70 inches. Campfire weighs 1,054 pounds and girths 71 inches. Each trainer is very proud of his colt, and each is enthusiastic in his admiration of his stable champion's most dangerous rival. As Hourless is nearly black, he looks smaller in proportion to his actual measurements than does Campfire, which is a rich "hard" chestnut.

LET US TAN YOUR HIDE.

Cattle or Horse hide, Calf, Dog, Deer, or any kind of skin with hair or fur on. We tan and finish them right; make them into coats (men's and women), robes, rugs or gloves when ordered.

You can send it to us for less than to buy the tanning here. Our illustrated catalog gives a lot of information which every stock raiser should have but we'll send it this valuable book except upon request.

It tells how to take off and care for hides, how and when we pay the freight both ways; about our safe dealing process which is a tremendous advantage to the customer, especially on horse hides and calf skins; about the fur goods and game trophies we sell, taxidermy, etc. If you want a copy send us your correct address.

Jockey Loftus Up.

ENGLISH RACING STATISTICS OF 1916.

When, on Friday, November 3, Dark Opal won the last race of the Newmarket Houghton meeting, the English flat racing season of 1916 came to an end. Among the winning owners it left the Manchester newspaper publisher, E. Hulton, far in advance of his competitors, his fine New Derby and New Oaks winner, Fifinella, shinning brightly in the equine firmament, while his fleet two-year-olds, Margarethal and Knutsford, won valuable stake races, which helped materially to make him this year's leader on the British turf. Lord Derby won the One Thousand Guineas with Canyon and finished second to Mr. Hulton. The Duke of Portland, unexpectedly, carried off the most valuable prize of the year, when his colt Cannobie won the Jockey Club Stakes and, solely because of this, is in third place. The only American owner standing well in the winning list is John Sanford, whose Nassovian was one of the star three-year-olds of 1916. The owners credited with having won $10,000 or more, their number of races won and their stable earnings are here given, King George's lesser total leading in accordance with custom:

Owner.	Races Won.	Amount Won.
His Majesty the King	3	$ 3,687
E. Hulton	22	68,822
Lord Derby	14	45,680
Duke of Portland	4	40,030
Lord Falmouth	2	31,500
J. Buchanan	14	25,420
Lord D'Abernon	7	23,260
J. B. Joel	3	18,425
Sir W. Tatem	8	18,030
J. Sanford	1	18,020
Maj. R. E. Kidston	7	16,160
W. M. G. Singer	9	16,020
Mr. Fairie	4	15,405
W. Raphael	5	14,260
G. D. Smith	8	12,940
L. Neumann	4	12,365
Lord Rosebery	6	12,165
Lord Cameron	7	11,840

Cannobie's victory in the Jockey Club Stakes and two lesser victories sufficed to give him the leadership among the money-winning horses. Up to his success in the big race he was deemed moderate among the English three-year-olds, and even now the critics there seem loth to give him due credit. But he must be a pretty good colt. He beat Sanctum and later on Sanctum won the Cesarewitch Handicap easily. Second to him in money won was the Two Thousand Guineas winner Clarissimus, followed in order by the other three-year-olds, Canyon, Fifinella and Nassovian. In fact the young horses quite monopolized the situation in England this year, only one older than three years having won as much as $5,000. All the other winners of that amount or more, are three-year-olds and two-year-olds. Of the latter age North Star is the leading winner. According to report he has been bought by Mr. A. K. Macomber for $60,000 and his debut in American racing next year, will be awaited with eager interest. Among the three-year-olds Hurry On was quite the star of the year. This big colt won all of his races, with such ease, that competent judges are inclined to rank him with the greatest race horses of all time. If he remains sound he probably has a great career awaiting him. The horses which won $10,000 or more were the following:

Horse, Col., Sex, Age and Pedigree.	Races Won.	Amount Won.
Cannobie, br c, 3, by Polymelus—La Roche	3	$39,145
Clarissimus, ch c, 3, by Radium—Quintessence	2	31,500

For the third year in succession, Polymelus headed the English sire list, but it was not until Cannobie won the Jockey Club Stakes at the Newmarket First October meeting that his primacy became assured. His sons and daughters have now been in racing six years, and in that time have won a total of $410,085. The St. Simon horse, Chaucer, was second to Polymelus, and the young sire, Sunstar, third. The sires of progeny winning $12,500 or more, were these:

Sire.	Win'rs.	Races.	Won.
Polymelus, by Cyllene—Maid Marian	9	16	$80,155

Among the jockeys it was a close thing between Donoghue and Childs, but the former finally landed in front with a majority of three winning mounts, Childs leading in percentage decisively. Donoghue has now led England's jockey list for three consecutive years. Childs rode for E. Hulton and so had the guidance of the remarkable filly Fifinella, when she won the New Derby and the New Oaks. The records of the leading riders in the previously restricted racing of this year were:

Jockey.	Mounts.	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
S. Donoghue	262	43	219	.16
J. Childs	188	40	148	.21
V. Smyth	203	34	169	.15

J. H. Martin	194	15	179	.7

R. C. Dawson, of Whatcombe, who trained Fifinella to win the New Derby and New Oaks, heads the list of winning trainers, for the past racing season, followed by W. Waugh, Hon. G. Lambton, A. Taylor, F. Darling, and H. S. Persse. The sums earned are, of course, nothing to be compared with pre-war times. Other trainers who may be said to have done well under the circumstances include J. Butters, P. P. Gilpin, R. W. Colling, R. Day, E. G. De Mestre, C. V. Tabor, J. Green, and S. Pickering, each of whom topped $15,000.

SCIENTIFIC BREEDING.

One of the most scientific breeders of thoroughbreds during the present century undoubtedly is Lord D'Abernon, who for many years past has made a careful study of the subject. Years ago I strongly advocated his mating Donnetta with the stallion, Littleton, on the ground that the mare was by Donovan, and that another Donovan mare in Theale had produced Throwaway (winner of the Gold Cup at Ascot) and Chuckaway (a Liverpool Cup winner) to Littleton's sire, Right Away. Lord D'Abernon, however, preferred to follow his own idea that Littleton was not of sufficiently good class, and after trying St. Frusquin with only mediocre results he eventually selected Orby as the most suitable mate for both Donnetta and her five-eighths sister, Renaissance. His judgment was completely vindicated, for to Orby, Donnetta threw Diadumenos (Liverpool Cup, Jubilee, and other good races) and Diadem, winner of the New "Coventry" and other high-class events, inclusive of the Moulton Stakes. Eos is the result of mating Renaissance with Orby, and how easily the filly won this year's Cambridgeshire is now a matter of history. She was undoubtedly the best class three-year-old in the race, even better than Julian, which was asked to give her 3 lbs. over and above the sex allowance, but in common with many good judges I was of opinion that the nine furlongs would prove beyond her measure, although she had previously won a good race over the Bunbury mile, with its uphill finish. In selecting Orby to be mated with Donnetta and Renaissance Lord D'Abernon has veritably achieved a triumph, Diadumenos and Diadem affording ample testimony to that effect in the case of Donnetta and Eos in regard to Renaissance. To my mind, the leading feature in the successful combination of Orby and Renaissance is that it brings in the meeting of Angelica and her own brother, St. Simon. This means returning to Eos' sire, Orby, the best strains in his sire, i. e., doubling the blood of Galopin and St. Angela, the sire and dam respectively of Angelica and her brother St. Simon. In the same way one gets a return of Stockwell blood and that of his brother, Rataplan, through Renaissance, to nick with the double strain of Doncaster in Orby, and there is no doubt that the doubling of either the St. Simon blend or the inbreeding to Stockwell may have had a good deal to do with the excellence of Eos. In view of the fact that Donnetta (dam of Diadem and Diadumenos) brought in only Galopin (sire of St. Simon) to meet Angelica, I am of opinion that it is the doubling of Galopin which has been the main factor in the successes achieved by Lord D'Abernon's three good winners.—[Vigilant in London Sportsman.

* * *

It is clear enough that Orby, though he did not head the list of winning stallions, was certainly the leading light at the finish of this flatrace season, and if Mr. Croker would send him to England the subscription list of the son of Orme and Rhoda B. would fill very rapidly indeed. Perhaps it will in Ireland, but in these days breeders do not like the sea risk for their mares and foals.

There has been considerable discussion as to the reason of the success which has attended the mating of Orby with Renaissance and Donnetta, and "Vigilant" in today's issue attributes it to the "nicking" of Angelica and St. Simon, or, in the latter case, Angelica and Galopin, together with the doubling of Doncaster in Orby to meet Rataplan and Stockwell. This, no doubt, is quite right, so far as it goes; but, to my mind, there is a much more potent factor in the success which has been undoubtedly achieved, and that is supplied by the two free lines of Glencoe which come in through Hanover. I can truly say that some such success was adumbrated in my mind when in 1887, after seeing Hanover win three of his races, I did my best to arrange a purchase of him for England. Pocahontas had proved then, and has continued to prove ever since, the enormous value of Glencoe blood, but the continuous inbreeding to Pocahontas must needs have created conditions under which the British thoroughbred is starving for lack of another Glencoe line, and that is just what Hanover supplies twice over, through Glencoe's best son, Vandal, Hanover being a direct descendant of that horse and taking in another line of the the same blood through his dam. Moreover, Hanover's dam was by Bonnie Scotland, a son of Queen Mary, which was never at the stud in England, and here, too, there is a free strain in close relationship to much that is inbred in this country.—[W. Allison in London Sportsman.

A TRIBUTE TO THE LATE "DANNY" MAHER.

Every racing man in England, whether he be owner, trainer, jockey, or merely a spectator, will be grieved to receive the news of the death of "Danny" Maher at the all too early age of thirty-five. It is true that the bad news was not at all unexpected, but one had hoped, almost against hope, that the dread malady from which he suffered would be successfully combated and overcome. It was not to be, however, and so one of the most accomplished, most popular, and most gentlemanly jockeys in the long history of English racing has passed away.

Maher, it is hardly necessary to remark, was one of a considerable number of American riders who were induced to come over here, as well as to France and other European countries, in consequence of the phenomenal success of an earlier exponent of the Transatlantic style of riding in "Tod" Sloan. The Reiffs and J. H. Martin (who is now the sole survivor of the American invasion, and is riding better than ever) were others, but it fell to the lot of few of them to accomplish so immediate a success as did the subject of these notes. Maher's arrival was preceded by eulogistic notices regarding his ability as a jockey and general level-headedness, and right well did he fulfill all the prophecies of which he was the subject.

Many of his fellow-countrymen yielded to the temptations held out to them by well-meaning but misguided admirers, and so by degrees their numbers became reduced. "Danny," however, never for a moment lost his head during what can only be adequately described as a brilliant career, and even during the heyday of his triumphs still remained the same gentlemanly, modest, little man. No wonder, then, he was so universally beloved and admired, and that his compulsory retirement from the profession he had so greatly adorned created the keenest regret.

The story of Maher's career is fully related elsewhere in this issue, and there is no necessity, therefore, to cover the same grounds in these notes. Suffice it, then, to state briefly that he won three Derbys—on Cicero, Rock Sand and Spearmint—and at some time or another won all the other classic races and almost every important weight-for-age event and handicap on the British turf. From conversations I had with him from time to time I gathered that he entertained a greater affection for Rock Sand than any other horse he had ever ridden, and I think, perhaps, that he also believed that the son of Sainfoin was the best with which he had ever been associated.

Arriving in England in September, 1900, Maher promptly carried off the first two races in which he had mounts. The meeting was Manchester and the horses Paiute and Bad News, both owned by Mr. R. McCreery and trained by George Blackwell. From that year onwards until the 1913 season he rode over 1,400 winners, and headed the list on two occasions Moreover, he maintained a remarkable average, and if this never approached the figures set up by Fred Archer during that famous horseman's great years, it is equally true that no other jockey did so. It is useless to attempt any comparison between Archer and Maher, as they belonged to totally different eras and schools. Suffice it to say, then, that both were splendid exponents of their respective styles of race-riding, and that Maher was quicker than any other American or English jockey to perceive that there were advantages in both and thereby profit as a result of combining all that was best in the two methods.

The deceased jockey rode at one period or another for all the leading sportsmen in the country, and on one occasion had the honor to carry the late King Edward's colors to victory, an occasion which was marked by a gracious presentation by His Majesty, and which was ever counted amongst Maher's most treasured recollections. Undoubtedly, however, his staunchest patron—and, it may be added, friend—was Lord Rosebery, whose kindness to his jockey ever since the disease to which he has just succumbed caused him to relinquish riding has been so greatly sustaining and comforting. Sir Abe Bailey, too, was very good to "Danny," who, along with Mrs. Maher, resided for two winters at that gentleman's magnificent Rhodesian estate.

Returning from South Africa, Maher was thought to have improved sufficiently in health to resume riding, and he actually had a mount on Sun Yat at Newmarket at one of the autumn meetings last year. If good wishes could have brought success, Sun Yat would have won by many lengths, but the horse was not good enough. It must have been, all the same, many years since so wonderful a demonstration of popular sympathy was accorded any jockey as was forthcoming on that occasion, the cheering being unanimous and lusty as "Danny" rode his horse past the stands to the starting-post. A few years ago Maher became a naturalized Englishman, and never was there a more acceptable voluntary recruit to the nation's citizenship. I, who knew him well, had hoped that he would live to a good old age and became as famous a trainer as he was a jockey, but fate has willed it otherwise. It only remains to be added, then, that Daniel Maher never made an enemy, and that his memory will always remain amongst the brightest and best in turf history—[Augur in London Sporting Life.

F. Archer's Record.

As Maher was considered by not a few to have been the greatest rider since the great Fred Archer, the record of the latter may prove interesting:—

SUCCESSFUL SIRES.

Among the successful stallions of this week Orby takes precedence, and it rarely happens to have two such daughters as Eos and Diadem winning big races on the same day. I have very many times written that whatever else we may say about American blood, Hanover was exempt, by sheer merit, from criticism, and I make no doubt through his daughter, Rhoda B., he contributed largely to the merits of Orby, both as a race horse and a stallion. In this connection it should be noted that Diadumenos, own brother to Diadem and nearly brother-in-blood to Eos, has been retired to the stud, and will stand at the very moderate fee of eighteen guineas next season. He is certainly the best son of Orby, for though others have been brilliant over short courses, Diadumenos could stay quite well, as he demonstrated when he won the Jubilee Handicap and the Liverpool Cup. His dam, Donnetta, also won the Jubilee Handicap, and was very good indeed at any distance. The family is No. 2, and Donnetta is by Donovan, which was also the sire of Radium's dam. Diadumenos will stand at Terrace House Stud, Newmarket, and in his first season he will be limited to twenty mares, including those of his owner. He will, no doubt, very quickly have a full list.

Bayardo and Spearmint figure as the sires of the winners of the Criterion and Dewhurst Plate respectively, and in each case Mr. Fairie was the lucky owner. No man has better-bred mares than Mr. Fairie, and he bred Gay Crusader from a descendant of Sunshine through Galeottia, and Telephus from a descendant of Blink Bonny through Lady Muncaster. Mr. Farquharson, by the way, is the fortunate owner of a sister to Telephus, which he mated last year with Flotsam. She has a foal, I believe, but I have not heard what manner of foal it is.—[The Special Commissioner in London Sportsman.

476 THOROUGHBREDS IMPORTED IN 1916.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The figures in connection with the thoroughbred industry of the United States as revealed by The Jockey Club's records for the past five years, or during the period when racing was under restrictions which hampered it almost to the point of extinction, are interesting. The official records show that 1,553 certificates were issued for males and females of various ages exported during that time by W. H. Rowe, the official registrar of The Jockey Club.

"These certificates do not by any means furnish an accurate estimate of the number of thoroughbreds we lost," said Mr. Rowe a few days ago, "as many consignments to England, Germany, Australia, the Argentine and other South American points were sent without any other papers than the foal certificates, and we are now getting communications from these countries where some of the mares have produced something good and their breeding must be confirmed. I would say that quite as many animals went without our certificates of exportation as have them, so that 3,000 would not be too high a figure to place on the total shipments of thoroughbreds from this country from 1911 to 1915 inclusive.

"Our records, however," continued Mr. Rowe, "show that the tide has turned our way strongly, the importations during 1914 from abroad totalling 190 head, while the current year to date is responsible for 406, with 70 more on the Atlantic at the present time. This will bring us well up to the 700 mark, with another month to fill out the year. A number of the horses and mares which went abroad represented the best blood lines in our stud book, and many of them we could ill afford to lose, but we are getting in exchange representatives of families that have been most successful abroad, and they should leave their impress on the thoroughbred future of the United States."

The following table will show how thoroughly those countries which are fond of racing have assimilated our thoroughbreds:

HORRON IN THE STUD.

The attention of breeders is called to the announcement of the young stallion Horron in this issue. See same for full particulars.

NUMBER OF HORSES IN OUR RACING.

In the year 1905, 6,232 horses participated in the racing of the United States and Canada. That was and is the record in respect to number of thoroughbreds in racing in any one year in this country. From that point there was a decline, due to adverse legislation in various states, until in 1913 only a total of 3,451 racers were in action. However, with a difference of only twelve horses less, that was practically about the same as the total for 1912, and there was an upward tendency manifest last year when the total mounted up to 3,700. It is probable that when the time to compile the statistics of this year arrives, a further gain will be shown. That this is a satisfactory feature is beyond dispute. At the same time it is patent that we have a long way to travel before the diminution if our thoroughbred resources wrought since 1908 will be fully repaired. The number of horses raced over American tracks each year since and including 1900, is as follows:

Year.	Horses.	Year.	Horses.
1901	5,127	1909	4,890
1902	5,271	1910	4,180
1903	5,525	1911	4,038
1904	5,962	1912	3,553
1905	6,232	1913	3,541
1906	5,962	1914	3,632

DEATH CLAIMS LEWIS P. DOERHOFER.

Lewis P. Doerhofer, 36 years old, died at his country home, near Anchorage, Ky., Sunday night, of Brights' disease.

Up until a few years ago Mr. Doerhofer owned and raced a string of thoroughbreds. In his stable at various times were such good horses as Melisande, Mary Davis, Jimmie Gill, Tommie Thompson, Ursula Emma [illegible] Fillie's Nightmare. With Melisande he won the Clark Handicap at Churchill Downs in 1910.

[illegible]r. Doerhofer was born in Louisville. He was twice married, his first wife being Miss Gertrude Buckle before her marriage. After being divorced from her he married Miss Ursula Thompson, of Chicago, by whom [illegible] survived. He also leaves an uncle, Basil Doerhofer, and other relatives of Louisville.

In addition to his residence and farm Mr. Doerhoefer leaves about fifty pieces of real estate in Louisville, including many Main-street properties. An officer of the trust company thae handles his property estimated his fortune at close to $400,000.

News of his death came as a surprise to his many friends, as his illness was not generally known.

LOCAL NOTES.

William Hopson Laudeman, for several years supervisor of pari-mutuels on the Kentucky tracks and formerly one of the best known bookmakers on the thoroughbred turf, died at his home, 331 Walnut street, at 7:25 p. m. Wednesday. Death was due to uraemic poisoning, from which he suffered for about four months. Hope for recovery was practically abandoned several days ago. Mr. Laudeman was fifty-five years old.

He was familiarly known to the people of Lexington and to hundreds of friends throughout the country as "Hops" Laudeman.

He was the eldest son of D. D. and Elizabeth Montague Laudeman. His father is well remembered by the older residents of Lexington as a miller and grain merchant.

For several years he was in business with his father, but had a fondness for the turf and made the nucleus of his fortune thereon.

Mr. Laudeman owned and raced a number of good horses in his time. Back in 1891 he had Locohatchee (Curt Gunn); later on, Hernando (Latonia Derby winner), Goodrich (whose mile and a half record of 2:30¼, made at Washington Park in July, 1898, still stands), Elizabeth L., Harry New, etc.

The Hernando Building, which he bought a number of years ago, he named for the horse that had helped him to obtain it.

During the last several years he has been supervisor of pari-mutuels on the Kentucky tracks. He was an exceptionally apt mathematician, an expert calculator, and, above all, had the confidence and respect of the public as well as of the men of the turf. His name was a synonym for honesty.

Mr. Laudeman is survived by a widow, who was Miss Kate Maguire, sister of Mrs. G. D. Wilson, Mrs. Roger Wilson, Mrs. Lulie Ferguson and Dr. John D. Maguire, one daughter, Mrs. C. D. Calloway, a brother, Harry Laudeman, and a sister, Mrs. George B. Taylor, of Cincinnati.

His funeral service was held at his home Friday morning at 11 o'clock, the Rev. Mark Collis officiating. He was buried in the family lot in the Lexington Cemetery, the pall-bearers being Mayor James C. Rogers, Senator Thomas A. Combs, Sheriff Thomas C. Bradley, R. C. Barbee, J. H. Reed, J. C. McAllister, Thomas B. Cromwell, Dr. Joseph Bryan and Dyke Hazelrigg, Frankfort.

J. Temple Gwathmey has purchased of the Quincy Stable the chestnut stallion Trojan, foaled 1912, by Sir Wilfred—Bohemia, by Wagner, the Powers-Hunter Company making the sale.

Trojan (winner of the Futurity in 1914) is a grand individual in every respect and comes from the famous Maggie B. B. family. He will stand for service at the Canterbury Farm, Warrenton, Va.

Word comes from California of the death of W. R. Griffin at his home in Berkeley on Nov. 15. Mr. Griffin was prominently identified with racing a few years ago and was well known both in New York and throughout the middle West. He developed quite a few good horses in his time, among them Earl G. The adverse legislation of 1908 forced him to leave the turf and he engaged in the railroad business, being in the employ of the Southern Pacific Railroad at the time of his death.

John Miller, the well-known shipper, arrived from the East this week with John H. Morris' new purchase, Andrew, which was taken to Bosque Bonita Farm. Mr. Miller also brought along the Oneck Stable's chestnut horse Frizzle, 5, by Biniou—Frizette, which was sent to Hal Price Headley's Beaumont Farm.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Kentucky Association will be held Tuesday, December 5, at 11 a. m., in the office of Secretary G. D. Wilson. The meeting primarily is for the purpose of electing nine directors for the year 1917, but it is likely that a number of interesting subjects intended for the betterment of the association and the sport of racing will be discussed.

Following arguments on the part of attorneys, which lasted from eleven o'clock in the morning until 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, Judge Samuel B. Kirby Wednesday took under submission the suit for an injunction brought by the Douglas Park Jockey Club against the Kentucky State Racing Commission, in which the former sought to enjoin the turf governing body of this State from forcing it to give no purse of less value than $800 at either its spring or fall meeting. Judge Kirby will, in all probability, render his decision in the case within a week, and there is but little doubt that it will be taken to the Court of Appeals, regardless of the verdict of the lower court.

The eight horses belonging to Schwartz Brothers, which last week were turned over to J. W. May and shipped to the Kentucky Associatien course from New York, are temporarily in charge of M. J. Shannon, Trainer May being in Maryland. The only one of the string that has started is Sortie, the two-year-old chestnut colt by Watercress, out of Enterprise, and he is a winner. There are two other two-year-olds, Capt. Sowerby, chestnut colt, by King James–Calenda, and Mickross, brown gelding by Irish Lad—Stillwater. The five yearlings are: chestnut filly by Burgomaster—Wild Thistle (dam of Blue Thistle); chestnut filly by The Commoner—Brief (dam of Bob Co); bay filly by Sir Wilfred—Calenda; brown filly by Sain—Traditional, and bay colt by Plaudit—Autumn Leaves (dam of Gloaming).

M'CREERY ANSWERS ASHTON.

EDITOR THOROUGHBRED RECORD:

"England, with all thy faults,
I love thee still—my country!"
—Cowper, in "The Task."

Here tabled before me are two articles, one written by Mr. John Ashton, of Brigg, England, the second by Craignorth, of Claresholm, Alta, Canada.

I shall add little to my previous articles—certainly nothing to retract therefrom.

The above gentlemen seem to think as the poet, William Cowper, did over a century ago, viz.:

My English cousins, regardless of thy faults, and whether right or wrong, I love thee still—my countrymen!

Such are my conclusions.

Whether it was William or John Day, at the time Fordham uttered his life vow against, after dismounting from, or still on the back of Lady Elizabeth, matters not, and he may have had a good reason for making a second vow, when he declined to ride Foxhall for William Day's interest alone.

Whether "absolute nonsense," as Mr. Ashton puts it, regarding the above, changes not my position an atom from what I wrote as said by Mr. Bathgate to me, nor what I am confronted with by Craignorth.

If Mr. Ashton had shown in his article, from Bell's Life, where Fordham rode in a race on a horse trained by either of the Day brothers, between Hermit's Derby and Foxhall's Cesarewitch Handicap, it would further bind his belief, yet, not weaken my belief in Mr. Bathgate.

Forceful does it show, how would Mr. Bathgate know anything about Fordham's vow unless it came from the unapproachable jockey's lips.

Messrs. Keene and Bathgate well knew the value of secrecy in dealing in the stock market, or the betting house (that caused William Day to rush to London, as his book states), and also the merit of an honest rider's reward, when Fordham was asked to ride Foxhall.

Thirty-five years have passed since then, and nature has claimed for her earthly tombs the lovable Fordham, Mr. C. W. Bathgate, the clever trainer, William Day, the fleet-footed Foxhall, and his lamentable owner, Mr. James R. Keene.

And any further controversy of this subject is also at a peaceful rest. JAMES H. MCCREERY.

Amber II., b h, 5, by Ogden, out of Lady Amelia, by Ben Brush; 2d dam La Colonia, by Hindoo; next dam The Niece (dam of Uncle) by Alarm, was a winner at Moulins, France, on October 2, 1916, at 7½ furlongs, with 127 pounds up, by two lengths, and again on October 13, at one mile in 1:40 1-5, with 141 pounds up.

James Johnson has sold Spectre to J. Byer.

LARGEST MONEY WINNER OF 1916 ($49,735).

DEATH OF CAPT. W. F. PRESGRAVE.

BOWIE, MD., Nov. 30.—Captatn W. F. Presgrave, one of the best known turfmen in the United States and Canada, died suddenly last night of heart trouble at his home in Salisbury, Md. Captain Presgrave raced some horses for himself and also trained the horses of J. K. L. Ross, the Montreal turfman, and Thomas Clyde. He was also in charge of the mutuel plant at the Pimlico track in Baltimore and last fall took charge of the mutuels at the Dorval (Montreal) track. He trained many good horses in his time, among them being Bryn Mawr and Shorthose.

OPENING OF JUAREZ RACING.

EL PASO, TEXAS, November 30.—Today marked the opening of the eighth successive season of the Jockey Club Juarez, and the ardent sport-loving public of this vicinity turned out in great numbers to do homage to King Horse. Although there were several big attractions going on in El Paso, it did not keep the crowd from attending their favorite winter pastime. The public had the first taste of betting in the mutuel machine, and the majority of them became quick and adept at the method, as the amount wagered for the opening day was far above expectations.

The weather was perfect and there were close to 5,000 persons on the grounds.

The five-and-a-half furlongs sprint, which was run as the fourth race, was contested by the best field of the day, from the standpoint of class, and resulted in an easy victory for Hocnir, coupled with Joe Blair as the K. Spence entry.

Oldsmobile, an outsider in the betting, accounted for the opening dash in easy fashion.

The second race provided a good finish between Waremore and Lytle, with Sybil, the second choice, close up.

Trappoid, from the stable of J. Umensetter, made a show of her opposition in the third race. Keeping well up in the early running, she was only cantering at the end.

DOUBT JOCKEY CLUB WILL TAKE ACTION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Some of the sensationalists and calamity workers are trying to inject a feeling into others that the Jockey Club will take some action against the Pimlico management owing to its announcement that it will hereafter abandon stake races. It is doubtful if any such thought will even suggest itself to any member of the Jockey Club. In the first place, every association under Jockey Club jurisdiction can give as much money as it chooses or can afford to purses and stakes, so long as the rules are recognized. Some tracks can give more than others. As much as the turf rulers would like to see rich stakes and purses everywhere, it is not likely to take arbitrary action in any case. Mr. Belmont simply regrets that such an ultimatum has been reached at Pimlico, and his interview was issued to try to show how advisable it is to give rich stakes, to uphold the breeding industry of this country and to advance the importance of the horse in every particular. For the past few years there have been very few stakes run at Pimlico, hence its determination to cut them all out will not be any serious hardship. The only question at issue is whether it would not have been far more advisable to open some rich stakes, rather than play to the overnight or forty-eight-hour events. As one horseman remarked: "Rich stakes bring the best stables to a race course, and with the best stables come the more aristocratic followers of the turf. This has been the history of racing for centuries.

"From little acorns big oak trees grow," is an old saying, but it might be recalled in connection with the fact that one of the Dupont family has decided to arrange a hunt meeting somewhere near Wilmington, Del. It will not take place until next autumn, but there is reason to believe that if it turns out a social success, as has the Piping Rock institution of a similar nature, it may be possible a wonderful race course will be built in Delaware. But for the war starting when it did, there might have been a race meeting in Delaware ere this of short duration and under the auspices of Delaware's fashionable set, but the European trouble necessitated the Dupont powder mills to get busy. There is no question that the little hunt meeting near Wilmington next autumn will be looked forward to with much concern by all who are interested in the welfare of the turf.

The exodus of brood mares, yearlings and bloodstock generally to the United States and elsewhere, is assuming proportions that make one anxious concerning the breed in this country. Almost every week there appear in THE THOROUGHBRED RECORD (Lexington, Ky.) lists of fresh importations from England, and if this sort of thing goes on, as it promises to, I am afraid that by the end of the war our stock will become seriously depleted. One cannot, of course, blame owners and breeders for taking advantage of the American demand for British thoroughbreds, but it is not as if buyers in the States were content with securing anything on four legs as long as its pedigree looked well. American owners and breeders are experts in the matter of make and shape as well as blood, and the best, or as near to the best as they can buy, is what they require and in many cases obtain.—[Vigilant in London Sportsman.

NIGHT RACING LEGALIZED IN QUEBEC.

MONTREAL, QUE., Nov. 25.—The National Jockey Club, Limited, of Montreal, was yesterday granted letters patent, amongst other things, to race and train horses, to hold races (said races to take place about 8 o'clock in the evening only), to run bookmaking stands, pari-mutuels, etc., by the Quebec legislature.

Another strange part of the National Jockey Club's bill is that it states that the capital stock is to be fixed at $49,900, which in some mysterious manner is to be divided into 499 shares of $100 each. The sum of $500 has been subscribed to the capital stock of the company.

ESSEX PARK CLAIMS DATES.

BOWIE, MD., Nov. 28.—Announcement was made here that there will be a meeting held at Essex Park, Hot Springs, Ark., following the meeting at New Orleans. According to the present plans of the promoters, it is the intention to open up the track on February 25, which is five days after the close of the New Orleans meeting, and run for forty days, which will bring race-goers right up to the opening of the Eastern racing.

Mrs. E. J. Bryson purchased Sky Pilot after his good race Tuesday at Bowie from Godfrey Preece. J. O. Talbott bought Hops from Sam Louis after the last race

NEW YORK GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Grant Hugh Browne, who has but recently returned from Cuba, motored down from his home and breeding establishment at Goshen, N. Y., yesterday morning to look over fifty-five young racers, practically all of them imported, which he now has quartered at the Gravesend racetrack. Mr. Browne was accompanied by Mrs. Browne and his daughter, Dorothy, both enthusiasts over the thoroughbred. He was particularly well pleased with the looks of his big string in charge of Trainer McDaniel. About thirty of the youngsters will be sold at auction by the Powers-Hunter Co. at Durland's the middle of December.

That before the winter season is over Cuba will have a second race track catering to the island populace was the assurance given by Mr. Browne.

"We are going to have one of the best and most completely equipped racing plants in the world right within the city limits of Havana," said Mr. Browne. "We have 250 acres of ground almost in the heart of Havana. Some of the biggest men in Cuba are interested in the new course to be constructed and we have every reason to believe the project is going to prove a great thing."

Charles T. Henshall, who is associated with Mr. Browne in the new racing plant that is to be built, has been on the ground for several weeks, and Mr. Browne left him there looking after the details at that end.

"There are a number of the more influential men in Cuba who are enthusiastic over the building of the plant," Mr. Browne said. "Mr. Henshall has the work under way and a grand stand to seat 18,000 persons will be built. President Menocal will turn the first spade of earth for this big stand and the event will be a big one for Havana. In addition to the race course, there will be a baseball diamond laid out and also an athletic field, so that all kinds of athletic and sporting events may be presented. There also will be an arena for boxing contests, as well as other amusement features in the new park."

Mr. Browne said the Cubans are enjoying an unprecendented era of prosperity and that they are enthusiastic over horses and racing.

Word also was received yesterday from a representative of the new racing association being formed in Maryland, that plans have been perfected for a new plant to be opened next spring. Prominent Baltimoreans are said to be interested in the venture, and ground has been secured for the plant about eighteen miles from Baltimore on the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the highway.

The name of the new racing body is the Baltimore County Racing Association, and the name of the new track is to be the Goodwoode course. Those interested have announced that they would offer a $5,000 purse for the feature event of the opening day of the proposed spring meeting.

Trainer Thomas J. Healey has taken up the veteran race horse Tartar, 6, by Ogden out of Yankee Sister, winner of the Brooklyn Handicap of 1915, and the two-year-old colt Navarre, by Olambala out of Lady Navarre, which have been down on Long Island, near Westbury, for a large part of the season of 1916. They will continue in idleness at Belmont Park until taken up for spring preparation. Mr. Wilson's big imported bay filly Belle Ronald, 2, by Dark Ronald, which was given some early training last spring and then let up, was punch-fired last week by Dr. McCully. This filly gave promise of showing considerable speed early in the spring.

The thoroughbreds in Trainer Martine's stable include the four-year-old bay gelding Quartz, by by Rockton out of Oriska, bought at the Sanford sale for $3,300, and five yearlings. Quartz was a colt at that time, but it turned out that he had a bowed tendon, and he was not only let up and punch-fired, but was added to the list of geldings at the same time, as he appeared to have a troublesome temper. Now he gives promise of training on, and his temper has been very much improved.

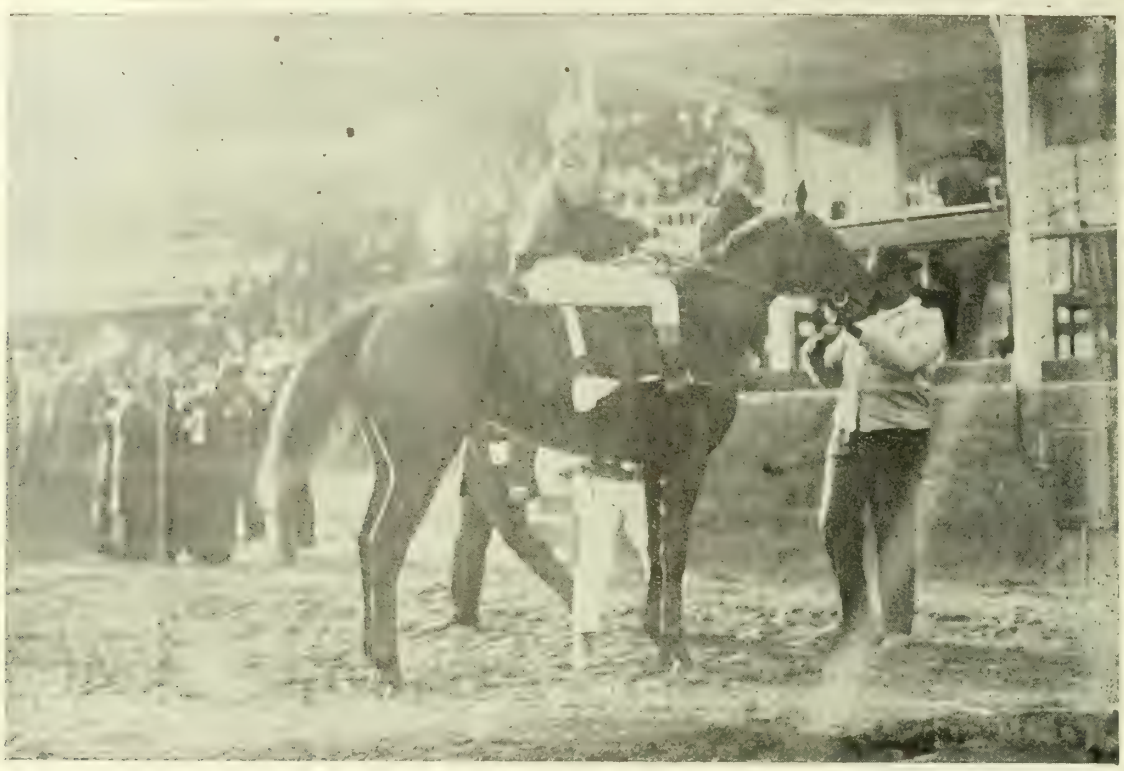
F. J. Hund is the name given by his new owner to the chestnut colt registered abroad as Le Manet, a yearling by San Antonio out of Fontaine Labbe. He was bought at the sale of the Delbert Reiff yearlings at Saratoga last August for $2,100 by F. F. Tighe, which turned him over to the care of Trainer Martine.

Another remarkably good yearling in Martine's stable is a black colt by Plaudit out of that good race mare, Ivabel, by Ogden, out of Ivory Bells, by Himyar. In addition to having a wonderfully good racing conformation, and looking like a real race horse all over, this colt inherits two strains from that great progenitor of speed, Himyar, and that through speed-producing lines.

Through his dam, Ivabel, this yearling receives another strain of Himyar's blood, through his second dam, Ivory Bells, the dam of Old Rosebud, the sensation of his year, and of Mr. Butler's good two-year-old, Ivory Black, while Ivabel herself won not less than forty races during her career of but four years on the turf.

The third of the yearlings in Martine's charge is a particularly taking looking brown filly by Garry Herrmann, out of Rupicola, by Advance Guard. This is a shapely and sprightly looking miss of average size and substance and higher finish than falls to the lot of most yearlings. The other two members of the Martine string are bay fillies by Zeus (son of Adam). One of these fillies is out of Diplomacy, by Kingston, and the other out of Lida B., by Kingston.

An arrival on the Stockholm, which brought the American amateur athletes back to this country, was William Wiley, a jockey, who once rode for John A. Drake. Wiley has been riding for King Ferdinand of Roumania, but when that country entered into the big European quarrel a few weeks ago, Wiley decided it was no place for a race rider and started for home. He said that Boots Durnell, who was training the stable of the Roumanian ruler, was still in the war-stricken country, and did not know whether he would return here or not. The boy looks small enough to ride with ease at the American scale of weights.



The number of race horses wintering at Belmont Park this season will be much the largest known during the history of that track. Upon the completion of the inclosing of his second stable, W. H. Karrick will have accommodation for fifty thoroughbreds, and it is believed he will have few if any empty stalls at that. In addition to the Schuyler L. Parsons horses and those of the Oneck Stable, which he has been handling for many years, he now has the Glen Riddle string, the Mrs. Jeffords stable, the horses of the Schwartz Brothers and others. Trainer Karrick will be assisted this winter by his son, who has been engaged in connection with his father's training activities ever since he was old enough to ride a thoroughbred. He rode cleverly for some time, but now devotes himself to training only.

THOROUGHBREDS SLOWLY INCREASING.

NEW YORK, November 26.—Gradually this country is getting into its stride again in the thoroughbred line. In conversation with W. H. Rowe, who looks after the registration of all thoroughbreds, he says the home-bred two-year-olds which were registered for next year number 1,974, as against 1,879 this year. While this is but a small increase, it is something and does not include 205 foreign-bred youngsters that were imported for next year's contests. This totals 2,179 two-year-olds for 1917. "It is doubtful," said Mr. Rowe, "if there will be quite as many registrations this year as there were in 1915, owing to so many mares proving barren. One breeder reported that only one of his eight mares had given results. This, of course, was an extraordinary case, but as far as I can see now, it will not be surprising to see a decrease of about one hundred registrations this year compared with 1915. The proportion of foals in nearly every stud was lower this year for some unaccountable reason."

A comparative table for the past six years shows a steady growth since the Hughes crusade against the sport of racing in 1910. In that year there were 2,415 home-bred yearlings registered. It continued to decrease until 1914, when the number took an upward trend, there being 157 more registrations in 1914 than in 1913. Following are the figures for the past six years, for domestic-bred horses only: In the year 1915, there were 1,974 yearlings registrations; in 1914, 1,879; in 1913, 1,722; in 1912, 1,904; in 1911, 2,403; in 1910, 2,415.

Had not adverse legislation interfered with the growth of the thoroughbred industry, according to statements made by members of the Jockey Club, it would not have been out of reason to expect a list of 3,500 registrations by this time. Many breeding establishments began to sell their stock to foreign buyers as early as 1908, and by 1910, hundreds of mares had been shipped to foreign countries. For the past two or three years, however, there have been many importations to this country, and, according to Mr. Rowe, the result will be beneficial in the long run, as we need new blood on the farms, and there is no question it has been brought here. Many horses of Europe's select blood have been brought over, and, while it may take a few years to demonstrate what the result will be, the general feeling is that in a year or two we shall have as good horses as ever were foaled here, and possibly better. From all viewpoints the thoroughbred breeding industry is now in a healthy condition.

BELMONT REPLIES TO PIMLICO'S QUERY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—When the Maryland Club issued a pamphlet a few weeks ago, announcing that hereafter there would be no more future event features at the Pimlico racetrack, they opened a way to argument as to just what is for the best interest of the turf. It was to be expected that exception might be taken to the following paragraph which was printed in the pamphlet circulated at Pimlico:

"The early closing stakes should not be used by racing associations operated as commercial enterprises."

The above statement was made in connection with the announcement that hereafter at all future race meetings at Pimlico the program of each day's racing would consist of overnight events, except for the handicaps that would close far enough ahead to allow the official handicapper to make weights for the entries.

When the Maryland Jockey Club issued its announcement of future policy it failed to content itself with laying out its course, but gave a reason for so doing. In giving this reason it took to task all the New York tracks and those of other associations which have made a practice of carrying on turf classics from year to year.

The Maryland Jockey Club classed as "commercial enterprises" the turf associations which have made a fight to carry on racing under adverse legislation, as will be seen from the paragraph above, taken from their circular issued to horsemen and the public.

It was but natural to suppose that those men who have taken a real interest in the thoroughbred and the sport of racing in New York would not feel kindly toward having their race meetings, many of which in the past have been conducted at a loss, designated as purely "commercial enterprises."

August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey Club, a few days since felt called upon to make some pertinent remarks upon the subject of future stakes, and the action of the Maryland association, which has declared against them. In winding up his interview, Mr. Belmont used terms practically the same as those used by the Maryland Jockey Club.

He said in this interview, concerning the Maryland Jockey Club, the following:

"They have become a mere money-making organization, and their claim that their method is better for the future of the sport is specious hypocrisy."

Mr. Belmont's argument was that without the future events, which are the classics of the turf, the sport could not endure. He cited the fact that for years and years that in all other countries, as well as the United States, the early closing stakes have been the real big events on the turf.

However, the interview that Mr. Belmont gave out on the subject seems to have aroused the ire of the Pimlico management. On Wednesday he received the following letter from Mr. Riggs, chairman of the Maryland club, as follows:

"BALTIMORE, MD., Nov. 21, 1916.

"Mr. August Belmont, Chairman The Jockey Club, New York City:

"Dear Sir—At the request of the executive committee of the Maryland Jockey Club, I am instructed to call your attention to the inclosed newspaper clipping of November 20, 1916.

"The greater part of the alleged interview is given over to a discussion of the broad question of 'stakes,' which this letter is not intended to discuss.

"The last paragraph calls attention to the fact that the Maryland Jockey Clnb 'has become a mere money-making organization, and their claim that their method is better for the future of the sport is specious hypocrisy.'

"We should like to ask if such an expression of opinion was made by you in your official capacity as chairman of the Jockey Club, and upon what facts you base your opinion?

"Very truly,

(Signed) "Wm. P. Riggs, Chairman."

After having admitted, at least by implication in their pamphlet, that the Maryland Jockey Club was to be considered a commercial enterprise, the members of this association seem to have taken exception to Mr. Belmont's remarks on the subject.

In answer to the letter quoted above, Mr. Belmont replied that the term "a money-making organization" used in his interview was no more than interchangeable with the term "commercial enterprise," as which the Maryland Association had classed Belmont Park, Saratoga, Aqueduct, Churchill Downs, Douglas Park, Latonia and all other American tracks which feature future events.

His reply to Mr. Riggs, of the Maryland association, was as follows:

"NOVEMBER 22, 1916.

"Mr. William P. Riggs, Secretary Maryland Jockey Club, Baltimore, Md.:

"Dear Sir—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter dated November 21.

"Answering your inquiry, the interview which is attributed to me in the newspapers is substantially as I gave it, and was given by me as an individual and not in my official capacity as chairman of the Jockey Club.

"The last paragraph which you refer to is merely stating what your circular announced at its outset—that is, that 'the early closing stake should not be used by racing associations operated as commercial enterprises.'

"Perhaps I should have quoted you and said in your own words, you were merely 'a commercial enterprise,' instead of 'a money-making organization,' which, to all intents and purposes, is an interchangeable term. I remain, "Yours very truly,

(Signed) "AUGUST BELMONT."

Recently many breeders, owners and turf enthusiasts have been heard from, commending the stand of Mr. Belmont that there must be future stakes and early closing events if the turf is to endure. John E. Madden, who has been in New York recently attending the Horse Show and the Old Glory Sale, was strong in his stand for the future events.

Mr. Madden is vitally interested as a breeder, alone from being one who races his own horses on the turf. He called attention to the fact that there would be small incentive to breeders to spend their time and money in an effort to produce the best in the way of thoroughbreds were there not stake events that would make their produce of value to some one who has an ambition to have a good horse in a stake race. Not only he, but all other breeders of horses and owners of big stables feel that the best interest of the turf will best be conserved by sticking to the stakes that the public has come to know and take an interest in.

The fear felt by those with the best interests of the turf at heart seems to be that the stand taken by the Maryland Jockey Club on the great old Pimlico course might set a bad example to other racing associations with purely commercial instincts which might look more to large fields, even if mediocre horses, rather than real class, because of the action through the mutuel machines and the profit that is certain to accrue to the associations through these machines.

It is certain to be interesting to hear what further the Maryland Jockey Club may have to say after they have thought over the "interchangeable term" to which Mr. Belmont has referred them.

THE KENTUCKY SALES CO.'S FALL SALE.

Splendid prices were paid at the annual winter sale of thoroughbreds, under the management of the Kentucky Sales Company last Friday, when 113 head changed hands for $64,030, an average of $566.64 a head. The top price of the afternoon was paid for the stallion Transvaal, number one in the catalog, that went to the bid of Ed Burke at $9,500. The mare Cerina, in the same consignment, was bought by R. D. Williams for $4,500, and the weanling produce of the above two horses was secured by the same buyer at $2,100.

After the consignment of A. J. Gorey, which included the above-mentioned horses, came the weanlings from Hamburg Place, for which good prices were paid. They were principally the get of the young stallion, Sir John Johnson, which brought good prices, but the best price was paid for the weanling chestnut filly by Star Shoot out of Pastorella, the dam of Colin, that went to the bid of Hal Price Headley, at $3,050. The Johnson weanlings were also in good demand, the highest price being $1,750 for both the colt out of Frankness, that went to Thomas Murphy, and the filly out of Quack, that went to A. W. Karrick.

J. S. Hawkins paid $2,500 for the weanling filly by Ballot, out of Janice, from Catesby Woodford's consignment.

G. D. Wilson dispersed his Iroquois Stud, selling 22 head for $14,640. The best of these were purchased by former United States Senator Joseph W. Bailey, of Texas, who at one time had a partnership interest in them with Mr. Wilson. The highest price he paid was $4,300 for Garden of Allah.

The chestnut yearling from the Carr & Piatt consignment by Dick Welles—Grace Commoner, went to R. P. Marshall for $1,050.

Four mares, the property of the estate of W. H. Laudeman, were sold in the supplements following the regular sale.

NAMES WITH A WAR-TIME TINGE.

TORONTO, ONT., December 4.—There is a war-time tinge to the nomenclature of the young stock in the breeding establishment of George M. Hendrie, and the future race horses bear names that are suggestive of the present great European struggle. The yearlings are as follows, those by Charles Edward, being home-bred, and the other five purchased in the United States:

Ammunition, ch c, by Charles Edward—Shimonese.
Springside, ch c, by Charles Edward—Springwells.
Prize Court, b c, by Charles Edward—Placena.
North Sea, b c, by Sweep—Orange and Blue.
Jutland, b c, by Hessian—Lizzie Montrose.
Sweet Alyssum, b f, hy Ballot—Sweet Lavender.
Sainza, b f, by Sain—La Venganza.
Storm Bound, b f, by Marta Santa—Sea Spray.

For a still later season there are five home-bred yearlings at the Valley Farm, bred as follows:

Border Chief, b c, by Charles Edward—Ambrosine.
Salvo, b c, by Charles Edward—Shoo Fly.
Slogan, ch c, by Charles Edward—Anthem.
Ordnance, ch f, by Charles Edward—Otsiketa.
Somme, ch f, by Charles Edward—Spanish Maid.

North Sea is a half-brother to Hendrie, a good winner for J. E. Madden this year, and Sweet Alyssum is a half-sister to Mr. Hendrie's fine horse, Rancher. The Sain filly is a half-sister to Manager Waite, and Storm Bound's dam, Sea Spray, is a sister to Ocean Bound.

PROLIFIC SIRES.

[Vigilant in London Sportsman].

The chief test of a stallion's merit lies in the performance not only of his three-year-olds, but of his juvenile performers, and from the latter point of view Star Shoot, Ogden, and Ballot must be regarded as the most successful sires of the season in U. S. A. To the end of last month Star Shoot had sired no fewer than twenty-five winners of 65 races; Ogden was responsible for eighteen winners of 40 races; and Ballot's young stock, or, rather, nineteen of them, had secured a total of 38 events. It redounds to the credit of our island-bred stock that both Star Shoot and Ogden were bred in the United Kingdom, although Ogden was actually foaled in the States, his dam, Oriole, having been sent out there after being mated with Kilwarlin. It is curious that Star Shoot should year after year take a high place—he has been first on several occasions—among the leading stallions in the States, whereas his half-brother, Telescope, which was likewise a successful race horse, begot nothing of special note at the stud with the exception of Caste gelding and the steeplechaser, Deerstalker. Telescope, however, was a tail-mail descendant of the decaying Beadsman line, whereas Star Shoot is a son of Isinglass, one of the greatest sons of Isonomy (the Sterling, or Oxford, line of Birdcatcher). This is the male line of Eclipse, but so, too, was that of Telescope. The latter, however, was too much inbred to Eclipse to do good (his Herod blood being feminine), unless mated with mares exceptionally strong in Herod and Matchem blood, whereas Star Shoot's sire had in his make-up a plentiful supply of both these necessary strains of blood. Through his sire, Isonomy, for instance, Isinglass took in Melbourne (Matchem) through Sterling's grandam, Silence, and Herod blood through My Dear, while Isola Bella (dam of Isonomy) brought in Pocahontas (Herod) to nick with My Dear. Then there was more Pocahontas in Isinglass' dam, and further Herod blood through The Dutchman's Daughter, in addition to a good line of Melbourne (Matchem) through The Slave, the paternal grandam of Deadlock's sire, Wenlock. Turning to Ogden, the fact that he is a tail-male descendant of Melbourne (via Solon) no doubt made him an acceptable mate for American-bred broodmares, such as Lady Sterling, from which he got Sir Martin. The dam of the last-named was a tail-male descendant of Glencoe (Herod), and Sir Martin should do well at the stud here with in-bred Eclipse mares. As to Ballot, he was an excellent race horse, both in U. S. A. and here, and as a five-year-old in this country he gave ten pounds and a clever beating to the three-year-old Valens in the Select Stakes. It is interesting to note that Ballot is by Voter, which was by Friar's Balsam, the latter a son of Hermit, whose male line in this country is almost extinct, although doing well in U. S. A.

It is on the cards that a more recent importation into the States, in the shape of Short Grass, may in due course develop into a stallion of the first order, the more particularly as the Bend Or male line, of which he is a member, has topped the winning list in England for the last three years by aid of Polymelus. Mr. Sol Joel's champion goes back to Bend Or via Cyllene and Bona Vista, whereas Short Grass, which has proved himself a top-sawyer in handicaps in the States, carrying the colors of Mr. E. Herz, is a degree nearer to Bend Or, being by the 1880 Derby winner's son, Laveno. There is no doubt that Laveno was a magnificently bred horse, for he was by Bend Or (1) out of Napoli (1), and both his sire and dam were grandchildren of Thormanby. What in-breeding to Thormanby means we have seen in quite recent years in the case of The Tetrarch, which but for his habit of striking into himself when galloping would doubtless have shown himself as far in front of his peers at three years of age as he had done in the course of his brilliant juvenile career. On his dam's side Short Grass, which won the 1,000 sovs. London Cup and other good races here, was equally well bred, for his dam, Outburst, whose first foal he is, was got by Enthusiast (son of Sterling and conqueror of Donovan in the Two Thousand Guineas) out of Sunburst, by Hackler out of Solstice, by Solon. Rather curiously, Outburst was likewise the first foal of her dam, which goes back in the female line to The Deformed, by Burgundy or Harkaway out of Welfare, by Priam. As everyone knows, Priam was one of the earlier Derby winners that was sent to the United States. This was before his daughters, Miss Letty, Industry, and Crucifix had won the Oaks three years out of four. It might be urged that Priam was chiefly remarkable for his good fillies, but he got many winners in the States, and I only mention that he figures at the foot of Short Grass' pedigree for the information of breeders out there. The fact remains that Short Grass is a really good-looking, big horse, and his sire, Laveno, before him, showed himself to be a horse of very high class by winning the Jockey Club Stakes (£10,000). In addition to being own brother to that good race horse and sire, Orvieto, Laveno was brother in blood to such other great sires as Ormonde, Bona Vista, and Martagon.

BILL TO LEGALIZE CALIFORNIA RACING.

The legislature, at its next session, will be asked to pass a measure looking to the revival of horse racing in California under the pari-mutuel system of betting and with a state commission in control.

Who will introduce the bill is not known, and unless there is a change of plans on the part of the Golden Gate Thoroughbred Breeders' Association, which will father the move to revive racing, the legislator to introduce the bill will not be chosen until the law makers are in session.

The logical person to submit the bill, of course, is James C. Nealon, newly elected senator, but the thing which makes Nealon the logical person will also likely eliminate him.

Mr. Nealon is the secretary of the Golden Gate Thoroughbred Breeders' Association. What more, then, could the association ask than one of its own officials to introduce the bill?

But, on the other hand, argues Nealon, and his fellow-officials, it might be said, should he introduce such a bill, that as secretary of the association he has a personal interest in the revival of racing.

Nealon, therefore, is inclined to take a back seat, and the bill, as stated, will probably be introduced by some other legislator.

What will be incorporated in the bill has yet to be determined. But here are some of the more salient provisions sure to be included:

First—All meetings to be under direct control of a state commission, which will will have authority to grant and deny permits for meetings and to specify length of meetings.

Second—The complete eliminatiou of bookmakers.

Third—A percentage of the receipts of each meeting to be given over to the state for charitable institutions.

The commission, under the provisions of the proposed bill, will be appointed by the Govenor, and if the wishes of the Golden Gate Thoroughbred Breeders' Association are adhered to, will be composed of men who are interested in the breeding of horses rather than of those who are merely interested in racing plants.—[San Francisco Bulletin.

CANADIAN HORSEMAN'S FUNERAL IN MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, December 4.—The funeral of the late Captain W. F. Presgrave, was held this morning from the chapel of the Royal Victoria Hospital, and was largely attended by friends of the late horseman in Montreal and from several out-of-town racing centers. There were floral tributes from many members of the Canadian Racing Associations, while others were sent by racing associations of the United States, showing the respect in which the decedent was held by his numerous friends. The interment was at Mount Royal Cemetery.

During the funeral, another well-known horseman, Ike Striker, passed away at the Royal Victoria Hospital. Striker was well-known to Canadian followers of the turf, particularly during the latter days of his career, as he campaigned a large string on the local half-mile and independent race tracks. Early in September he was taken ill and later was taken to the hospital. Death occurred from a general breaking down.

During the final meeting at Hillcrest Park, Toronto, Striker's stable of horses was disposed of at auction. Word of his death has been sent to his brother, E. W, Striker, of the Star Clothing Company, at Rochester, New York.

It is reported that Mr. Ford, the American motor manufacturer, is seeking to acquire Cork Racecourse and river frontage for the purpose of establishng a factory costing at least £200,000. He offers £20,000 for the freehold, and engages to employ 2,000 adults at one shilling an hour. The proposal is to be dealt with tomorrow.—[London Sportsman, Nov. 21.

The Cork Corporation unanimously accepted the above proposal. A guarantee was given that the Race Committee will be compensated for the disturbance.

Duke of Ormonde was purchased out of the G. D. Wilson dispersal sale held here on December 1, by Thomas B. Jones, of Winchester, from whom Mr. Madden secured him. Duke of Ormonde is a half-brother to Ormondale, which is also in the stud at Hamburg Place.

LOCAL NOTES.

John E. Madden sold this week to J. J. Leonard, acting for parties in Portland, Maine, the French-bred stallion Pataud and the nine-year-old mare, Playground, by Hurst Park, out of Sumida, by The Sailor Prince, next dam Saluda, by Mortemer.

Pataud is a wonderfully well-bred horse and he will doubtless prove a good investment for his new owner. He was a winner at two and three in France, and is by Darley Dale (son of St. Simon and Ismay by Isonomy, and winner of the Ascot Derby and $50,000 Eclipse Stakes), out of La Poetica, by Masque. Darley Dale was bred by the Duke of Portland, being sold privately for $40,000 and sent to France, where he achieved pronounced success as a sire, so much so, in fact, that he was repurchased to stand for service in England. He headed the winning sires in Russian in 1913, his get including the winner of the Russian Derby. Following La Poetica, comes La Malmaison, by Fontainbleu, he by Dollar, the best son of The Flying Dutchman. La Jonchere, the next dam, was a famous race mare in her day and won the French Oaks, as did her sister, Enguerrande, win the corresponding English classic. La Jonchere and her sister were daughters of Vermouth, son of The Nabob, which figures prominently in the makeup of St. Gatien's dam, St. Editha. Deliane, the fourth dam, was a daughter of The Flying Dutchman, himself, so that we have no less than three crosses of The Flying Dutchman in the first thirty-two quarterings of Pataud's pedigree. Imperieuse, which follows, was a One Thousand Guineas and St. Leger winner by Orlando and out of Eulogy, ancestress of the Australian champion, Carbine. Three crosses of The Flying Dutchman's blood are good enough for anything. Darley Dale, Pataud's sire, is a member of the all conquering Maid of Masham family, and he also introduces the most valuable lines of Hermit and Young Melbourne. Masque, the sire of La Poetica, brings in the blood of Queen Mary and also that of Sweetmeat through Carnival.

Dr. J. D. Neet, Kindergarten Stud, Versailles, Ky., has bought from T. E. Cummings, of Windsor, Ontario, the eight-year-old bay mare, Rusty Coat (winner of 22 races), by Ethelbert, out of San Andres (winner of 26 races), by imp. Quicklime, son of Wenlock and Duvernay by Beadsman. San Andres traces directly to the Crucifix branch of the Levity family, which has given the turf more high-class race horses than any other American family.

Emil Herz who was in Lexington the first of the week, made arrangements with E. R. Bradley to have Short Grass stand at Idle Hour Farm the coming season. Short Grass, by Laveno out of Outburst, has won twenty-three races in his seven years on the turf and is retired absolutely sound.

John E. Madden, Hamburg Place, received a telegram from former United States Senator Joseph W. Bailey Monday accepting his offer of $5,000 for Garden of Allah, which he bought at the Iroquois Stud dispersal here last Friday for $4,300. Madden also bought Cerina from R. D. Williams for $4,800. Williams got her out of A. J. Gorey's dispersal for $4,500. Garden of Allah is in foal to Duke of Ormonde and Cerina to Transvaal. They will be bred to Mr. Madden's recent $50,000 purchase of August Belmont, Friar Rock.

John F. McConnell, of Canada, has purchased of S. S. Combs the brown filly Mabel R., 2, by Duval—Ella Johnson.

In speaking of the result of the sale by which his Iroquois Stud was dispersed, Garret D. Wilson expressed himself as satisfied. Mr. Wilson said, "I am out of the breeding end of the sport for good, as I no longer own a hair in any horse, but I think my next venture will be to buy some good young prospects and race them."

The Thoroughbred Horse Breeders' Association directors at a meeting Tuesday afternoon went on record as opposed to the rule adopted by the Jockey Club and later adopted by the Canadian Racing Associations and the Kentucky State Racing Commission, whereunder any two-year-old raced before April 1 is banished from the turf until it becomes a three-year-old.

The election of the following directors was announced Tuesday by the New Louisville Jockey Club: M. J. Winn, Andrew Vennie, H. C. Applegate, Charles P. Dehler and Charles F. Grainger.

THE ARGENTINE SALES.

Good prices are being maintained in the Argentine, where last month at the sale of the Haras El Moro "products" ten colts by Old Man made an average of £1,305 each, and eleven fillies by the same sire averaged £704 each. The highest priced of the colts was Colibri, a bay son of Campanilla, and he was secured by the Stud Imperio (Montevideo) for £3,143. The Haras El Moro is the property of Messrs. Pedro Luro and Sons. It is interesting to find that Craganour's stock have also proved in demand. He is located at the Haras Chapadamal, of which the proprietors are Messrs. Benito Villanueva and Miguel A. Martinez de Hoz. Four Craganour colts averaged £1,179. There were no fillies by him, and it would seem that he has not proved very prolific in his first season. Dr. Pedro Benedit, of the Haras Chacabuco, sustained a serious loss when Bridge of Canny died, but the stock he left behind him has done a good deal by way of compensation. Five Bridge of Canny lots on the 3rd ult. made an average of £1,056 each, and five fillies by the same sire averaged £681. It is at this stud where Let Fly has been installed in place of Bridge of Canny, and it may be that he will prove an equally successful sire, for his severe struggles as a two-year-old furnished abundant excuse for his erratic running the next season. Let Fly is certainly an exceptionally good-looking horse, and is the best of White Eagle's sons up to the present. It is a great advantage also that his dam is by Loved One (sire of Doris, dam of Sunstar), and this brings in a Herod line just in the right place. Somehow or other racing and bloodstock breeding continues to flourish in the Argentine, though financial conditions there are said to be about as bad as possible. It is not easy to understand this, but facts speak for themselves.

At the moment of writing I have received the record of the Ojo de Agua "products" in Buenos Aires. Six Cyllene colts averaged £1,382 and six Cyllene fillies £417 each. Polar Star's stock were not in such demand. Four colt averaged £578 and six fillies £374. A colt by Your Majesty made £2,444, and a colt by Jardy £1,484. The grand total averaged £664 for 36 lots.—[The Special Commissioner in London Sportsman.

ENGLISH REGISTER OF THOROUGHBRED STALLIONS.

Register of Thoroughbred Stallions, (Vol. III.), containing the tabulated pedigrees and racing performances of nearly 300 of the principal sires at the stud in the United Kingdom; together with an Appendix giving shorter pedigrees of 624 additional stallions. For sale by THE RECORD. Price $5.

NEW YORK GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Now the Thoroughbred Horse Association has joined with the managers of the Southern racecourses in a protest against The Jockey Club rule prohibiting the racing of two-year-olds before April 1. The penalty for such racing is that the offending youngster is barred from racing for the rest of the year. In other words, the rule prohibits at racecourses over which The Jockey Club really has no jurisdiction.

No racecourse in the jurisdiction of The Jockey Club conducts a meeting before April 1, yet under this rule the two-year-olds that were started at Oriental Park, Havana, Tia Juana or Juarez, Mexico, or New Orleans, La., would all be barred from competing over the Maryland or New York courses.

At a meeting of the directors of the Thoroughbred Horse Association held at Lexington, Ky., yesterday, President Hal Price Headley addressed a letter to the governing turf bodies of the United States and Canada protesting against the rule and asking for its amendment.

Many horsemen agree with Captain Cassatt, who framed the rule, that two-year-olds are raced altogether too early in the year, but they would move the date back to May 15, while others would favor a prohibition until August 1. There is scant chance for any such radical rules, and the general clamor at this time from the Southern tracks is natural, for every one of them has provided for two-year-old racing in January. It is possible that another May Hempstead might turn up at one or other of the tracks and under the existing rules she would be barred from meeting the good ones in New York.

As a matter of fact, it is not necessary to go back as far as May Hempstead. During the season that is just closed, for instance, such two-year-olds as Westy Hogan, Dental, Manokin and Wistful, would have been barred from racing after April 1, to say nothing of several other good ones.

Thus it will be seen that there are arguments both for and against the racing of the "undeveloped youngsters.

Croker will return to the American turf with a strong stable of thoroughbreds, though it is improbable that his silks will be shown on this side of the Atlantic until 1918.

In answer to the question as to how long his present stay here would last, he said: "I hope to see racing at Saratoga next summer, as well as at some of the other tracks, but probably that at Saratoga will appeal to me most, as a number of youngsters will be under colors whose 'daddies' I have seen racing in England. I also understand that a banner meeting was held there this year and that next season promises to be even better.

"From what I can gather the racing here next year should be excellent, and with the new blood that has been brought over there is little doubt that in a few years the American horse will be the equal of any anywhere.

"At the present time I do not think they rank with the average high-class horse in England. Of course, the reason for that is well known, inasmuch as the best can trace back through generations of really scientific breeding, so that it is only natural that they should be better.

"While American thoroughbred blood is not considered of much importance in England just now, the progress which has been made and must be improved upon in the near future must force itself upon the attention of those who now look askance at it."

Mr. Croker has a very decided admiration for Sunstar, which ranked third amongst the winning stallions in England in 1916. This one is the sire of North Star, recently purchased by A. K. Macomber, the American sportsman.

Orby, Mr. Croker's Derby winner, was placed sixth on the list of winning stallions for the year, while the former Tammany chieftain's silks earned £2,406, on the Irish turf, this placing his name fourth on the list of winning owners. The two that gave Orby his place in the stallion list were Eleanor M. and Eos, a pair of three-year-olds, and the two-year-old Diadem. All three of them have been sold by Mr. Croker.

Although he disposed of a number of his stock at auction last month he states that Glencairn still houses Orby and a dozen broodmares of which he has great expectations. Among some of his thoroughbred possession are two fillies, both by Orby. One is a full sister to Eleanor M. and the other out of Blakestown, the dam of Flash of Steel, a frequent winner of big stakes in India.

H. C. Hallenbeck, who has generally bought ready-made horses, completed an important yearling purchase yesterday, when he gave $24,000 for the eight imported yearlings brought over by Duncan Grant, of the Rugby Stud. These horses were landed in New York from the Manchuria of the Atlantic Transport Line, and since that time they have been at Van Tassel & Kearney's stable. Mr. Duncan was holding them at a big price all season, and if fashionable breeding means anything Mr. Hallenbeck has a real bargain.

The lot comprises:

Bay colt, by Heliotrope—Cross Duchess, by Duke of Westminster.

Bay colt, by Pericles (son of Persimmon)—Purple Light, by Heliotrope.

Bay colt, by Land League—Mill Bay, by Red Heart.

Bay colt, by Heliotrope-Applecross, by Lychnoscope.

Chestnut filly, by Pericles—Stray Moments, by St. Hilaire.

Chestnut colt, by Marco—Aloquin, by St. Frusquin.

Bay colt, by Heliotrope—Hutton's System, by All Moonshine.

Bay filly, by Heliotrope—Seisdon Princess, by Veracity.

SIR ADAM BECK'S PLAN FOR REMOUNT SYSTEM.

LONDON, ONT., Dec. 2.—Col. Sir Adam Beck, whose hunters won so many trophies during the recent National Horse Show in New York, is responsible in a very great measure for the high reputation the half and three-quarter bred horse of this region of Canada enjoys, both at home and abroad, and his interest in the type unquestionably had an influence in his being designated director of remounts for Canada by the British authorities when the war broke out.

Sir Adam is a busy man. He is chairman of the Hydroelectric Commission, having to do with the distribution of the harnessed energy of Niagara Falls, has an active working partnership in two industrials at this point and between whiles has found time to supervise the purchasing of 48,000 head of cavalry remount and transport horses for the British army. For play he aids in the making of such phenomenal hunters as Sir Edward Melrose, Sir Thomas and Lord Falmouth, all of which were bred in this region, and serves as a director of the organizations which give the big shows at Madison Square Garden, New York and at the Olympia in London, England.

Ween seen a few days ago Sir Adam talked about the remount system as he would like to see it established in his own country, and while he would not presume to outline a policy for the American authorities, his views are so thoroughly in accord with those of the War Department of the United States, that the plan should have the careful attention of all who want to see a better type of army horse produced everywhere on this continent.

"My recommendation," said Sir Adam, "called for an establishment of remount depots at three or four points in western Ontario, where the Government would place sires in the hands of qualified men under military rule These horses would be thoroughbreds or horses of the type of Wild Mayo, a registered English hunter sire, with only one outcross, presented to the Canadian Remount Department by Sir Peter Walker and imported by me last year. I would permit the free service of approved mares, and if the Government were in a position to do so, I think success would come all the more quickly if they furnished the mares also.

"What type of mare would I recommend? Mares of trotting or coaching blood are best for the purpose, but I have seen some of draught stock with good shoulders and withers that threw a good type of hunter or army horse. My idea would be to contract to take the offspring unbroken except to halter in the fall they were three-year-olds at $200. In order to give the farmer a chance to look for another market in case his colt should not be of the proper army tpye I would declare at two years. Then the farmer could break the youngster to ride or drive and be ready for the first available customer. Part of the equipment at each stallion would necessarily be a corps of competent riders and conditioners, and the education of each animal would be along proper lines until the time of issue at rising five years of age. By this method troopers would have no chance of spoiling a mount, which is frequently the case where a green horse falls into the hands of an inexpert horseman.

"We sent some very good horses over-seas," continued Sir Adam, "but during a tour of inspection last spring in France, where I went to establish remount stallions, I was greatly impressed with those I saw from other countries, particularly those developed by the French, who, as you know, have spent millions in horse breeding. They were a truly wonderful cavalry type. The Indian troops were well horsed, too, on animals of Arabian lineage, apparently.

"But in this country, and I am sure the same condition exists in the United States," said Sir Adam in conclusion, "must do something if we are to preserve the type of horse which is useful for the army and yet gives a great deal of pleasure to those who like to ride and drive. The British, French and Italian Governments have pretty thoroughly cleaned us up, and unless we make it worth while for the farmer to breed the light horse the situation will be alarming. It is serious already. The small motor car is taking the place of the road horse in rural communities and we are thus losing the ideal mate for our thoroughbred sires. Something must be done to solve the problem."

EXODUS OF BRITISH BLOODSTOCK.

The news that Mr. J. B. Joel has sold North Star for export to America is serious indeed, for if a wealthy owner will let one of the very best of the year go how can the smaller owners be expected to refrain. I think it is not too much to say that had we been assured of a Derby at Epsom and a St. Leger at Doncaster next year Mr. Joel would never have sold his good colt, and, in this connection, let me once again ask the Jockey Club Stewards why they do not ordain that the Derby, Oaks, and St. Leger entries shall hold good, though the races may for convenience sake be run at Newmarket. This would save a lot of trouble, and would more definitely earmark the races as being the genuine classics, than under the timid, makeshift scheme of the last two years. The Jockey Club Stewards can do just what they like in such matters, and no one would be in the least likely to object. The Derby is the Derby, wherever run, just as the Eton and Harrow match would retain its individuality wherever it might be played. The question is urgent, for owners of good two-year-olds would not be likely to sell them if the classic races were more clearly marked in their continuity. Ordinary purchases for abroad we can all accept as proper business. Thus I bought Wormleighton last week to go to America, and Mrs. Freville Cookson's promising yearling colt by Javelin out of Amphinome (sister in blood to Sundridge) to go to America, but this is a different matter from selling the Middle Park Plate winner, as Mr. Joel has done, and I take this as a very nasty jar indeed to the prospects of breeding and racing in this country.—[W. Allison in London Sportsman.

MELBOURNE CUP WINNER'S STAYING BLOOD.

After a postponement of a week because of a flooded track, the Melbourne Cup was run at Flemington course, November 11, and with twenty-eight horses starting, was won by the New Zealand-bred three-year-old colt, Sasanof, with 95 pounds up. Shepherd King, carrying 115 pounds, ten pounds of which was a penalty for winning the Caulfield Cup, was second, and the English-bred St. Spasa, 127 pounds, was third. The two miles of the race were covered in 3:27¾. Sasanof won by two and a half lengths and was at 14 to 1 in the betting. Concerning the placed horses in this greatest handicap in the world, a competent English critic writes:—

The race for the Melbourne Cup resulted in a reversal of the Caulfeld Cup form, the winner of the latter race, Shepherd King, being defeated by Sasanof, with St. Spasa third. Shepherd King was penalized ten pounds for his Caulfield success, and this enabled Sasanof, which was then third, to turn the tables on his conqueror. Both Shepherd King and St. Spasa were imported from England, and it is worthy of note that this Melbourne Cup victor, Sasanof, is by imported Martian, which is by Martagon, while Shepherd King is by Martagon himself. It is extraordinary how well the majority of the descendants of Martagon stay, instances in England being Mazagan (Goodwood Cup), Balsarroch (Cesarewitch), Mintagon (Cesarewitch), also Musa (Oaks), and Woolwinder (St. Leger). Shepherd King is a brother to Woolwinder. Martian, the sire of the three-year-old Melbourne Cup winner, Sasanof, is by Martagon—Otterden. Although foaled in New Zealand, Martian is English at all points. His dam, Ottenden (1896) was bred by the late Mr. J. H. Houldsworth, by Sheen—Spring Morn, and was sent to New Zealand in 1900, covered by Martagon. Spring Horn herself was one of the numerous mares of the Sunshine branch of the famous No. 1 family, with which Mr. Houldsworth's turf fortunes are so closely identified. Already as a two-year-old in New Zealand Sasanof showed that staying was his best suit.

KEENE IS BETTER.

BALTIMORE, MD., December 6.—Foxhall P. Keene, noted cross-country rider and polo player, who was injured in a fall from his horse while fox hunting near Farmington, Md., yesterday, was reported better tonight, although he had lain in a semi-conscious state most of the day. He rallied several times, however, and was given nourishment during these intervals, but he was still too dazed to tell how he had been hurt.

Mr. Keene's physician said this afternoon that he did not look for any serious results. No bones had been broken, he declared, and an examination had disclosed nothing wrong with the horseman's brain or spinal column.

At the annual general meeting of the Ontario Jockey Club shareholders, the following were elected directors: President, Joseph E. Seagram; vice-presidents, Sir Lyman Melvin Jones and Col. William Hendrie; Col. Sir John S. Hendrie, George W. Beardmore, M. F. H., Capt. R. J. Christie, A. E. Dyment and Col. Dyment King Smith.

TURF PROSPERITY IN THE EAST.

NEW YORK, December 7.—Eight months of racing is a goodly season, and that is the one that was completed with the running of the seventh race at Bowie Thanksgiving Day. It is indeed a big sport that can hold interest for so long a time, but if the climatic conditions would permit, there would be the same interest in the sport in December as there is in August.

Time was when Maryland did not cut a very important figure in the Eastern racing. That was when the New York season began April 15 and continued without interruption until November 15. With the shortening of the season in New York, Maryland grew in importance. The New Yorker must have his racing and Maryland was none too far to go to enjoy the sport.

The season that has just come to a close has been by long odds the most profitable ever enjoyed by any of the Maryland associations, and the immense crowds that turned out day after day were just as eager in their cheers for the victors on Thanksgiving Day, as they were on April Fool's day eight months before. The crowd that thronged the Bowie track Thanksgiving Day was by long odds the largest gathering that had been on the grounds, and it was the last day of that long season of sport.

Bowie has at once taken the place in the circuit that was so long adequately filled by the Washington Jockey Club at the old Benning course. James F. O'Hara and his associates in the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, were the last ones to come into the Maryland circuit, and they had to take the least desirable dates—those that raise the curtain in the spring and ring it down in the fall. It is a season when the weather is frequently uncomfortably cold or stormy, but with all this handicap Bowie has enjoyed an instant popularity, and it has become a most important part of the racing scheme in the East.

Plans are already being made for the opening next April and another effort will be made to have better transportation facilities for the faithful. It was in this one department, and one over which the track management had no control, that Bowie suffered a real handicap all through both meetings this year.

Just what changes will be made in the New York season for 1917 is only a matter of conjecture at this time, but it is generally believed that the opening bill will be both earlier in the spring and the closing later in the fall. If this is a fact, Bowie will have one advantage over the other Maryland courses, for horses may not be raced in New York State before April 15, when Bowie has completed its spring meeting, while they may not be raced later than November 15, when Bowie will begin its fall season.

This question of dates for next year will likely be decided early in January, and it is not until then that it will be known just how Maryland is to be treated in the allotment. As a matter of fact, the liberality of the associations down there has been such that the State would be a dangerous rival to New York associations should there be a conflict of racing time. The States are too close together for such a conflict, and neither one could really afford to quarrel at this time.

The great big outstanding lesson that has been taught by the racing of 1916, is that the American turf has come back to much of its old-time glory and it has about entirely recovered from the many attacks that have been made by the professional reformers.

The prospects for next season could hardly be brighter and the various tracks have already decided to materially increase purse and stake values. There will be a greater number of horses and probably a better class of horses in training than for many years. The thoroughbred horse market is back to its good days and the many richly bred horses that have been imported, all mean a general rejuvenating of both racing and breeding.

"A SERIOUS LOSS."

It was only a day or two ago, while reviewing his two-year-old performances, that I hazarded the opinion that North Star might next year develop into one of the best three-year-olds, possibly into a classic winner. But that dream has been effectually dissipated by the news that the colt has been sold, and when next he appears on a race course it will be in America. Mr. A. K. Macomber, who had previously purchased early in the spring seventeen of the Childwickbury yearlings, is the new owner, and the Middle Park Plate winner will leave forthwith for the States, accompanied by King's Joker and War Star. They are a formidable trio, and just as North Star may prove the champion of his age in his new home, so King's Joker should hold his own among the best sprinters. Mr. J. B. Joel only retains four heavily engaged yearlings for his own racing, and these will be trained by F. Hartigan, at Weyhill. These continued depletions in his racing stable are disconcerting, but are accounted for by the fact that his only son and many close relatives of his are on active service, and consequently some part of the time devoted to racing in normal times finds other use and interest to occupy it. Still, it is well to know that Mr. Joel has no intention of retiring from the turf, and when the war is over will race on as extensive lines as formerly. In the meanwhile there are upwards of fifty broodmares at Childwickbury, and the number will be increased—in fact I understand that the master of Childwickbury will go in for breeding on a larger scale than hitherto. It is in contemplation to restrict the services of Sunstar, Prince Palatine, and Black Jester to his own stud, but with three such stallions I cannot believe that such a policy will be adopted, and I sincerely hope it will not, if only in the interests of other breeders willing to pay high fees in the ambition to obtain the best results and to add in the interest of the country's reputation as nursery of the highest class thoroughbred horses in the world.—[Vigilant in London Sportsman.

CANADIANS PLAN 210 RACING DAYS.

TORONTO, CAN., Dec. 5.—With the racing season well over and thoroughly digested, officials of the Canadian Racing Association now have under consideration dates for 1917. While a number of changes in the fixtures for the coming year have been suggested, it is practically assured that the schedule for 1917 will be the same as last season.

Woodbine Park will probably again open the season on May 19. The dates for the other Canadian Association's tracks are generally guided by the opening at Toronto, the two tracks at Montreal following, after which comes the change to Ottawa, then back to the Western Ontario course again. The only conflicting dates will come from Devonshire Park, at Windsor, the 1917 dates for which have already been announced and advertised.

These dates will conflict with the racing at Fort Erie. The meeting at Ottawa will likely have opposition from Mount Royal, whose dates will in all probability follow Blue Bonnets in the spring and autumn, while the dates for the second meeting at Devonshire Park will be much the same as the past season, opening on the day that Woodbine closes, September 22.

With all of the Canadian tracks operating, it is impossible for each of them to have two Saturdays for each of their meetings, so that some of them will have to be satisfied with one Saturday to get in the necessary number of racing days. It is likely that the coming season will see the passing of the syndicate ring.

Mount Royal will have the mutuels next season, the machines already being ordered, while the management of King Edward Park will also likely install them. The officials of Delorimier Park, although they have made no definite announcement, are considering the advisability of putting in the machines. G. T. Bryan, who was at Kempton Park recently to look over the plant, was strongly in favor of putting in the machines, and a building will be started early in the spring to accommodate the Iron Men. The only tracks not mentioned in connection with the mutuels are Maison Neuve, Dufferin Park and Hillcrest Park, the latter two at Toronto.

With seven tracks in operation around Montreal, there will be ninety-eight days of racing, seven days more than in the last season, as King Edward only ran one meeting. In Ontario there will be eight tracks operating, three of which are at Windsor. The Windsor and Fort Erie tracks drew the most of their patronage from American cities. The eight tracks will give 112 days' racing in Ontario, which, with the 98 in Montreal, will furnish horsemen with 210 days of sport in Canada. In Ontario the Government reaped a rich harvest from the racing, the daily tax being $1,250, which will amount to $140,000 during the season of 1917.

Following are the dates likely to be chosen for the independent tracks:

Delorimier Park, May 19 to May 26; Mount Royal, June 14 to June 21; Maison Neuve, June 22 to June 29; Devonshire Park, June 30 to July 7; Delorimier Park, June 30 to July 6; King Edward Park, July 9 to July 16; Kempton Park, July 21 to 28; Maison Neuve, August 4 to August 11; King Edward Park, August 12 to August 19; Kempton Park, August 20 to August 27; Mount Royal, September 22 to September 29; Devonshire Park, September 29 to October 6.

AMERICAN RACING IN LONG COAT DAYS.

Virginia had no such faithful chronicler as fell to the lot of South Carolina, and though she boasted a noble line of horses prior to the Revolution, their records are incomplete The Old Dominion was the home of the four-milers; for seventy-five years the only race horse worth considering must be a four-miler.

Virginian pedigrees rise from the importation of Diomed in 1799 by Colonel Hoomes, who brought him into the country against the advice of friends when the horse was twenty-one years old. Diomed became the most famous horse America has ever entertained, his most famous son, Sir Archy, at the age of thirty-two years, living one year longer than the sire.

New York's four horses imported by James De Lancey, amazed little Old Manhattan by their speed. The beginning of the modern northern turf may be dated from the foaling of Maria Slamerkin by the The Cub mare, one of the four. However, a first-class race meeting was not held near New York until 1819. Before that date one may safely say that, in the greater number of races, a poor sort threw the cobbles and turf in each other's eyes as the field lumbered around the green.

At Bath, on Long Island, the green was laid out in 1819. Later the Union Course became the seat of fashionable racing. The Union Course is the most prominent in American turf history. Here the most famous battles between northern and southern horses were fought. It took many years for the Livingstons, De Lanceys, Gibbons and others to work up a fast breed of horses, but the opening of the Union Course found New York challenging the south for turf honors.

The first clash came in 1822, when American Eclipse won a race on the Washington course at Charleston, S. C., from a famous southern horse. That night, at a banquet, the northern horsemen offered to match Eclipse against any horse the south cared to bring forth, the race to consist of four-mile heats, to be run on Long Island the following May for $20,000 a side. The offer having been accepted, the southern men set out for New York the following spring with five horses. They met many misfortunes, losing two horses before arriving at their destination.

Sir Henry was the favorite matched finally against Eclipse. All arrangements having been completed on the day previous to the race, the southerners gave themselves up so completely to "seeing New York" that it was said the chief among them, Colonel William R. Johnson, their field general, did not reach the green the next day until the race had been run.

The disappointment of his friends is well summed up in the now famous remark of the fiery John of Roanoke:

"It was not Eclipse, but the lobsters, that beat Henry."

Three hard heats were run before 60,000 enthusiastic people. It was said that over $200,000 was lost on Dixieland that day.

					Scottish Chief / Violet

LIGHT BRIGADE was bred by Lord Derby. As a two-year-old he won the Highclere Nursery, in a field of twenty-one, and Liverpool Nursery, carrying top-weight in a good field; beaten a neck by Prue in Hurst Park Foal Plate (with Jest third, two lengths away), a neck by Canzone in Lancaster Nursery, and two lengths by Jest in the Free Handicap, and once unplaced.

As a three-year-old he won eleven races consecutively, including the Column Produce Stakes (from Sun Yat, Young Pegasus, etc.), Hurst Park Yearling Plate (beating Roseworthy, Aldegond, and others), Great National Produce Stakes (giving the second 24 lbs.), Durham County Produce Plate (by two lengths from Cantilever, in receipt of 9 lbs.), Great Yorkshire Stakes, North Derby, an Ascot Triennial, etc., beaten a neck in Select Stakes, and twice unplaced.

Started seven times at four years, winning the Atlantic Stakes (by three lengths from Breakspear, etc.), March Stakes (by four lengths), and Bridgeman Stakes, carrying top-weight in each race, second to Birlingham at even weights in an Ascot Triennial, and to Sun Yat (received 3 lbs.), in New Biennial, savaged by another horse in Epsom Plate, and broke down in The Whip.

Light Brigade retired to the stud in 1915.

Will be permitted to serve ten outside mares.

THE SCALE OF WEIGHTS FOR AGE.

"Twenty years have elapsed" as they say in the playbills) since there has been a revision of the Eastern scale of weights. In all human affairs revision has been found constantly necessary in order to adapt them to present conditions. States hold constitutional conventions at stated periods to revise their constitutions and render them applicable to new conditions constantly arising. The Rules of Racing have, from time to time, been amended; but since 1896 no alteration has been made in the scale of weights for age.

It is certain the Jockey Club would have long since revised the scale, but for the legislation that caused a suspension of racing for a considerable period. When racing was resumed, the need of revision was not pressing—there were no weight-for-age races, the class of the horses too inferior. Consequently, there were little else than handicaps and selling races. But now conditions are better. The class of horses is better, stakes of value and importance are being offered and it is likely a revision of the scale will be considered.

When, in 1866 the American Jockey Club's rules became the code of Eastern racing, the scale was a very simple one. At weights for age, at all distances, two-year-olds carried 75 lbs.; three-year-olds 90 lbs. (after Sept. 1st 95 lbs.); four-year-olds 108 lbs.; five 114 lbs; six 118 lbs. This covered all months of the year. In races exclusively for two-year-olds, 100 lbs.; and for three-year-olds 110 lbs. were the weights.

The first revision was in 1876 when a sliding scale was adopted; the weights changing each month except in the case of four-year-olds, which was 118 lbs. throughout the season. The weights for two-year-olds were raised to 110 lbs. and three-year-olds to 118 lbs. In 1881, the scale was again revised and in 1888 a further revision was made. This held until 1896, when the present Jockey Club issued the scale which has been in use ever since.

Under normal conditions, the present scale would be satisfactory. But now horses are raced so frequently that, by the time a horse reaches his third or fourth season of racing, he has begun to lose his speed. The consequence is that under the present scale, the average four, five or six-year-old is at a distinct disadvantage. For the past fifteen years, the three-year-olds have won a majority of the weight-for-age races. Even in the handicaps, the superiority of the three-year-olds has been apparent. I can remember the time when horsemen said no three-year-old could win the Brooklyn Handicap. None had, although many had tried;but since then they have. Fourteen renewals of the race had been run before Conroy won it, and since then Irish Lad, Superman, Celt and Friar Rock.

In recent years it has become a common matter to see a three-year-old with top weight in the important handicaps and winning them. The Manager did; so did Roamer and Stromboli. Fifteen years ago, such a thing would not have been believed possible. It is daily more apparent that a good three-year-old has a decided advantage over older horses under the present scale; unless in an exceptional case, or where the older horse has been only moderately raced.

As regards two-year-olds their advantage over older horses under the present scale is quite pronounced. My attention was first directed to this as long ago as the autumn of 1895. Ben Brush, a two-year-old, was entered for an all-aged heavy handicap at Gravesend, 6 furlongs. I allotted him 108 lbs. There was a good entry, but all "scratched" but four. Meeting Mr. M. F. Dwyer, owner of Ben Brush, I remarked:

"Only four starters for the handicap."

"Yes; my colt has scared them all out," he replied, laughing, "they think you have let him in too lightly."

"I thought he had all he deserved," I answered.

"He has—yes; of course—he's giving them all weight and age."

"He's conceding Lucania 11 lbs. and she is one of the best three-year-old fillies of the year," I observed.

"Well," responded Mr. Dwyer, "I expect him to win, but for all that I think as a two-year-old against old horses and in the mud, too, he has all the weight he can carry."

I was wrong, for Ben Brush won easily. That autumn I believe, he could have given away his year and a beating to any three-year-old in training.

At the Morris Park meeting, which followed, I was furnished additional evidence of the ability of the two-year-olds to defeat older horses under the scale. Mr. Belmont's Refugee, 2 yrs., with 87 lbs. won at a mile, beating Beldemere, 4 yrs., 110 lbs.; Rubicon, 4 yrs., 117 lbs.; Buckrene, 4 yrs., 100 lbs.; Lamplighter, 6 yrs., 108 lbs., and others. Three days later, Refugee, at six furlongs, with 128 lbs., defeated a field conceding 13 lbs. actual weight to a three-year-old. A few days later Refugee, with only 94 lbs., was only beaten a neck by Lucania, 4 yrs., with 108 lbs. At the same meeting, Prince Lief, 2 yrs., with 89 lbs., won at 1 1-8 miles, easily defeating Lucania, 3 yrs., 104 lbs,—and Lucania won the Withers Stakes the same meeting.

During the Morris Park autumn meeting the following year (1896) Challenger, 2 yrs., won the Fordham Handicap, with 109 lbs., beating Arapahoe, 5 yrs., 104 lbs.; Brandywine, 4 yrs., 130 lbs., and others. Cleophus, 2 yrs,. with 109 lbs. at 5½ furlongs, defeated Tremargo, 3 yrs., 114 lbs.; Bonaparte, 3 yrs., 115 lbs., and others. Typhoon, 2 yrs., 118 lbs., at 6½ furlongs defeated Brandywine, 4 yrs., 126 lbs., and others. Divide, 2 yrs., won a mile handicap with 124 lbs., conceding weight to a field of old horses.

But the Morris Park autumn meeting of 1899 was the occasion of my proving what two-year-olds could do with older horses; and it was a rout. Pupil, 2 yrs., 107 lbs., won at five furlongs, beating St. Calatine, 4 yrs., 110 lbs., and four others. Herbert, 2 yrs., 93 lbs., won at a mile from old horses, among them Charentus, 5 yrs., 109 lbs.; Decanter, 4 yrs., 112 lbs., and others. Waring, 2 yrs., with 108 lbs., won the Bronx Handicap at six furlongs, beating Muskadine, 4 yrs., 113 lbs.; Richard J., 4 yrs., 118 lbs.; Previous, 4 yrs., 135 lbs., and Trillo, 4 yrs., 116 lbs. King's Courier, 2 yrs., 109 lbs., won a six furlong handicap for all ages, defeating Souchon, 3 yrs., 98 lbs.; Admiration, 3 yrs., 123 lbs.; St. Cloud, 5 yrs., 122 lbs., and Heliobas, 3 yrs., 114 lbs. King's Courier won by three lengths. According to the scale he conceded Souchon 31 lbs. Waring in his race conceded (constructively) 18 lbs. to Muskadine, which defeated Ethelbert at the same meeting.

The race between Plaudit and Ben Brush at Gravesend in 1897 created a sensation at the time. It was at 1 1 1-6 miles. Plaudit 2 yrs., with 90 lbs. made all the running and defeated Ben Brush, 4 yrs., 126 lbs., by a head. According to the scale, he conceded Ben Brush one pound; and Ben Brush was the champion racer of that season. The race at Sheepshead Bay in 1903 between The Minute Man, 2 yrs., 92 lbs., and McChesney, 4 yrs., 122 lbs., at one mile was similar. McChesney was a favorite, 5 to 3 on, but The Minute Man won as he liked, conceding McChesney 7 lbs. by the scale. At Laurel in 1912, Yankee Notions, 2 yrs, 99 lbs., conceded to such older horses as Sir John Johnson, 5 lbs.; Housemaid, 13 lbs.; Rose Queen, 17 lbs. At Laurel in 1914, Sharpshooter, 2 yrs., conceded 15 lbs. to Hester Prynne; 24 lbs. to Springboard; 21 lbs. to Isidora; 28 lbs. to Pardner.

In recent years the two-year-olds have not started against older horses as frequently as they did in the years mentioned. And for a good reason—the races for two-year-olds exclusively have increased to such an extent that they need not go out of their own class. Racing secretaries find that races exclusively for two-year-olds fill better than any others. At Saratoga last season out of 145 races 47 were for two-year-olds; at Belmont Park autumn meeting, 23 out of 72; at Havre de Grace, 42 out of 119; at Laurel, 52 out of 182. Even as recently as the Laurel meeting, in a race at one mile Koh-i-Noor, 2 yrs., 90 lbs., was only beaten a head by Capra, 4 yrs., 113 lbs., and then only by the inability of the little boy who rode her to finish with Shuttinger.

It is needless to cite more instances. I have cited enough to show that, at the present scale the two and three-year-olds appear to have an advantage over the older horses. I might cite Africander's Suburban, or Sysonby's Great Republic and Annual Champion, and a host of others, all tending to show that the younger horses prevail; but if these are too remote for the purpose, I need only cite such "modern instances" as Friar Rock's Brooklyn, Suburban and Saratoga Cup; Dodge winning with top weight the all aged handicaps; and gallant little Spur conceding his year in weight to the best old horses in training, and fighting it out with them at the winning post.

W. S. VOSBURGH.

SHORT GRASS.

Among the many high-class imported horses that will stand in Kentucky in 1917, none has better credentials for success than Short Grass. In addition to being bred along approved lines, he is a horse of splendid conformation and individuality.

The tabulated pedigree, picture and full particulars of Short Grass will be found in the announcement in this issue. The attention of breeders is especially called to same.

VANDERGRIFT AT STONEWALL STUD.

John W. Schorr's Vandergrift will make the season of 1917 at Breckinridge Viley & Sons' Stonewall Farm, free to approved mares.

Vandergrift won his inaugural start as a two-year-old at Churchill Downs, beating among other juveniles, Dr. Samuel, afterward winner of the Canadian Derby, Harbard, Boots and Saddle, Destino, etc. He won several races at two, among them the Spring Brewery Stakes at five furlongs, in which he carried 113 pounds, and went the distance in 1:00 2-5, Southern Maid, The Usher, Silent Pilot, etc., finishing behind him. He was again winner at three.

Vandergrift is a five-year-old bay horse by Ben Brush (a high-class stake winner and sire of Broomstick, Sweep, Delhi, Trance, Lady Amelia and numerous other stake winners), out of Noonday (a stake winner and dam of the stake winners Besom, Suffragette, the English stake winner Meeting House and Suffragist, Summer Cloud, etc.), by Domino, the largest money-winning horse in America and sire of Commando. His grandam, imp. Sundown, was the dam of that high-class stake winner and successful sire, Peep O'Day, Fading Light, Crepuscule, Nightfall, etc. The next dam Sunshine (winner and dam of Bushey Park) was by Thormanby, out of Sunbeam, winner of the St. Leger and dam of Phoebus, Merry Sunshine, etc., by Chanticleer. This is the No. 1 family, which has produced more classic winners than any other, among them being four English Derby winners in Ladas, Jeddah, Cicero and Spearmint. No fault can be found with the breeding of Vandergrift, as the best and most potent blood of England and America is found in his pedigree, which is published elsewhere in this issue.

FLOTSAM IN THE STUD IN AMERICA.

Grant Hugh Browne, of the Brownleigh Park Breeding Corporation, Goshen, N. Y., announces the services of his recently imported stallion Flotsam to the public.

Flotsam is a bay horse, foaled 1900, winner of the Middle Park Plate (beating Rock Sand), and well over £10,000 in stakes, never running unplaced. He is by St. Frusquin out of Float, the best two-year-old filly of her year, and three-parts sister to Glare, the most wonderful broodmare of the times, and dam of Lesbia, Flair, and Vivid—all by St. Frusquin, and grandam of Prince Palatine and Ladylike, the best mare in Germany 1909. Flotsam was sent to South America in 1905, and the average price realized in Buenos Aires for Flotsam's first South American produce was the highest of the year; and in 1909 a Flotsam colt sold for £3,950, and another for £2,275—seven colts by Flotsam bringing the magnificent average of £1,432½. Owing to the fact that his Uruguayan stock are no longer eligible for the chief Argentine races, his owner decided to dispose of his stud, and St. Frusquin's best son was acquired by a syndicate of English breeders. He is the sire of the winners of over £23,000 in South America, and of Elaine, Merry Mabel, etc., in England.

Flotsam is a powerful bay horse, standing 16 hands with the very best of limbs, great bone and strong, clean hocks. He stood in England at the famous Cobham Stud at a fee of 100 guineas (groom's fee one guinea), over $500.

Mr. Browne is certainly to be congratulated on securing a horse of Flotsam's class, and breeders will undoubtedly avail themselves of the great opportunity of sending mares to such a sire. See announcement on another page for full particulars.

DICK FINNELL AT PIATT'S.

Dick Finnell, as will be noted from the announcement in the advertising columns of this issue of THE THOROUGHBRED RECORD, will stand the coming season at Thomas Piatt's Brookdale Farm, near Lexington.

Robert H. Anderson, of Georgetown, his owner, desires this splendid and highly promising son of King Eric and Tea's Over, to have a better opportunity at the stud than is afforded him in the limited harem to which since his retirement from the turf he has been confined, and that is why this good brother to Dick Welles and Ort Wells from the dam of Security, Hasty Pudding and Sandwich, is to be in the new location for 1917.

Dick Finnell was a fast and game race horse, but he was not a "lucky" horse in racing. His career on the turf was comparatively brief, and his retirement dated to the unseating of his rider, following which he was carromed into the fence and sustained an injury to his left hip which rendered him unfit for racing, as it later developed.

Dick Finnell won two races at one mile, the first in 1:39 1-5 and the second in 1:40. His time for a race at one mile and one-sixteenth was 1:46 and for a race at one mile and one-eighth 1:54 3-5.

The first of Dick Finnell's get raced as two year-olds in 1912. That year he had out three starters and they were the winners Frederick L., Fred Levy and Kinder Lou. Frederick L.'s turf record was nine wins, five seconds, eight thirds, and $6,350 earned; Fred Levy won thirteen races, eleven seconds, eighteen thirds, and $5,100, while Kinder Lou has scored five wins, eight seconds, ten thirds, and $1,925.

Dick Finnell's second crop numbered two starters, Gitana winning three races, five seconds, two thirds, and $1,080, and the unfortunate Serene being only once third.

His third crop likewise was two—Katherine G., winner of four races, seven seconds, nine thirds, and $2,619, and Joe D., two wins, three seconds, seven thirds, and $935.

His fourth crop were two-year-olds in 1915 and the star of these is Dick Williams, winner of ten races, five seconds, three thirds, and $9,400, and among his victories was the Latonia Derby and Independence Day Handicap. Elkton, Test and Lady Finnell were other winners out of this crop. Elkton won one race and two seconds, earning $753, and Test won one race, three seconds, two thirds, and $500. Lady Finnell was sent to the British West Indies where she won three races. Base Ball and Bob Blossom started but did not win.

The performances of Frederick L. gave greater encouragement for mating with Dick Finnell and as a result he had fourteen registered two-year-olds in 1916. Hanover Belle was the only one not starting. Cousin Bob and Dr. Swords started but did not get money. Miles Finlen and Rose Finn, were money earners, but not race winners. The other nine, of which Westy Hogan is the star, were winners. Westy Hogan won the Ft. Thomas Stakes and was second in the Breeders' Futurity, running his race with an injured knee. He won five of his eight races and was second in the other three. His earnings aggregate $6,242. The other eight winers are:

Nettie Walcutt	3	5	2	$2,048
Money	2	3	0	1,457
King Dick	2	1	1	1,233
Al M. Dick	1	2	1	724
R. H. Anderson	1	0	0	695
Tom Jr.	1	0	0	575
Bingen	1	1	0	470
Total	18	16	7	$14,949

In the five years of Dick Finnell's representation on the turf he has had twenty-two money-earning performers, nineteen of them race winners, three of them stake winners, and in the aggregate they have won sixty-nine times, been second sixty-six times and third sixty-nine times. The total money earned, not counting the winnings of Lady Finnell in the British West Indies, is $43,999.

It isn't necessary to go into Dick Finnell's pedigree further than to say that he is of the sturdy No. 9 family, being the son of Tea's Over, a daughter of Hanover, which traces back to the Old Vintner mare. In Tea's Over there is a triple union of the blood of Glencoe and nine-sixteenths of the blood of this great mare trace in male line to the House of Herod, while the other seven-sixteenths are derived from Eclipse. King Eric, son of King Ernest and Cyclone by Parmesan, belongs to the No. 3 family, valuable for its dual qualities, since it is at once a running and a sire line, the taproot being the Dam of Two True Blues.

Mr. Anderson has fixed Dick Finnell's fee at $100 to insure a foal, and Mr. Piatt will be glad to furnish any particulars desired with reference to the services of this good stallion.

"HINDOO WAS A GREAT HORSE."

James Rowe, the "Old Master," recognized by horsemen the country over as a peerless handler of thoroughbred racers and one of the very few trainers who can and does single out a particular race, prepare a horse for that event and invariably wind-up by winning it.

"Mr. Rowe, tell me what you believe was the best horse you ever sent to the post?" asked a certain well-known sportsman. "You trained Sysonby, which the late Mr. Keene declared was the best horse ever raced in America; you handled the great Colin, which the American public believed had no equal, and you've trained many others too numerous to mention. What's the answer?"

The "Old Master" studied a moment, then, in his most peculiar droll manner, replied: "Well, Hindoo was a great horse."

In this connection it might be well to publish a brief history of Hindoo:

Hindoo by Virgil, son of Vandal, bred by D. Swigert, Elmendorf Stud, Lexington, Ky., foaled 1878, dam Florence by Lexington, son of Boston, out of imp. Weatherwitch, dam of Little Mack and Mollie Cad by Weatherbit, son of Sheet Anchor. Hindoo was the sensation two-year-old of his year, started in nine races, won seven, was second in one, third in one. Hindoo, at Lexington, Ky., won the Colt and Filly Stakes for two-year-olds, three-quarters of a mile, in 1:17¾, beating Alfambra, Brambaletta and seven others. Louisville, Ky., won Alexander Stakes, half a mile, in 50 seconds, beating Banter, Maretzek and eight others; won the Tennessee Stakes for two-year-olds, three-quarters of a mile, in 1:16, beating Brambaletta, Ripple, Bootjack and five others. St. Louis, won the Juvenile Stakes for two-year-olds, three-quarters of a mile, in 1:17¼, beating Voltague and six others; won the Jockey Club Stakes for two-year-olds, 1 mile, in 1:44, beating Lelex, Voltague, Enniskillen, a fast and good race. Chicago, won the Criterion Stakes for two-year-olds, three-quarters of a mile, in 1:15, beating Ripple, Greenland and three others. This was the fastest three-quarters ever run by a two-year-old to that date. Won the Tremont Hotel Stakes for two-year-olds, 1 mile, in 1:48, beating Lizzie S., Ripple and Moses. In all these races, except the Tennessee Stakes, he carried 100 lbs., in the Tennessee, 105 lbs. Saratoga, ran third to Crickmore and Bonnie Lizzie in the Windsor Hotel Stakes for two-year-olds, 5 furlongs, in 1:05, track heavy, beating Thora and four others; ran second to Thora in the Day Boat Line Stakes, three-quarters of a mile, in 1:17¼, beating Bonnie Lizzie and three others. In these races he carried 110 lbs. He had just changed hands and did not run up to his previous form.

Three years old, won eighteen out of twenty races. Lexington, Ky., won Blue Ribbon Stakes, 1½ miles, in 2:38, beating Getaway, Bend'or, Creosote and four others. Louisville, Ky., won Kentucky Derby, 1½ miles, in 2:40, beating Lelex, Alfambra and three others; won Clark Stakes, 1¼ miles, in 2:10¾, beating Alfambra, Bootjack, Bend'or and Sligo. Jerome Park, won a dash of 1 mile and a furlong, in 2:02½, beating Sir Hugh, Jack of Hearts and Rob Roy; won a dash of 1 mile and 3 furlongs, in 2:34, track heavy. Sheepshead Bay, won Tidal Stakes, 1 mile, in 1:43¼, beating Crickmore and Saunterer; won the Coney Island Derby, 1½ miles, in 2:47½, beating Baltic. Monmouth Park, won Ocean Stakes for all ages, 1 mile and a furlong, in 1:57, beating Monitor, Glidelia, etc.; won Lorillard Stakes, 1½ miles, in 2:39¾., beating Crickmore and Saunterer; walked over for a Sweepstakes of $1,000 each, with $2,000 added. Saratoga, won the Travers Stakes, 1¾ miles, in 3:07½, beating Eole, Getaway and Compensation; won Sequel Stakes, 1¾ miles, in 3:21, track heavy. In this race Hindoo carried 123 lbs., including a penalty of five pounds, and beat Greenland and Valentino; won United States Hotel Stakes, 1½ miles, in 2:36, beating Crickmore, Bonfire and Gladiola; won Kenner Stakes, 2 miles, in 3:32, a fast race. Monmouth Park, won Champion Stakes for all ages, 1½ miles, in 2:39, beating Monitor and Parole; won Jersey St. Leger, 1¾ miles, in 3:18, carrying 123 lbs., beating Bona Fide. Sheepshead Bay, won race of mile heats, in 1:42¼, 1:45¼, beating Sir Hugh; won a dash of a mile, in 1:42, beating Sir Hugh and Edendary; was second in the Brighton Beach Purse, 1½ miles, won by Crickmore, in 2:36¼; was third in the September Handicap, 1¾ miles, won by Crickmore, in 3:03, Hindoo carrying 123 lbs.

As a four-year-old won five races out of six. Louisville, Ky., won Louisville Cup, 2¼ miles, in 3:57¾, beating Checkmate, Glidelia, Lida Stanhope and Blazes. Won Merchants' Stakes for all ages, 1 mile and a furlong, in 1:59½, beating Checkmate, Runnymede and Creosote; won Turf Stakes, 1¼ miles, in 2:08½, carrying 122 lbs., beating Checkmate (aged), 123 lbs., and Creosote (4), 114 lbs. Sheepshead, won Coney Island Stakes for three-year-olds and upwards, 1 mile and a furlong, in 1:57¾, Barrett the only starter; won Coney Island Cup, 2¼ miles, in 3:58, beating Eole and Parole. This was the best race run at the distance during the year, and compares favorably with similar races.

Hindoo was a grandly bred horse, his blood combining all the best strains in England and America. His sire was by the best son of Glencoe, and he had a large infusion of Diomed blood through both sides, together with a double cross of imp. Buzzard, fortified by the stout crosses Whalebone, Herod and Eclipse on the dam's side. Hindoo was a dark bay, 15 hands 3¼ inches high, with large star in his forehead, right hind foot white to pastern.

Hindoo was a great success in the stud.

COMMISSION HAS POWER TO REGULATE TRACKS.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Dec. 11.—Holding that the Kentucky State Racing Commission is clothed with power to regulate the race tracks in the State in the same manner as has the police department to regulate the cities of the State and that by reason of this power or authority, the Commission has the right to fix the amount of money to be offered as purses, Judge Samuel B. Kirby today denied the application of the Douglas Park Jockey Club for a temporary restraining order to enjoin the Commission from fixing $800 as the minimum for purses. He also sustained the demurrer of the Commission to the petition of the Jockey Club, which in effect dismissed the petition, and granted the Jockey Club an appeal to the Court of Appeals.

Judge Kirby said that because of a press of business he had been unable to write an opinion, setting forth in full his reasons for denying the prayer of the Jockey Club, but that he likely would do so within the next few days. It was understood, he said, that the officials of the jockey club as well as the members of the Commission, desired to have the questions at issue decided by the Court of Appeals at the earliest possible moment in order that the decision will be effective before the race meeting next spring, and for that reason he passed on the motions without writing an opinion.

Judge Kirby said that while it is true as contended by counsel for the JockeyClub that the law creating the Commission did not say specifically that it had the right to fix the amount to be offered in purses, such right was there by implication and that in his opinion the Commission had not overstepped its authority in requiring the jockey club to fix purses at a minimum of $800.

Arguments on the motions were made ten days ago by Harvey Myers; of Covington, representing the Douglas Park Jockey Club, and John T. Shelby, of Lexington, representing the Racing Commission.

RACING DATES FOR 1916-1917.

Lower California Jockey Club, Tijuana, Mexico, beginning November 11—100 or more days.
Jockey Club Juarez, Juarez, Mexico, beginning November 30—100 or more days.

LOCAL NOTES.

Miss Elizabeth Daingerfield, acting for Corrigan & McKinney, Wickliffe Stud, purchased this week from Col. Milton Young, the ten-year-old Octagon mare, Woodnitch, bay, out of Wood-nymph, by The Ill-Used or Magnetizer, next dam Woodbine, by Censor or Kentecky. Woodnitch will be bred next year to Last Coin, son of Ultimus and Half Crown. In fact it was the suitability of this mare's bloodlines for Last Coin, that induced Miss Daingerfield to buy her. Woodnitch's breeding is practically the same as that of Woodlane's, which produced that speed marvel, Harry Kelly, when bred to Ultimus. Woodlane is by Octagon, out of Woodvine, by Magnetizer, next dam Woodbine, by Censor or Kentucky, also grandam of Woodnitch.

Two race meetings are now said to be assured at Hot Springs, but without danger of friction, The first meeting will start immediately after the close of the New Orleans meeting, about the middle of March and will be followed by the meeting at the other track.

Col. Milton Young had five mares booked to his stallion Horron this week.

J. C. Milam has purchased from W. H. Laudeman's Estate the yearling bay colt by Peep O'Day—Damson. The price paid was reported to be $2,250. This colt was broken by T. L. Pierce, who says of him: "He can run as fast as horses run."

It is Mr. Milam's intention to race this colt and after his racing days are over to put him in his stud, as he is bred to suit him for a stock horse. This colt's sire is an imported horse and his dam is by Ethelbert (a son of imp. Eothen and imp. Maori, by Poulet) out of imp. Antiope, by Amphion.

Pat McCann of Bushnell, Ill., has bought from W. C. Du Brock, the five-year-old bay gelding, The Hermit, by Hermis out of Flying Fashion by Jim Gore; second dam Clairette by Candlemas; third dam Intrepid by Hindoo.

Brownell Combs, one of the proprietors of Belair Stock Farm is in New York this week. He left here Tuesday to attend the sale of imported yearlings, property of the Brownleigh Park Breeding Corporation, held at Durland's Riding Academy on Thursday. Mr. Combs is in the market for a few choicely bred mares, and hoped to be able to secure two or three fillies out of this sale.

Theodore L. Pierce, who is training Stephen R. and Peter J. and five coming two-year-olds for Frank J. Kelley, the Chicago wall-paper king, at the Kentucky Association track, is highly pleased with his prospects for the 1917 racing season. He may conclude to ship to Louisville and train at Churchill Downs during the remainder of the winter. The main track here is to be closed as soon as the severe weather sets in and will be covered with straw. Pierce does not fancy the sand track used here for winter gallops.

The coming two-year-olds have been named as follows:

Saza-Namy, chestnut filly, by Trap Rock—Fizgig.

Ichi-Ban, bay filly, by Trap Rock—Linda Stone.

Black Ben, brown colt, by Ben Trovato—Dulcinea.

Irish Beau, chestnut colt, by Bourbon Beau—Lauretta Stolworthy.

Best Beau, chestnut colt, by Bourbon Beau—Francisca.

Saza-Namy and Ichi-Ban (Japanese for very fast and number one) can run like the wind. They worked a quarter here the other day in 0:23, the first eighth in 0:11 2-5 and the second eighth in 0:11 3-5. Saza-Namy is a three-quarter sister to Flint Rock. Best Beau is out of the dam of six winners.

Pierce broke the bay colt by Peep O'Day—Damson and the chestnut colt by Jack Atkin—Barbara Whiting for the late W. H. Laudeman and likewise for Jess Spencer he broke the sister to Blackie Daw and the sister to Taxi, both by Transvaal, the former being out of Merry Day and the latter out of Patsy Carroll.

It was a mistake to have said that Tom Clemmons bought "the yearling bay colt by Trap Rock, out of Baby Rose (sister to Paymaster), from George Lanckart," There is no yearling of that breeding according to Manager Ed Kane, of Nursery Stud. It was a weanling colt, by Patriot, out of Baby Rose, which figured in the transaction. Baby Rose, however, was mated with Trap Rock last spring. Patriot is a son of Ben Brush and Sandfly.

It is said to be practically assured that Memphis will stage a ten-day meeting following directly on the heels of the Hot Springs season in the spring. The racing last year at Hot Springs was so successful that Memphis merchants have resolved to have a meeting of their own. Joseph A. Murphy is behind the movement and he is expected to put it through.

* * *

Will Woodard left here Tuesday for New Orleans with Opportunity and three yearlings, two the property of James McClelland and the other for Charles Rowe. Jockey W. Hoag accompanied Woodard.

J. C. Milam has purchased a couple of weanlings from R. L. Baker—chestnut colt by Plaudit—Anna Hastings and brown colt by Plaudit—Lintila.

William J. Treacy, of the Kentucky Sales Company, who has been undergoing treatment at the Jewish Hospital, Cincinnati, O., will be able to return to his home in Lexington today. It is thought that Mr. Treacy's condition is slightly improved. His eyesight has been impaired for several years.

J. C. Milam sold Thursday to G. M. Garrison, of New York, the chestnut colt by Contestor—Fannie W. Fonso (dam of the winners Bess Ward, Mary Welch and Elwyn). The colt will be shipped East Sunday in G. D. Wilson's car, and will be turned over to William Jennings, of Baltimore, to be trained.

W. S. KILMER'S RECENT PURCHASES.

NEW YORK, December 10.—A cablegram received in Binghamton announces the purchase by Mr. Willis Sharpe Kilmer of several of the most noted thoroughbreds of the English turf. From the executors of the late Sir Maurice Fitzgerald, Bart, C. V. O. (Knight of Kerry), owner of the Buckland Stud, Berks, Mr. Kilmer has obtained this good trio at the Newmarket:

Brownie, a bay mare, foaled in 1909, by Gallinule out of Elf (a winner and dam of winners), by Galopin out of Queen of the Meadows (a winner and dam, amongst others, of Tyrant, winner of the Doncaster and Chester Cups, Ascot Gold Vase, etc,), and by Exminster (by Newminster) out of Queen of the May (a winner of nine races and dam of many winners), by King of Trumps, out of Lady Hawthorn, by Windhound out of Alice Hawthorn, by Muley Moloch; covered by Marcovil and believed to be in foal. Brownie is of the famous No. 4 family. Her yearling, by William the Third, was sold last July for $3,300.

St. Fey, a black filly two years old, by St. Frusquin out of Brownie. St. Fey was not trained owing to the war.

Misty Law (1909), a bay mare (winner of the Hardwicke Stakes of 500 sovereigns and two other races), by Ayrshire out of Ben Doran (dam of winners), by Bend Or out of Vaurienne (a good winner and dam of The Warrior and many other winners), by Galopin out of Palisade (dam of Golden Gate, Palisandra, etc.), by Albert Victor out of Obelisk (dam of winners). by Cathedral out of Vlie, by Zuyder Zee; covered by King's Proctor and believed to be in foal. Misty Law is of the celebrated No. 14 family. King's Proctor is by Persimmon out of Decree Nisi, by Wisdom.

From the Earl of Ellesmere Mr. Kilmer has bought Sabretache, a bay mare foaled in 1911 by the famous Martagon out of Sabrinetta, by Kilwarlin out of Sabra, by St. Simon out of Belinda, by Hampton out of Belle of Bury, by Caterer. Sabretache is in foal to John o'Gaunt and was regarded as the choicest mare of the Earl of Ellesmere's celebrated stud near Newmarket.

From an English gentleman, whose name is not made known, Mr. Kilmer has purchased Glenfernate, a bay mare foaled in 1912, by Tredennis—Straloch, by Rock Sand—Stolen Love (a winner and dam of winners of $25,000, including Wrinkler, Serenader and Nassau) out of True Love (dam of many winners), by Sterling. Glenfernante is of the famous No. 3 family and was several times a winner as a two-year-old. She is in foal to Balscadden.

Mr. Kilmer also became the owner of a bay yearling by Bachelor's Double—Lady Edgar, by Sir Edgar—Moyvalley, by Blitz, out of Portion, by Beaufort. This filly was foaled May 19. Lady Edgar was the best two-year-old of her year in Ireland, winning amongst other races the Phoenix Plate of of 1,500 sovereigns at Phoenix Park. Moyvalley is the dam of numerous winners, and her yearling filly by Bachelor's Double, was sold in September for 1,600 guineas. Bachelor's Double is by Tredennis—Lady Bawn. This filly, which was the property of Mrs. Moloney, an English lady renowned for her thoroughbred winners, was entered for some of the biggest stakes of 1917.

Mr. Kilmer also has purchased Marienworth, Lovelight and Sobranje.

Although Henry McDaniel, Mr. Kilmer's trainer, represented Mr. Kilmer in the buying of these horses, Mr. Kilmer personally selected them.

Mr. Kilmer has directed that his new thoroughbreds be brought to America at the earliest favorable opportunity. The present plan is to bring these horses directly to Binghamton and to winter them at the Kilmer Stock Farm on Riverside Drive, where Mr. Kilmer already has half a hundred of good thoroughbred stock, including horses in training, stallions, broodmares and foals, yearlings and weanlings.

WINNING TWO-YEAR-OLDS.

This table includes the racing to December 15, 1916:

MARTIMAS IS DESTROYED.

HAMILTON, CAN., Dec. 13.—The leading Valley Farm sire, the Futurity winner, Martimas, is dead. Until stricken with colic last Thursday, he was apparently in the best of health, but the next day he broke a leg and had to be destroyed. He was the largest winning horse owned in Canada, his earnings amounting to nearly $52,000, beginning with the Niagara Stakes at Fort Erie in 1898 as a two-year-old. That was his most successful season from the earnings point of view, as his record included his success in the Futurity, trained by Eddie Whyte and ridden by Harry Lewis, in a field of twenty-three starters. The following season he won the Canadian Derby at Fort Erie, and the next year the Toronto Cup, while he was also a winner three times as a five-year-old.

Though he was practically confined to the mares at Valley Farm after his transfer to the stud, his progeny have won about $70,000. They include the King's Plate winners, Kelvin and Shimonese, and one of the very fastest of Canadian-breds, Slipper Day.

Martimas was a chestnut horse, foaled in 1896, and therefore 20 years old at the time of his death. He was bred by Jennings & Enright, Elmenedrf Stud, Lexington, Ky., by imported Candlemas, full brother to St. Blaise, from the Bramble mare Biggonet, and was bought as a yearling by the late William Hendrie, who had the greatest fondness for him as a gallant racehorse and a son of a good mare. Mr. Hendrie never forgot seeing Biggonet win at Saratoga after being more than an hour at the post, and was determined to have her colt when he was offered at auction, even though other good judges near home did not hold such a high opinion of him as a prospect.

$15,000 ADDED TO KENTUCKY DERBY.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Dec. 11.—Fifteen thousand dollars in added money will be hung up for the 1917 Kentucky Derby, according to announcement today by Secretary H. C. Applegate, of the New Louisville Jockey Club. This unparalleled figure in the turf of this State will make the blue ribbon event of three-year-old racing in this country worth close to $20,000 and probably place it at the top of all races in America in point of value.

Kentucky for years has blazed the way in offering rich reward for thoroughbred prowess. Its $10,000 Kentucky Derby, Kentucky Handicap and Latonia Derby have stood as a tribute to successful conduct of racing in this Commonwealth, being eclipsed only by the East's one effort at liberality, the Futurity. Now Kentucky has taken another forward step and it is probable that this race will set a new mark in money value for present-day turf fixtures.

With the crop of coming three-year-olds the best that has been developed in recent years, the field in the 1917 classic gives every promise of being the superior of all preceding ones. Two-year-olds of the highest caliber were shown in the West during the past season, and it is almost a certainty that the cream of Eastern talent will be on hand to strive for the rich reward and the prestige that always goes to the winner of this race.

The international aspect presented by the event in the last two years also will not be missing, and contention from foreign-bred animals promises to be even more worthy than before. A. K. Macomber, who so narrowly missed capturing the 1916 Derby with Star Hawk, will make a still more determined effort with English blood.

In addition to the good imported performers raced in this country during the past year by Mr. Macomber, he will have in his string one of the greatest three-year-old colts even brought to America. This animal is North Star, one of England's leading two-year-olds during the 1916 season.

North Star was bought from J. B. Joel, and the sale by the wealthy British sportsman is taken in England as a jar to racing and breeding in that country. North Star won the Middle Park Plate, and was rated by all British experts as one of the favorites for the Epsom Derby and Doncaster St. Leger. The fact that Mr. Joel has seen fit to dispose of this son of Sunstar is taken as an indication that he does not look with hope on turf prospects in England.

With such a string to his bow, Mr. Macomber's stable undoubtedly will occupy chief consideration in any possible winter book calculations. His good filly, Sunbonnet, also appeared to be of Derby caliber in racing here, and should he decide to send more than one representative to the post, as last year, it is not improbable that this route-loving individual will be pointed for the Downs event.

Although R. T. Wilson has confined his racing activity to the East, it is hoped he will make a bid for the Derby next year with his good colt, Campfire. The king of 1916 two-year-olds is a logical representative of American breeding against this imported colt, and with the huge reward for the winner it is believed that Mr. Wilson will venture to Kentucky next May.

Kentucky's prospects were never better for Derby material. Most highly rated of the animals which performed in this section during the past season are Midway, Westy Hogan and Harry Kelly. Some doubt the ability of the latter to stay a route, but the caliber of Midway and Westy Hogan seemed proved during the fall campaign. Others just a trifle short of the form of this trio in two-year-old racing demonstrated marked class, and with the remarkable change in many types in developing from two-year-olds into three-year-olds, numerous serious bidders for the mile-and-a-quarter crown appear a certainty.

There is also the prospect of invasion from the East by a number of stables with sturdy representation, probably most prominent among them being August Belmont with his good colt, Hourless. This two-year-old demonstrated beyond doubt that he would prove most formidable over a distance, and experts have pronounced him the ideal type of Derby horse. Mr. Belmont considered wintering part of his stable here, and although he abandoned the idea, it is believed that he had in mind the Kentucky Derby.

Harry Payne Whitney, as usual, will be represented should his three-year-olds work to the liking of James Rowe, and Rickety seems to be the leading prospect. Schuyler Parsons, it is believed, will send his clever filly, Koh-i-Noor. All in all, Derby prospects appear most rosy.

AMERICAN INFLUENCE ON ENGLISH RACING.

Whilst England is quiescent, in a racing sense, America is going in for racing as strong as they can to attract racing men from our own country, and are buying all the race horses and valuable broodmares that they can. Americans know that racing and race horses must always abound in rich countries, and that the thoroughbred is a most valuable asset. They know that very few rich men will stay in a country where there is no racing, hunting, or other sport, and they know that no country can thrive unless its rich men spend their money there. When racing was stopped in America a few years ago, the race horses were disposed of, and what was the result? It soon was made clear to the majority that the great industry of breeding half-breds was being destroyed, and in all haste did they set about a renewal of racing and the replenishing of their reduced thoroughbreds from England.

An event having great influence on English racing was the introduction of the monkey seat, seen to perfection in Tod Sloan, who rode for the most part for Huggins' stable. It had been discovered in America that horses could carry weight much more easily on their shoulders than in the middle of their backs, whilst an additional advantage was gained by lying as low as possible on the horse's neck, and thereby avoiding the wind pressure, which must be great indeed when a horse at racing pace is meeting a high wind. For a long time the English owners and trainers held out against it, but certain defeat soon made it clear that the advantage of the "monkey" seat was absolutely overwhelming. By those means the foreigners had a great season of money-making. They came over to make money, and they made it. It must be admitted, too, that they were clever men with horses, and clever trainers. In spite of the money these foreigners were taking away to America with them, they were not bad times, and there is room for much anxiety lest America builds up the greatest horse-breeding industry in the world; and yet almost daily we read about business after the war. After the war, indeed; it will again be months too late!

By a steady and constant drain very many of our surplus horses in training have been scattered all over the world, and it seems to me that next year the two year-olds will greatly outnumber the older horses. Perhaps it is fortunate that it is so, and certainly at Newmarket we have a greater number and a much better-looking lot of yearlings than we had last year. Looking at the older horses retained in the various stables we first note that no doubtful ones remain.—[Warren Hill in London Sporting Life.

CALIFORNIA AND TEXAS RACING.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Charles W. Clark, of California, son of United States Senator Clark, is a visitor here. Young Mr. Clark is president of the Golden Gate Thoroughbred Breeders' Association of California, which body is behind a bill which is expected to bring racing back to that section of the Pacific Coast at the next meeting of the Legislature.

Mr. Clark assured friends whom he met in New York that there would be winter racing in California next year. He has selected New Orleans as the track on which to race his stable this winter, and now has enroute from his farm at San Mateo, California, a string of fifteen in charge of Trainer John Lowe.

The horses in the shipment are Brynlimah, Rose Marion, Aunt Liz, David Craig, Pleasureville, El Palomar, Eatham, Durward Roberts, Birdie, Gun Powder, Tresor and two unnamed Chantilly yearlings.

The horses have been quartered at San Mateo since the close of the meeting at Reno and are reported in good condition. Trainer Lowe will give them a couple of weeks' prep at New Orleans so that they will be ready to go to the barrier when the meeting gets under way. President Clark is collecting quite a formidable string of thoroughbreds, and it is expected that his silks will play an important part in the races.

California is not the only State where winter race meetings may be held within another year. At the next meeting of the Legislature in Texas a bill will be presented to legalize the sport with mutuel wagers, and those behind the movement have full confidence that it will pass.

Already plans are on foot to build a racing plant at San Antonio, where it is asserted the climate is far better for horses and the sport than in California during the winter months, because there is no rainy season such as on the Coast.

THORNCLIFFE LEASE HAS BEEN SIGNED.

TORONTO, CANADA, Dec. 11.—The lease of 125 acres of land for a new race course at Thorncliffe has been made to the Thorncliffe Breeding and Racing Association for ten years, according to the statement given out before "Gad" Bryan, J. A. Berger, Architect Wright and their legal representative left Toronto on Saturday, and the plant will be constructed by Holtby Bros., Limited. The personnel of the association has not been announced, but it was declared that Mr. Berger had undertaken to secure the necessary capital in Canada, if possible, for the operation of the track. It was also said it was intended to set about the construction work so that racing could be carried on next season. No apprehension was expressed on the question of securing a license from the Provincial Treasurer.

Racing dates have not yet been considered, but as the season in Ontario and Quebec is already fully appropriated by the existing tracks they will necessarily have to conflict with some other meeting. The declaration of the Horsemen's Association that the members would not race at any track in Ontario which was not under license last fall is another matter the consideration of which has not yet been reached, the deal for the control of the charter and lease being of primary importance.

MACOMBER AND BELMONT HORSES REACH AMERICA.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The Atlantic Transport Line's steamship Lancastrian brought to New York three valuable colts for A. K. Macomber and five weanlings for August Belmont yesterday. She docked at Pier 58 about 2:30 p. m.

Of course the notable feature of her consignment of thoroughbreds was North Star, the splendid son of Sunstar and Angelic, winner of the Barton Mills Nursery Handicap and the Middle Park Plate, the last mentioned being one of the most important of the English classics for two-year-olds, although he was beaten in the Dewhurst, another two-year-old event of importance, later in the season. It is reported that this colt cost Mr. Macomber $40,000. On the same ship Mr. Macomber had the three-year-old bay colt King's Joker, by Sunder out of Absurdity, a colt which has shown high class on the other side, and the two-year-old brown colt War Star, by Sunstar out of Verne.

ENGLISH REGISTER OF THOROUGHBRED STALLIONS.

Register of Thoroughbred Stallions, (Vol. III.), containing the tabulated pedigrees and racing performances of nearly 300 of the principal sires at the stud in the United Kingdom; together with an Appendix giving shorter pedigrees of 624 additional stallions. For sale by THE RECORD. Price $5.

Eighty-five stallions have been placed in the State of New York by the Breeding Bureau of the Jockey Club from May, 1906, the year it was created, to the end of 1916. In 1912, owing to the extensive exportations of thoroughbred produce, the bureau found it nearly impossible to find suitable stallions, and but one new horse was placed in the stud.

With the revival of racing, even on a moderate scale, twelve new stallions have been acquired and placed.

Jockey Frank Robinson will ride the horses trained by James Rowe for H. P. Whitney next season.

Christmas Holidays.

MR. EMIL HERZ ANNOUNCES THAT HIS STERLING RACEHORSE

IMP. SHORT GRASS

WILL MAKE HIS INITIAL SEASON IN THE STUD AT IDLE HOUR FARM, LEXINGTON, KY.

This magnificent stallion will be permitted to serve twenty-five approved mares, usual return privilege.

$300 Cash At Service

Short Grass is being retired absolutely sound.

There is no reason why Short Grass could not race on.

Short Grass is a stayer. He never wore blinkers.

SHORT GRASS is a bay horse, foaled in Ireland in 1908, by Laveno (winner of the $50,000 Jockey Club Stakes at Newmarket, defeating the Derby winners Ladas and Sir Visto), out of Outburst (dam of Candid Jane, a good winner on the other side), by Enthusiast (winner of the 2,000 Guineas and sire of Eager. Short Grass, therefore, is an inbred member of the No. 1 family, and he is one of its best present day representatives.

SHORT GRASS raced in Ireland as a two-year-old and as a three-year-old. He was in England as a four-year-old, five-year-old and six-year-old. He came to the United States in the summer of his six-year-old form and raced here in the fall of 1914, as well as in his seventh and eighth years. SHORT GRASS was not raced to excess. He won 23 races and earned over $35,000. He is, as his performances have well demonstrated, a horse of good speed, splendid heart, wonderful determination, unquestioned staying qualities, remarkable recuperative ability, more than ordinary equipment for weight-carrying and a soundness and conformation that have commanded admiration. In short, he is a thoroughbred horse.

SHORT GRASS comes from the predominant male line—Stockwell, Doncaster and Bend Or. Until 1914, for more than a decade, St. Simon and his sons virtually swept the board, but for the last three years, primarily through his great grandson, Polymelus, the illustrious Bend Or has been in the ascendancy. Polymelus, for the third year in succession, is at the head of the winning sires in England, his nine winners in 1916 having won 16 races, valued at $80,155, the season's largest money-winning three-year-old, Cannobie, and the champion three-year-old filly, Fifinella, contributing most to he record.

In addition to Polymelus, whose sons and daughters in their six years on the turf have won a total of $410,085, Bend Or is represented in the 1916 list of stallions siring winners of over $12,500, by Radium ($34,610), Captivation ($26,881), Orby ($26,265), Bachelor's Double ($20,140), and Cicero ($18,720). Of the eleven winners of over $10,000 in England in 1916, six trace in the male line to Bend Or, as follows: Cannobie ($39,145), Clarissimus ($31,500), Fifinella ($20,000), Grand Fleet ($13,580), Diadem ($12,915) and Eos ($10,345).

On this side of the Atlantic the principal money-winning horse of 1916, Campfire ($49,735), is a great grandson of Bend Or. Campfire is by Olambala, son of Ornus, son of Bend Or, and right here it can fittingly be mentioned that SHORT GRASS ($16,385) is fifth in the list of winners in America for 1916, while Friar Rock (whose dam, Fairy Gold, is a daughter of Bend Or) is eighth. Ogden (sire of The Finn, seventh on the American list) is also from a daughter of Bend Or. Faux Col ($5,694), winner of the Canadian Derby, is a great grandson of Bend Or, his sire being Valens, son of Laveno, the sire of SHORT GRASS. Valens was an instant success as a sire through the smartness of Volta and The Vizier and this year he was distinguished in England by Julian ($7,070) eighteenth in the list of winners. Laveno's own brother, Orvieto, is the sire of Picton, second to Spearmint in the Derby, and much sought after by English breeders.

These accumulated facts would indicate that Mr. Herz has excellent grounds for the belief that SHORT GRASS has a great future at the stud, and they appear to justify his judgment in retiring this good horse while yet he could prove profitable on the turf.

Now, looking at the tabulated pedigree of SHORT GRASS, one is reminded that, in addition to his other accomplishments, Laveno sired Galvani, a high-class performer, which was sold for $37,750 to go to France, where he now is in the stud. Laveno also is the sire of Veneration II., whose son, Craganour, won the Derby, only to be disqualified; was sold for $150,000 and now is in the Argentine Republic. Another good winner to Laveno's credit is Glorvina. The racing and stud achievements of Bend Or, Stockwell, Macaroni, Thormanby, and other sires in Laveno's pedigree are known to all who have made a study of thoroughbreds.

Enthusiast (sire of Outburst, the dam of SHORT GRASS), won the 2,000 Guineas and sired Eager, whose daughter Electra, won the 1,000 Guineas. Mares by Enthusiast are becoming more and more valuable at the stud in England. Sterling, second in the 2,000 Guineas, sired Isonomy, declared by John Porter, the famous trainer, to have been one of the greatest stayers that ever trod the turf. Hackler is counted one of the most successful stallions located in Ireland in recent years. Solon sired the unbeaten Barcaldine, and this blood has a very special value.

An especially attractive fact to students of the Bruce Lowe system of grouping families of thoroughbreds is that both the sire and dam of SHORT GRASS belong to the No. 1 family, which has produced more classic winners than any other. Whatever risk there might be from this close inbreeding is effectively counterbalanced by the "outside" strains brought in by Enthusiast and Solon, representatives of the No. 27 and No. 23 families, respectively. Present day stallions belonging to the No. 1 family include Chaucer (second to Polymelus in the sire list for 1916), Cicero, Eager, Flotsam, Fowling-piece, Grebe, Jeddah, Ladas, Lally, Minting, Robert le Diable, Roi Herod (sire of The Tetrarch), Santoi, Spearmint and Wargrave. There are four Derby winners in this little list.

Writing in the London Sportsman of November 21, 1916, "Vigilant" pays tribute to SHORT GRASS, saying that he "may in due course develop into a stallion of the first order, the more particularly as the Bend Or male line, of which he is a member, has topped the winning list in England for the last three years by aid of Polymelus. Mr. Sol Joel's champion goes back to Bend Or via Cyllene and Bona Vista, whereas SHORT GRASS, which has proved himself a top-sawyer in handicaps in the United States, carrying the colors of Mr. E. Herz, is a degree nearer to Bend Or, being by the 1880 Derby winner's son, Laveno. There is no doubt that Laveno was a magnificently-bred horse, for he was by Bend Or (1) out of Napoli (1), and both his sire and dam were grandchildren of Thormanby. What in-breeding to Thormanby means we have seen in quite recent years in the case of The Tetrarch, which but for his habit of striking into himself when galloping would doubtless have shown himself as far in front of his peers at three years of age as he had done in the course of his brilliant juvenile career.

"On his dam's side SHORT GRASS, which won the 1,000 sovereigns London Cup and other good races here, was equally well bred, for his dam, Outburst, whose first foal he is, was got by Enthusiast (son of Sterling and conqueror of Donovan in the Two Thousand Guineas), out of Sunburst, by Hackler out of Solstice, by Solon. Rather curiously, Outburst was likewise the first foal of her dam, which goes back in the female line to The Deformed, by Burgundy or Harkaway out of Welfare, by Priam. As everyone knows, Priam was one of the earlier Derby winners that was sent to the United States. This was before his daughters, Miss Letty, Industry and Crucifix had won the Oaks three years out of four.

"It might be urged that Priam was chiefly remarkable for his good fillies, but he got many winners in the United States, and I only mention that he figures at the foot of SHORT GRASS' pedigree for the information of breeders out there. The fact remains that SHORT GRASS is a really good-looking, big horse, and his sire, Laveno, before him, showed himself to be a horse of high class by winning the Jockey Club Stakes. In addition to being a brother to that good race horse and sire, Orvieto, Laveno was brother-in-blood to such other good sires as Ormonde, Bona Vista and Martagon."

That SHORT GRASS is a tough and sturdy horse has been fully demonstrated through his racing career in Ireland, England and America. In Ireland he won five races. In England he won five including the $5,000 London Cup. In this country he won 13 including the Queens County, Brookdale, Empire City, Dixie and Bowie Handicaps and the Whitestone Handicap. He has defeated both Roamer and Borrow and was second to Friar Rock in the Suburban and second to The Finn in the Manhattan Handicap. In the Queens County Handicap he ran a mile in 1:36 2-5; in the Dixie a mile and a quarter in 2:03 4-5. In the Empire City Handicap he carried 127 pounds and ran a mile and an eight in 1:51 1-5. In several of his races he was defeated only by the scantiest of margins.

THE CONDITIONS OF STAKES.

In reading the conditions of the stakes for two-year-olds, it has often occurred to me that the penalties are somewhat excessive, but that the allowances are more so. It can be said in reply that no class of horses can concede so much weight to each other as can two-year-olds—a fact that has become one of the proverbs of racing. It can also be said that the differentiation is necessary in order to produce fields and good contests—that unless the penalties are high and the allowances liberal, a colt of the class of Domino, Colin, Tremont, or Sensation, would frighten off competition and have a clean sweep of the stakes.

But, it is only at long intervals that these "phenomenons" appear, and to provide conditions to meet them is often providing for what never happens. Moreover, it is hardly fair that in the most valuable stakes—the standard events—a colt should be heavily weighted because he has already won races of value. In handicaps, it is different:—there the colts must be weighted on their racing form. But few of the great stakes for two-year-olds are handicaps. They are events for which many of the contestants have no public form—they had not started previously. Yet, one often finds in the conditions "maidens allowed 10 lbs.," or 15 lbs. In stakes of great value, I have often doubted whether maidens should be granted any allowances. The idea of such stakes is that they shall bring together the very best colts and fillies of the year—the corps d'elite.

For example, some of the most valuable two-year-old events latterly have been run at Saratoga—the United States Hotel, Grand Union, Sanford Memorial, etc. Some stables, having tried a colt sufficiently high to know his quality, can withhold him during the early season from all races, not starting until Saratoga, where he appears claiming maiden allowance, and in such a case he is likely to win. The astute Mr. Rowe has for several seasons availed himself of this with Mr. Keene's and latterly with Mr. Whitney's lot. Dominant, for example, in 1915 started with only 107 lbs., while Bulse, which had won several races, had to shoulder 130 lbs. I am glad to say that the maiden allowance for the important stakes at Saratoga next season, has been reduced.

Between colts of anything approaching equal merit, as in the case of Dominant vs. Bulse, the difference is too great. In the great two-year-old events of England such allowances are granted only in produce stakes—not in the standard events. In the Middle Park Plate 7 lbs. is the maximum penalty with no allowances. In the Dewhurst Plate, there are penalties of 4 lbs., 7 lbs., and a winner of the Middle Park Plate 10 lbs.; but no allowances. The July Stakes at Newmarket has no penalties beyond 3 lbs. for fillies, and the same conditions apply for the Champagne Stakes at Doncaster. In the Criterion, there is a 10 lbs. penalty; no allowances. In the British Dominion at Sandown, 12 lbs. penalty; 4 lbs. allowed to maidens.

Penalties for races won in the spring should be light; those for races won after, say July, should be heavy. Frequently, the best colts are not started in the spring stakes, but are reserved for the richer events of August and later. Again, a colt that has won one or more of the spring events and incurs a penalty of 8 lbs. or 10 lbs., unless he is above the ordinary, is "anchored" for sometime, or until other colts have also acquired penalties which bring them upon even terms with him. Bulse was a case in point, so were Prince of Como, Celandria, Ormondale, Achievement, etc., in 1915; and Tumbler, Yankee Witch and Koh-i-Noor in 1916.

Of course, later in the season the penalties should be heavier to equalize chances. The colts which have won the valuable stakes of the summer have classified themselves, and having had their share of the spoils, deserve extreme penalties in the autumn. It is in the autumn too that the allowances should be liberal. But liberal allowances in the spring and early summer, particularly maiden allowances, are not in the best interest of racing when they are made a part of the conditions of the most important stakes. In minor events, or overnight events, it is quite a different matter.

In other words, we should retain something of the "racing spirit" in our chief events. They are few, and surely there are enough other races to satisfy the purely speculative people who only care for races on which they can have a bet. Let us have a few races in which speculation is the incidental, not the paramount consideration. Of course, we must move with the times, which demand conditions which equalize the chances of the horses. But it is possible to move too fast—all sail and no anchor. Some may say this is sentiment. It is—but surely, a little sentiment in racing would not be unsanitary. Allow the people of cynical morality and mere opportunism to dictate the policy of racing, and how long would racing exist?

W. S. VOSBURGH.

THE FUTURITY FOR 1919.

Racing Secretary A. McL. Earlocker, of the Westchester Racing Association, announces the closing of the Futurity, to be run at Belmont Park in 1919, in this issue of THE RECORD. Nominations will close at the office of the Westchester Racing Association, 18 East Forty-first Street, New York City, on January 3. This stake, inaugurated by the Coney Island Jockey Club in 1888, is the most coveted of juvenile prizes and it has always attracted an immense entry list. It was the big two-year-old fixture at the Sheepshead Bay course, but the last running over that famous track was in 1909. Since Belmont Park took over the Futurity from the Coney Island Jockey Club, the added money to the event has been made $5,000, of which $1,750 is divided among the breeders of the placed horses. Every breeder of a thoroughbred should make an entry in this race.

Full conditions appear in the announcement on another page. With the adequate return of the sport, it is assured that the nominations for the 1919 running will be large.

IMP. SEA KING AT OAK RIDGE STUD.

Thomas F. Ryan, Oak Ridge Stud, announces the services of his imported horse Sea King to the public at $200 the season, limited to twenty mares, in this issue of THE RECORD.

Imp. Sea King is a chestnut horse, foaled 1905, by Persimmon, out of Sea Air, by Isonomy. Persimmon, St. Simon's best son, was a winner of the Derby and St. Leger, and produced in Sceptre an animal almost superior to himself. Persimmon also sired Cheers, Zinfandel, Keystone II., Plum Tree, Your Majesty, Perola, Prince Palatine, etc.

Sea Air [dam of Pietermaritzburg (winner of the Jockey Club Stakes, etc.) by St. Simon, etc.] is by Isonomy. Isonomy won the Ascot Cup (twice), Goodwood Cup, Manchester Cup, Doncaster Cup, and Cambridgeshire, and sired the famous Gallinule, Seabreeze (winner of the Oaks and St. Leger), Janissary (sire of the Derby winner Jeddah), Common (Two Thousand Guineas, Derby, and St. Leger), and Isinglass (which won five classics). The latter, again, begot Rising Glass (Jockey Club Stakes), Cherry Lass (One Thousand Guineas and Oaks), Glass Doll (Oaks), Louvois (Two Thousand Guineas), and John o' Gaunt (which subsequently sired Swynford, winner of the St. Leger and Eclipse Stakes, and Kennymore, winner of the Two Thousand Guineas).

The influence of the sire element in the matings of successful racehorses has always impressed itself upon the mind of the practical breeder.

The oldest of Sea King's get were two-year-olds in 1914, and he has sired King Neptune (a two-year-old stake winner in 1915 of eight races, worth $7,810, and this year winner of six races, including the Wilmington Stakes, Connaught Park Handicap, Autumn Handicap, one mile and seventy yards, at Dorval Park, and two other handicaps), River King (a two-year-old winner in 1914 and a winner this year of six races, including one race at 1⅛ miles, three at 1 1-16 miles, and one at a mile and 20 yards, finishing 7 times second and 11 times third), and the two-year-old winners this year Queen of the Sea (four races), Dr. Nelson, Harvest King, Sea Wave, Judge Wingfield, Kingfisher, Sea Gull, and Captain Ray.

See the announcement in our advertising columns for tabulated pedigree and full particulars.

H. G. BEDWELL PROBABLE LEADING OWNER.

H. G. Bedwell has an excellent chance to displace R. T. Wilson from the proud position of leading owner of the year, if his horses, racing at Havana, continue to display the same form as they have shown since the opening at Oriental Park. Only $1,615 is the margin separating the two leaders. Bedwell has had the largest stable of thoroughbreds racing during the year, fifty-seven carrying his colors on many different courses, from early in January up to and including the present Havana meeting. This expert conditioner of cast-off horses has had wonderful success with his big band, mostly selling platers, having won so far 132 races and $69,420 in money. R. T. Wilson, the leading owner at present, has $71,035 to his credit, of which the crack two-year-old of the year, Campfire, was responsible for a little over $49,000.

WINGFIELD GATHERING STRONG STABLE.

The recent arrival at Tijuana of Walter Heath from Nevada with fourteen yearlings belonging to George Wingfield, has made the Nevada Stock Farm stable not only a powerful one, but, as well, an exceptionally big one numerically. These yearlings, for the most part, were bred at Wingfield's pretentious establishment near Reno. In the consignment were two by Montgomery, two by Joe Carey, one each by Rey del Sierras, Ossary and Duke of Ormonde, three by Deutschland and four by Star Bottle. In this band is a brother of the sensational Mont Blanc, which died after being taken from Tijuana to Reno last summer, and a brother to Square Set, Maud Bacon's only rival for championship honors among the coming three-year-old division at Tijuana. As heretofore, the Wingfield juveniles will be trained by Walter Heath, while Early Wright will continue to train the older division of the big stable.

NEW INNOVATION FOR RACE TRACKS.

To F. A. Jones of Newport, Ky., is credited the latest innovation in the way of improvements for our modern race courses. It is a revolving stand for judges and turf writers.

The stand can be located in the center of the infield fence of any race course and of any desired height. The columns supporting the stand are composed of structural steel. The ladder swivels on angle arms are attached to main columns of stand. The stand revolves on roller bearings driven by electric power and can be regulated so as to turn one revolution in one minute and forty seconds if desired. This is about the average speed run in any race.

The advantage of a stand located and built on this plan allows the racing stewards to have their glasses on the horses running from break to finish, and they can see every and anything that happens, which will insure cleaner racing. The turf writers would be in a position to give a more accurate account of the progress of the race and all its attending incidents.

Glendenning Ryan, for whom it is said J. L. McGinnis bought two yearlings at the Brownleigh Park sale at Durland's Thursday night, paying the top price of $2,500 for one, is a son of Thomas Fortune Ryan. Rumor has it that young Ryan will have a stable of his own next year.

He won £11,217.

Covered by Zria (son of Cyllene).

Also, a chestnut weanling filly by Sunstar (winner of Two Thousand Guineas and Derby and sire of Star Hawk, Sunbonnet and North Star, recently imported by Mr. Macomber), out of Ascenseur, by Eager (sire of the dams of Short Grass and Junior, and Electra winner of One Thousand Guineas), out of Skyscraper (a high-class stake winner of over £4,000 and dam of three good winners and a yearling that sold for 1100 guineas in September sales 1916), by Velasquez or Ayrshire, out of Chelandry (winner of the One Thousand Guineas and £14,583 in stakes and dam of Neil Gow and other winners of over £40,000), by Goldfinch, out of Illuminata (dam of Ladas and grandam of Cicero.

Ten yearlings by Sunstar averaged $4,525 at the Newmarket September sales in England in 1916, one of them selling for $15,000 and another for $13,000.

Since making these purchases Mr. Hancock has had a cable offering 1,000 guineas for Bobolink, which was declined. She cost 800 guineas.

E. L. Davis, Rookwood Stud, Midway, Ky., has purchased in the last few days two broodmares from Hinde & Baker, Forks of Elkhorn, Ky., and the two-year-old brown filly, Sarita by Bourbon Beau out of Anna Ray by Peep O'Day, from Andrew Hawkins of Lawrenceburg, Ky.

The mares are Early Love (dam of Lena Lech, Warsaw, etc.), black, 1901, by King Eric out of May Bee III. (winner and dam of Hide and Seek) by Casino; second dam Entricia (winner and dam of Fleuron and Prime Minister) by Enquirer. Early Love is in foal to Wrack.

Sanctissima (winner and dam of Dick Baker, Billie Baker, etc.), brown, 1900, by Lamplighter out of the stake winner and good producer, Anna B. by Glenelg. Sanctissima is in foal to Fair Play.

These mares constitute the last of Hinde & Baker's thoroughbred holdings.

H. Eugene Leigh has leased his place in France to Jockey Frank O'Neill, and, ofter the Holidays, will return to America, and next year race a stable of his own on American tracks. Mr. Leigh when in America was very popular and a good horseman, would give as much for a horse as anybody, and owned many good ones. Horsemen in this country are glad America affords an opportunity to those who are barred from enjoying the Sport of Kings in Europe to race here. They will be welcomed in this country with open arms, the same as we were welcomed when our sportsmen on account of adverse conditions, went abroad to race. Mr. Leigh's many friends will hear with pleasure the news that he is coming home.

John Rathbone, of Garland, Mont., has recently purchased the imported horse, Don Juan Fernandez, brown, 1904, by the English Derby winner Donovan, out of a mare by Robinson Crusoe, and will place him in the stud.

We have just learned that in purchasing imported Pataud from John E. Madden, J. J. Leonard was acting for Herbert J. Brown, a very prominent citizen of Portland, Maine, who intends branching out quite extensively as a breeder of the thoroughbred. We must congratulate Mr. Brown on his splendid selection of a stallion as well as in the mares he is choosing.

In taking Pataud to Maine for stud purposes, Mr. Brown is affording the Eastern breeders an opportunity that they should be quick to avail themselves of.

We are very glad indeed to welcome Mr. Brown into the ranks of thoroughbred breeders, and, from the start he is making, feel sure of his success.

Mr. Brown is by do means a stranger to the horse world, as he has long been an admirer of the thoroughbred saddle horse, rides daily and has long been considered one of the best judges of this type of horse.

Dr. Robert W. McCully, of New York, spent Tuesday here visiting the different stock farms, and left for New York by way of Washington. It is understood he looked at some broodmares for Eastern parties.

E. R. Bradley's high-class two-year-old, Frigerio, which died at Charleston, S. C., a few days ago, was insured at Lloyd's for $10,000 through Willcox, Peck & Hughes of New York. This is not the first loss this firm has had in this vicinity by any means, and the promptness with which all previous claims have been adjusted, in addition to their well-known facilities for handling insurance on high-class bloodstock under the most liberal terms possible, should make a strong appeal to a man owning a good horse and wanting the protection afforded by a "Lloyd's policy."

Willcox, Peck & Hughes settled the loss occasioned by the death of Sunlight, property of K. D. Alexander, on which they carried $7,500, in considerably less than a month, a record so far as we know in the matter of adjusting claims of this kind.

Entry blanks for the Futurity, to be run at the autumn meeting of 1919 at Belmont Park, may be had at THE RECORD office. The entries for mares, bred in 1916, close on Wednesday, January 3.

Senator J. N. Camden, Chairman of the State Racing Commission, returned Tuesday to his home near Versailles from Hot Springs. His health is much improved.

Hal Price Headley has sold to William Jennings, of Baltimore, for C M. Garrison, of New York, the yearling black filly by Ballot—Sneerwell.

* * *

Black Ben, the yearling brown colt by Ben Trovato—Dulcinea, owned by Frank J. Kelley and trained by T. L. Pierce, died of pericarditis at the Keniucky Association track this week.

Harvey Boyle, noted Canadian rider and horseman, is here to spend a couple of months at E. R. Bradley's Idle Hour Farm.

* * *

T. L. Pierce, trainer for Frank J. Kelley, the Chicago wall-paper merchant, is in the market for a small farm near Lexington with a view to establishing a home for himself. He says he wants between sixty and one hundred acres, and a good house and barn. It is his expectation that he will be able to raise what he needs for his table and have grass for about a dozen horses. "I am finding it quite difficult," said he, "to even find small places that are purchasable, and thus far I have located none that entirely suits my fancy. I could go out of Fayette County and locate easily, but I want to be as near as possible to Lexington."

* * *

E. R. Bradley's chestnut two-year-old colt Frigerio, by Marathon—Grace Commoner, died at Charleston, S. C., from the effects of shipping from Lexington recently. Mr. Bradley purchased Frigerio from Grover and Hundley Baker this summer for the reported price of $12,500. Frigerio started eleven times this year, winning seven races, second twice and unplaced twice. He was insured for $10,000.

FOR SALE.—C. Bruce Lowe's book, Breeding Racehorses by the Figure System. This book is in first-class second-hand condition; in fact, as good as new. Price, $6.50. Address B., care THE RECORD. 3t

There is a lot of philosophy in a remark attributed to John E. Madden in a conversation at Madison Square Garden. Speaking of the influence of the futurities in the encouragement of breeding and holding the interest in racing, he said: "A horse entered in stakes keeps many a man from getting the blues. He winters on expectations. Who ever heard of a man with a lottery ticket in his pocket committing suicide?" Nothing truer was ever spoken. It is hope that buoys up the average man who races horses. He comes home in the falll after a bad season, in a blue funk, with the determination to quit, and oftentimes he does. But in the spring, when the training and racing season approaches, he regains his optimism and looks forward to better luck. The thing he needs to enable him to hold on, is a little hope ahead, and if he has a promising colt with a lot of stake engagements, his boat is moored to a safe anchor. Racing associations like those at Goshen, Monroe and Middletown, which hold out in November the glittering rewards to be won the following August, instill hope in the same manner in the breast of the hesitating owner. He will not quit as long as there is hope, if he is a game man, and there is always hope when he can see that he has a chance.—[Trotter and Pacer.

TWO-YEAR-OLD RACES AT NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., Dec. 19.—Responding to a call issued by Judge Joseph A. Murphy, 75 horsemen held a meeting in the jockeys' room at the Fair Grounds race track today, and pledged their unqualified support and co-operation in the matter of filling the two-year-old races during the coming winter meeting, regardless of the ruling of the turf governing bodies in the North and East which disqualifies any youngster from starting the rest of the year, which starts before April 1.

Judge Murphy took a poll of the owners and trainers present who have two-year-olds here, and there was not a dissenting voice. In the case of Charley Patterson, who has charge of the Billings and Johnson juveniles, he was not put on record, because of C. K. G. Billings being a member of the Jockey Club, and Patterson will abide by his decision as to whether or not to race the young horses here.

Judge Murphy explained at length to the horsemen the exactions of the rule, and he said it was for the purpose he called the meeting, as he wanted every owner to know just what he was doing when he raced his two-year-olds.

"If the horsemen will co-operate with me and fill the two-year-old races," said Judge Murphy, "there will be one on every day with the exception of Wednesdays. When there are six entrants in a race it will stand regardless of how one-sided it may look, and where there are only five it will hold if it has any appearance of a contest at all. There will be forty-four days of racing at the Fair Grounds, and with the Wednesdays being the only day that there will not be a two-year-old race the young horses will run for purses aggregating $20,000. Then I can assure you that there will be thirty-six days of racing at Hot Springs, following the close here, and two-year-old racing will be featured there. Before leaving St. Louis, Joseph Martin, General Manager of the Oaklawn race track, told me of his plans along this line, and while I do not know whether or not I will be offically connected with Essex Park, I will assist in shaping its policies."

C. T. Worthington said that he was notified by Hal Price Headley that the Thoroughbred Horse Association in Kentucky is now at work trying to get the Kentucky State Racing Commission to rescind its ruling, and that he was practically advised by Mr. Headley to race his two-year-olds just the same as if the rule was never passed. According to his advice from Mr. Headley it is more than probable that the rule will at least be amended in Kentucky, he said.

Al Kirby made a suggestion that in case a two-year-old condition race does not fill that a selling race be substituted. This was not decided upon.

The present rule by which an apprentice jockey only gets the five pounds allowance while riding for his contract employer, will in all probability be changed tomorrow. Judge Murphy, Racing Secretary Joe McLennan, Associate Judge J. B. Campbell and Herman Conklin will meet to consider changing the rule.

Frank Robinson, the nineteen-year-old jockey, who is the leading rider of the year, has received $5,000 from Harry Payne Whitney for first call on his services in 1917.

ENGLISH COMMENT ON AMERICAN METHODS.

[London Sporting Life].

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the American "THOROUGHBRED RECORD'S" comments upon certain changes which have been recently introduced by the Maryland Jockey Club—described by the journal in question as "that conservative, staid, and substantial organization of Turfdom." The first innovation decided upon by this enterprising body, it appears, deals with selling events, which in future are to be either handicaps or claiming races. We have, or, rather, our turf authorities have, for many years tolerated a really scandalous state of affairs in connection with selling events, or, as they ought to be more accurately described, betting races. In this direction there is certainly room for considerable reform, and it is to be hoped the matter will be taken up in real earnest after the war is over, and racing is once more restored to its rightful position in the nation's activities.

Let me explain the situation from what appears to me to be the common-sense point of view. Selling races were instituted, as we all believe and understand, with the sole object of providing owners with an opportunity of disposing of a moderate animal, while at the same time winning something towards the cost of breeding, rearing, and training him. Certain gentlemen, who continue to race on the highest lines, still observe the principle, and whenever one of their horses wins a selling event he is permitted to go at the subsequent auction. Occasionally an owner is forced to regret what may have been a hasty decision on his part—there were two or three instances last season in support of this view—to observe the spirit which ought to pervade all selling plate transactions, but it is to be feared that the majority of those who are regularly concerned with this particular form of racing are not actuated by any real desire to rid themselves of horses which prove capable of winning such races.

It is decidedly curious that the reform alluded to as having been inaugurated in the United States should have had so prominent an advocate in this country as Mr. Harry P. Whitney, whose horses used to be trained at Newmarket by Andrew Joyner. There may have been an instance or two in which Joyner bought in one of his selling-plate winners, but, if so, they must have been few and far between, practically every winner sent out from Balaton Lodge for this purpose being allowed to change hands at the succeeding auction. For this reason, I always admired the conduct of the Whitney stable, which set so excellent an example in the direction referred to.

As already remarked, there are a few English owners who patronize selling races solely for the purpose for which they were instituted, but they represent a mere handful as compared with those who employ such events as media for purely betting purposes.

Everyone with expereience of English racing, whether under Jockey Club or National Hunt rules, could name without much difficulty several horses which have spent the greater part of their lives in competing for selling races, to be bought in, of course, after each successful venture. So long as this sort of thing is openly permitted, owners cannot be blamed for acting as they do, while so long as racecourse executives are allowed to share any surplus derived from the selling price of a winning horse—or buying-in-price, as it so often is—it is not likely that there will be any alteration in the rules. Yet how much more grist would come to the mills of the executives if it were made compulsory, that a horse should be bona-fide sold after winning a selling event—or, at most, a couple of such races. The views set forth in connection with the Maryland Jockey Club's decision, and the alterations in rules related elsewhere, are well worth considering, in case similar reforms are in contemplation in connection with racing in this country.

The later American innovation, which relates to the closing of races some long time prior to decision, is less likely to meet with acceptance or favor in England. It is true that suggestions to the same effect have frequently been put forward here, but these have in reality generally met with unsympathetic response. There is, in fact, an almost irresistible fascination about the type of race closing not merely months, but years ahead. Stakes for the years 1917, 1918, and even 1919, are being regularly advertised in the "Calendar," and one doubts not that these would continue to receive their full complement of entries provided that the cessation of hostilities was within sight. The Maryland Jockey Club proposes to do away altogether with stakes calling for entries months ahead, while handicaps are to close no earlier than the work to be done by the handicapper makes necessary—a rather elastic proviso, this latter one. After detailing certain other exceptions, it is laid down that "all other races will close the day before they are run."

Apparently American racing papers and their employes have had little experience of the disadvantages attending racing closing overnight—if one may judge from the provision referred to a moment ago. Since the partial stopping of racing in this country that much-disliked event, the overnight stake, has become practically a dead-letter, only the Newmarket authorities, who ought really to know better, having occasionally indulged in the habit. In these days, when newspapers go to press at a much earlier hour than formerly, the overnight race is, to say the least, a nuisance, white it is probably still less popular amongst owners and trainers. One wonders, therefore, how it can possibly meet with approval in America. Conditions there, one knows, are very different in almost every respect from those obtaining here, but it would be interesting, all the same, to learn whether the Maryland Club's new rule in this direction is accepted without demur.

TWO-YEAR-OLD RULE STAYS.

NEW YORK, December 18.—At the regular monthly meeting of the Jockey Club, held at the office of the club, there were present Mr. F. K. Sturgis, Mr. H. K. Knapp, Mr. Perry Belmont, Capt. E. B. Cassatt, Mr. Dwyer, Mr. Robert L. Gerry, Mr. F. R. Hitchcock, Mr. Andrew Miller and Mr. Schuyler L. Parsons.

Captain E. B. Cassatt, withdrew his proposed amendments to rules of racing Nos. 127 to 132, as proposed at the meeting on August 10.

The secretary presented a letter from Joseph A. Murphy, racing manager of the Business Men's Racing Association at New Orleans, protesting against the rule as to racing two-year-olds before April 1. On motion, duly seconded, the letter of Judge Murphy was laid on the table, to be taken up at the October, 1917, meeting.

The committee appointed at the annual meeting of the Jockey Club on rules, composed of F. R. Hitchcock, H. K. Knapp and Captain E. B. Cassatt, submitted the revised draft of the rules of racing, and the secretary was instructed to send a printed copy of this revised draft to all the members of the Jockey Club, as well as to cause the regular publication of the same in the "Racing Calendar."

A vote of thanks to the committee on rules was unanimously adopted.

One of the rules which may in the future be amended by the Jockey Club when the proposition is put before it, will have much to do with a clause relative to maidens. It will possibly nullify the existing clause in Rule 81, which says:

"Extra weight shall not be incurred in respect of private sweepstakes, nor of matches, even though money be added to the latter."

It was this rule that enabled the colt Hwfa, to start in a maiden race at Belmont Park on September 11, notwithstanding the fact that he had won the Piping Rock Invitation Handicap on June 1, for which his owner, H. P. Whitney, collected $6,950. Hwfa's eligibility was further enhanced by a clause in Rule 1 of the Jockey Club regulations which declares: "A maiden is a horse which has never won a race (other than a match or private sweepstake) in any country."

The Piping Rock Invitation Handicap was a private sweepstake, and that being the case, Hwfa was still a maiden when entered in the opening race at Belmont Park on September 11. The committee on rules hardly considered it equitable for a horse to run in a maiden race which had previously won a race worth nearly $7,000, consequently a change is proposed to prevent a recurrence under the existing laws.

At the November meeting at Madrid, the colors of the King of Spain (who races as the Duke of Toledo) were twice successful, by aid of Alphonsine in a selling event and Charing Cross III. in the Premio Fulmen (a mile and a furlong). The latter race was a handicap of 200 sovs. Charing Cross III. is a five-year-old by the old Cesarewitch winner, St. Bris. The King has entered his crack horse, Antivari, for the Prix de Cadran ($15,000), which will be run for at Paris next year. The Marquis de Villamejor, who for many years past has been identified with racing in France, brought off a double, winning the Princess Handicap (1 5-16 miles) with his three-year-old Spearmint colt, Suduirant, and the Premio Rosina (2 13-16 miles) with Titania, a four-year-old by Cantabre.

NEW YORK GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—In the two big barns controlled by W. H. Karrick, there are now forty-seven thoroughbreds housed for the winter. Among these may be numbered the four imported French-bred three-year-olds imported nearly a year ago and trained by Charles F. Hill, who has arranged to have them wintered in the Karrick barn, but a later and important lot from several viewpoints is made up of five yearlings belonging to W. B. Miller, whose breeding activities are in Kentucky, and who is well-known among American horsemen here and elsewhere as one of the owners of the popular race horse and sire, Uncle, by Star Shoot out of The Niece by Alarm, second dam Jaconet, by Leamington, third dam, Maggie B. B.

Since securing Uncle, which was imported from France, whither he had been taken from this country by the late Charles H. Kohler, Mr. Miller has been making remarkable progress as an owner and breeder of thoroughbreds. Uncle, which had sired two such good race horses as Old Rosebud and Little Nephew in a single season, was without doubt an admirable sire to place at the head of his stud, and he quickly surrounded him with a choice lot of admirably selected matrons. During the coming season five yearlings which have been sent to W. H. Karrick's barn will be expected to carry Mr. Miller's racing silks.

These five yearlings, which are of good size and substance, are far from being sensational in appearance. They are not of the showy order, but they look like real old-fashioned thoroughbreds which used to show themselves as yearlings before it became fashionable to force youngsters forward into premature maturity. They have what one would look for in a yearling made for use rather than for show. Every one is of the sturdy, masculine order, stout, robust and compact and having admirable racing angles. Rifle is a chestnut colt by Uncle out of Fleur de Marie. This is a neat and essentially racy looking colt of average size and range, big enough to grow into a good race horse and well furnished everywhere. Kennecott is a dark bay or brown colt by Ogden out of Last Cherry. This is a neatly turned colt of good size, smoothly finished and blood-like everywhere. He is an exceptionally compact colt, with fine shoulders, loin and quarters and accurately balanced. He appears to have about everything that a race horse really needs as far as conformation is concerned. Frostilla is a blood-like and racy looking bay filly of high finish and fair size and substance. Midnight is a bay filly marked with a star and four white feet. She is of moderate height, but covers a lot of ground and has great substance for her inches, combined with excellent racing angles. Last of the lot is a good-sized bay filly by Peter Quince out of Winifred A. Her name is Wince.

W. B. Miller, like many other horsemen who have made a study of pedigrees, both American and English, has a strong liking for the famous Maggie B. B. strain, and in selecting his broodmares he has chosen with the view of bringing in this strain to meet that line of it which comes through Uncle, The Niece, his dam, and Jaconet, his grandam, which was a daughter of Maggie B. B. Mr. Miller also likes the Himyar strain, and that of Hindoo through Hanover.

Kilkenny Boy, one of the thoroughbreds which helped James Butler to finish as good as third among the winning owners of the East during the past racing season, will win no more races for the owner of the Empire City course. This good selling plater dropped dead while eating his noonday meal in his stall at the Yonkers track today.

While never considered as belonging in the stake class, Kilkenny Boy was one of the most useful horses in the Butler barn. During the past season he won five races and took a total of $2,575 in purses. He was a four-year-old and was a son Hippodrome and Maid of Erin. During his racing career Kilkenny Boy started twenty times, finishing in front in ten races and running second in one and third in another.

The last race that the Butler plater won was at Aqueduct on July 8. He started but once after that and was beaten by Boots, Sun God and Gunbearer at Empire City on July 19. He did not run up to expectations in this race and was not started again, although it was expected that he would be all right next year. Heart trouble is reported to have been the cause of death.

The Atlantic Transport Company's steamship Mesaba, which docked at Pier 58 Saturday afternoon, brought over eight thoroughbreds and a five-year-old polo stallion for F. Ambrose Clark. Nobody representing Mr Clark was at the pier to meet and look after the welfare of the animals at the end of their long voyage, which had lasted nearly three weeks, except the groom, who came over with them, and as he did not know anything about their pedigrees, and seemed to be in doubt even as to their ages, little could be learned concerning them.

NIGHT RACING IS CUT OUT.

QUEBEC, CANADA, Dec. 18.—The Public Bills Committee of the Legislative Assembly has decreed that there shall be no horse racing at night on the Island of Montreal. The clause asking for this privilege was cut out of the bill to incorporate the National Jockey Club of Montreal, at the suggestion of Sir Lomer Gouin, who is Chairman of the Committee.

The bill was introduced in the Legislature by Mr. Turcot (Montreal). Apart from this amendment, the bill was passed by the Legislative Assembly, and it is now in the hands of the Legislative Council. The club is empowered to conduct horse races on all parts of the island, with the exception of Westmount and Outremont.

FOREIGN-BRED YEARLINGS BRING GOOD PRICES.

Twenty-four foreign-bred yearlings, imported by the Brownleigh Park Breeding Corporation, were sold at auction at Durland's Riding Academy, New York, Thursday night (Dec. 14) for a total of $17,000. The sale was conducted by the Powers-Hunter Company, with George Bain as auctioneer, and the prices realized are another evidence of the healthy condition of the thoroughbred market. The average was more than $708 each, and from the time the first youngster was led into the ring until the hammer fell on the last filly of the list, the bidding was prompt and spirited.

The best price of the sale was paid for the handsome chestnut son of Poussin and Gentian. This one was knocked down to J. L. McGinnis, though it was announced that he made the purchase for Glendenning Ryan. Mr. McGinnis also paid the second best figure for a colt when he obtained Col. Cluff, a chestnut son of Galloping Simon and Amitie, for $1,600.

Tread Lightly, a chestnut daughter of Tredennis and Bachelor's Beauty, was the most sought after filly that was offered, and after Mr. McGinnis had gone to $2,450 in an effort to obtain her she was knocked down to R. K. Burns for $2,500.

The second best price paid for a filly was $1,050, that was successfully bid by William Jennings, of Maryland, who was buying for C. M. Garrison. This one is Alderberry, a chestnut daughter of Ben Alder and Hapl}, and one of the most royally bred offerings of the sale. Mr. Garrison was also the purchaser of Tommy Tee, a chestnut son of Grey Leg and Augusta Victoria. These are only some of the recent purchases that have been made by Mr. Garrison. He will campaign a considerable string next season under the name of the Calumet Stable.

Henry Waterson was a very considerable purchaser, while T. J. Duggan and Captain J. Press, two Canadian sportsmen, were also purchasers. Morty Lynch was on hand, and bought two for William L. Oliver when he took They're Off II., a chestnut son of William Rufus and Diamond Cut Diamond, for $350, and Best Man, a bay son of Henry the First and Bridal, for $300.

After Lynch had made the purchases he signed up Matt Dooley to take the colts to Mr. Oliver's Lakewood, N. J., farm.

Samuel Ross, the Washington sportsman, was another who made purchases. The sale attracted a big crowd and while many were only there to look on they gave the academy a real thoroughbred paddock air long before the first colt was led into the ring.

Among those on hand were Dr. Cary Grayson, President Wilson's physician; A. J. Joyner, W. R. Coe, Captain Alexander, Web Carter, of Virginia; Samuel Ross, T. J. Bird, of Toronto who has taken over the J. K. L. Ross horses that were in the care of the late Captain Presgrave; Brownell Combs, of Kentucky; Frank Farrar, Captain J. Press, Ed Peters, Emil Herz, Sheridan Clark, Frank Midgley, Sandy McNaughton, James Fitzsimmons, W. H. Karrick, Dr. R. W. McCully, Richard E. Watkins, J. H. Carr, James Frayling, R. Angarola, James McLaughlin, J. L. McGinnis, Walter House, Max Hirsch, and many others as well known to racing.

WINDSOR JOCKEY CLUB SUED.

WINDSOR, ONT., December 18.—Seeking to recover $633, which amount it is alleged is due on a pari-mutuel ticket, purchased at a meeting of the Windsor Jockey Club, August de Gentenaar, manager of the East End Coal and Cinder Supply Company, Holcombe Avenue, Detroit, has through his attorney, Barrister F. C. Kerby, caused a writ to be served on the Windsor Jockey Club.

De Gentenaar and his friend, Joseph Vande Weghe, vice-president of the Standard Lumber Company, Detroit, bought two $5 straight tickets on Ophelia W. in the fourth race at the Windsor track, August 18. Auriga, with Robinson up, won the race, but was disqualified when it was discovered that Robinson rode under weight.

When Auriga's number appeared on the official board as the winner of the race, De Gentenaar and Vande Weghe threw away their Ophelia W. tickets in disgust, only to find a few minutes later that their choice, which had finished second to Auriga, had been declared the winner.

Then followed a frenzied hunt for the cardboards, Vande Weghe recovered his, but De Gentenarr was not so fortunate. A claim was made, however, but the Windsor Jockey Club refused to settle, although it is said only two $5 straight tickets were sold on the race.

The claim will be settled at the next session of the Essex County Court.

The Quincy Stable, trained by James Fitzsimmons, will have fifty thoroughbreds in training next year.

COMMISSION HOLDS UP CHARTER FOR TRACK.

BALTIMORE, MD., Dec. 18—The proposed new race-track at Bengies in Baltimore County, seems to have hit a snag in the State Tax Commission. What may be the nature of the trouble is not definitely known. No haste is shown by the commission to approve the charter for racing, which as an amendment to an agricultural fair charter, was filed with it more than a week ago.

The promoters of the new race track are James King, president; G. Howard White, Joseph Castelberg, M. L. Fessenmeier and Joseph C. Hughes. They have asked for an amendment to the original charter, which provides for a capital stock of $350,000. It is on this amendment that the commission shows no haste in acting.

A protest has been filed with the commission asking that it take no action until those opposed to the race-track have had an opportunity to be heard.

Although the commission has taken no action on the charter, work is said to be progressing on the land at Bengies intended as a site for the track.

It is unusual to hear of a racing club being sued in connection with a judge's decision, but this happened in Western Australia recently. The owner of a horse called Tununclus, sued the chairman of the Boulder Racing Club for a prize of twenty-eight pounds and ninety-nine pounds, which he alleged he would have won, but for the judge reversing his decision. The plaintiff's case was that at a picnic meeting on August 12, the judge placed Tununclus first and Molka second in a race, but, that after the jockeys had weighed in, he (the judge) reversed his decision, placing Molka first. For the defence the judge stated that he made a mistake in his placings, and corrected them when about a half minute had elapsed. Evidence was given that the numbers were altered before the jockeys weighed in, and a verdict was recorded in favor of the defendant, with costs.

Mrs. H. B. Duryea, widow of the American sportsman, who raced with such success on both sides of the Atlantic, has presented the Societe d'Encouragement, France, with a gold cup in memory of the success of Durbar II., when he captured the most coveted race in the world, the Epsom Derby. In telling of the presentation, a Paris publication says:—"This gift, doubly precious as a mark of the excellence of French breeding and of a much envied success, was of even greater value as a token of the courtesy of an owner who came from America, and the handsome cup will find its place in the committee room side by side with the painting representing Gladiateur, which won the race in 1865."

According to reports and foreclosure of mortgage proceedings, the old Sheepshead Bay track may revert to the Coney Island Jockey Club or its interests. The new automobile enterprise is said not to have been the success anticipated.

Though Mr. W. G. Stead experienced the misfortune of missing the Victoria Derby with Kilboy, his brother, Mr. G. L. Stead, was successful in the New Zealand Derby with The Toff, a bay colt by Boniform—Class.

The license of Jockey Taylor, riding at Tijuana, was revoked by the Stewards of the Lower California Jockey Club because of misbehavior and failure to keep in condition.

About fifteen of the G. H. Browne horses will be shipped to Charleston, S. C., under the care of D. R. McDaniel, who will prepare them for early racing next spring.

LEXINGTON, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1916.

THE LITTLE MATTER OF PAYING YOUR SUBSCRIPTION PROMPTLY.

Owing to the enormous increase in the price of paper, the cost of which has more than doubled in the past year, publishers all over the country have been forced to raise their subscription rates. We have no desire to make a change in the yearly subscription rate of THE THOROUGHBRED RECORD and will not do so unless it becomes absolutely necessary in order to meet the unprecedented conditions that now prevail in the paper world.

With this end in view, we are going to ask the support of each and everyone of our subscribers and if we receive the co-operation that we expect, it will render any increase unnecessary, at least for the coming year. On January 1st, a statement will be mailed to everybody on our list whose subscription has expired or will expire within the next few weeks, and we will ask in case you want THE RECORD that you will send us a check and thereby demonstrate your good will and support, but if for any reason you no longer want the paper, please notify us immediately in order that it may promptly be discontinued.

Formerly, we have carried subscriptions far beyond a reasonable time in which they should have been paid or discontinued, and consequently have yearly incurred considerable expense in so doing. Conditions now make this method not only unsatisfactory, but most expensive, and we believe in justice to those who want and pay for the paper and to ourselves that the plan of "Pay Promptly or Discontinue" is the most equitable for all parties concerned.

The individual subscription doubtless seems a small matter, but in the aggregate, receipts from subscriptions form no inconsiderable part of the revenue of a paper such as THE RECORD. Therefore, we have stated the case plainly and we will greatly appreciate your support and co-operation.

M. J. Winn, manager of the Churchill Downs, Laurel, Empire City and Juarez race tracks, spent Christmas at Louisville with his family. He spoke enthusiastically of the success of the pari-mutuel system of wagering at the Juarez plant.

"The machines have been accorded a hearty welcome by El Pasoans," said Mr. Winn. "The crowds have increased steadily and the play in the mutuels has shown an even greater growth. We are enjoying a fine meeting."

DIVIDED HANDICAPS.

It is a subject of frequent comment, that our races, "for three-year-olds and upward" are nearly all handicaps and selling races. The fact is due, partially, to the effect of the hostile legislation in New York in 1908-10; and later, as recovering slowly from its consequences, the conditions have not warranted offering races at weight-for-age, or with conditions based upon penalties and allowances.

But even before the legislation of 1908-10, the tendency toward handicaps and selling races had grown to an extent that all other forms of races had become rare. Racing secretaries had become chary of offering races based on penalties and allowances—the ghost of a "walkover" was ever present. I recall a walkover at Aqueduct in 1915. It almost produced a panic. Years ago, a walkover was not uncommon, and excited little attention. But latterly, there has arisen a creed that the conditions of every race must be framed to produce a large field. This has received additional impulse since the adoption of the pari-mutuel system; and were it not that the Rules of Racing hold that three entries qualify a race, it is possible that only three entries to a race would be followed by its being withdrawn.

In brief, the effort is to produce fields. To do this, condition races are considered unreliable. There is always present a fear that some horse will be "overlooked," and claim an allowance of weight that renders his prospect of winning so bright as to frighten off all opposition. Hence, handicaps and selling races rule supreme. Handicaps relieve the secretary, or race committee, of the trouble of thinking; while selling races are popular in so far as they enable owners to select the weight their horses shall carry. The open handicaps have quite taken the place of weight-for-age or condition races. Indeed, this is so marked that they have become considered the legitimate prey of the best horses, and the success of a poor horse is actually resented and, after the race, it is discovered that he was "thrown-in"—due to a perverted understanding of the purpose of a handicap, which is to equalize the chances of all the starters. As to selling races, they have been a source of abuse for years, and to remedy which has been a thorn in the sides of our racing legislators.

Divided handicaps would, in my opinion, go a long way toward helping matters. What I call a divided, or classified handicap, is one for which all the horses nominated are weighted the same as in any handicap; then divided into two classes—those handicapped above—say 105 lbs. or 100 lbs., to form Race No. 1; those weighted below that figure, to form Race No. 2; only that the weights in Race No. 2 are raised 10 lbs. or 15 lbs. By these means, we are enabled to have a race between horses of the first-class without their being compelled to concede undue weight to inferior horses—something approaching a weight-for-age race with classification.

In Race No. 2, raising the weights renders the horses probable starters, as it enables them to be ridden by competent jockeys—something which under their original allotment is rarely possible. In addition, it enables horses to win a handicap which they could not otherwise, being outclassed. Such horses at present belong in the selling race class, yet their owners rarely care to sell them. To this class, the divided handicap would open a new field of usefulness and thus help simplify the selling race question which has, is, and threatens always to be a vexatious one.

I originated the divided handicap as long ago as 1890. At the time, I was handicapper at Morris Park; also at Monmouth Park where the late Mr. D. D. Withers was the active spirit, and for whom I made the programmes. One day I happened to mention the subject to him.

"Divided handicap?—divided handicap?" he inquired with his old man's habit of repeating his question, "what do you mean by a divided handicap?"

I explained the system.

"It's curious I never thought of that," he replied after some reflection.

"Don't you like the plan?," I asked.

"Like it? like it?—of course I like it—(who said I didn't like it?). But d..n it! I can't think why it never occurred to me. How did you happen to think of it?"

The choleric old gentleman was thoroughly aroused and so I had to explain: I said that in open handicaps the owners of the best horses would not accept the weights their horses should carry if the chances of the poorer class of horses were to be considered. To retain the best horses, compelled a moderate maximum which depressed the scale so low that the poorer horses are too lightly weighted to be ridden by competent jockeys. In fact, the difference between the maximum and minimum was too little—it enabled the "crack" horses to monoplize the handicaps. My plan obviated that; it enabled the proper weighting of the best class in one race; and in the other, gave the selling platers a chance to race among themselves without liability to sale.

"Well," said Mr. Withers, when I had finished, "I like the idea and I think we should try it next year. You draw up the conditions and we'll make it a feature of the opening day at Monmouth Park."

I drafted the conditions, and Mr. Withers added them to the Fourth of July Handicap to be run on the opening day of the Monmouth Park meeting of 1891. When it was advertised in February of that year, its novelty caused some comment; many required it to be explained, but my old friend Mr. W. L. Powers, who was agent for many stables, with that loyalty for which he is so eminently distinguished, personally solicited support for it, and we had the satisfaction of having it close with 101 nominations—about double the number of any other all-aged handicap of the meeting. Even Coney Island's famous Suburban had only 71 nominations that year. The following were the conditions:—

"Fourth of July Handicap, a sweepstakes of $50 each, half forfeit, or only $10 if declared on the day before the day appointed for the race; weights to be published on the second day before the race; the winner of any handicap after publication of the weights to carry 5 lbs. extra; the horses entered to be divided into two classes and the stakes into two stakes; those accepting over 105 lbs. to form race No. 1; those accepting 105 lbs. or less to form race No. 2; in race No. 2 the weights are to be raised for three years old 10 lbs.; for four years old or upward 15 lbs. more than they were handicapped. To each race $1,500 to be added, of which $350 to the second and $150 to the third; forfeits and declarations to accrue to the race to which the horse owing them is assigned by the handicapper. One mile."

Adverse legislation compelled the Monmouth Park Association to hold its meeting of 1891 at Morris and Jerome Parks. The Fourth of July Handicap was run at Morris Park on the opening day before a large assemblage. The first division race, Race No. 1, was won by the famous Raceland. The second division's race, Race No. 2, was won by Bermuda. In 1892, the race was renewed and run at Monmouth Park; Race No. 1 falling to Tournament which defeated Montana (the Suburban winner of that year) and others; the second division's race was won by Sir Mathew, beating among others, the filly Kildeer which soon after lowered the mile record in an actual race to 1:37¼.

The death of Mr. Withers, followed by the withdrawal of Messrs. Cassatt, Lorillard, Bennett, Wetmore and Galway, caused the Monmouth Park Association to pass into other hands. Then followed additional legislation of adverse character rendering it impossible to race in New Jersey, and the Monmouth Park Association ceased to exist.

In Australia, however, the divided handicap has since been adopted and become quite popular. When, in 1910, Mr. S. S. Howland was in Melbourne, he wrote to me referring to it, and showed they had gone a step beyond my plan, and perhaps improved upon it. They divided it into three races: They start with the topweight 196 lbs. Horses handicapped at 162 lbs. and over are qualified to start only in the first class; those handicapped between 127 lbs. and 162 lbs. are qualified to start only for the second class; those handicapped under 127 lbs. are qualified only for the third class. Then the weights of all in the first class are reduced 70 lbs.; in the second class 35 lbs.; while those handicapped for the third class, carry the weight allotted by the handicapper. It will be seen that by this reduction the topweight in the first class, if accepting, carries only 126 lbs.; in the second, only 127 lbs., and in the third, 126 lbs.

Since the running for the divided handicap at Monmouth Park in 1892 I have never as much as suggested its trial to any of the racing associations, knowing the reluctance to try innovations. But I believe it is progressive in spirit, and in practice, after it had become a fixture, would become a popular feature. It would allow a wider margin of weight and permit of the "crack" horses in the first division to be more equitably weighted without calling upon them to carry heavy burdens. It would give horses in the second class a chance to win which is difficult in open handicaps where the cramped scale gives the better horses too great an advantage. Finally, it would, or should open a new field to the horses now starting for selling races, in that they would escape the liability to sale, and thus possibly reduce the number of selling races which are the cause of so much vexation.

An interesting item of news from Holland is that the law which was passed five years ago forbidding bookmaking and the use of the totalizator on Dutch race courses is to be rescinded. The reason for the removal of the prohibition is that it has caused great injury to horse breeding in Holland. That racing cannot flourish unless accompanied by some form of speculation everyone possessing practical acquaintance with the subject is well aware. Similarly it has been made plain since the beginning of the war, how grieviously the horse breeding industry has been affected by the closing of many of our race courses, and in the circumstances the lesson from Holland is one that should not lightly be passed by.—[London Sportsman.

ENGLISH SALES.

The annual December Sales at Newmarket, England, were begun on December 4 in very cold, though quite seasonable weather, and in the presence of a rather small company. The clause in the bill regulating race tracks passed on Wednesday at Quebec, which puts a tax on bookmaking, is as follows: "Any person selling, recording or receiving bets, wagers or pools otherwise than under the pari-mutuel system shall obtain a license from the Collector of Revenue upon payment of $100 a day."

NEW YORK GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, December 27.—That meeting of horsemen down at New Orleans this week at which it was agreed to race two-year-olds from the start of the meeting on New Year's Day, just as if there had been no adverse ruling by the turf powers of the East, West and Canada, bears no particular significance, because it always had been expected that the winter tracks would have racing for the two-year-olds regardless of the rule.

It is fairly safe to estimate that not many more than 200 youngsters will come under the ban, and this will cut no great figure in mid-summer racing, at which time the two-year-old division will be most prominent. It certainly will be interesting to watch what develops from the ruling against the racing of the young thoroughbreds before the first of April. That much good may come of it is beyond question. The rule provides that any two-year-old that is raced before April 1, shall be barred from racing on any track under the supervision of The Jockey Club in the same year. After consideration of the matter, the same ruling was made in Kentucky and Canada, so that now, the only tracks left open for such as may violate the rule, will be the "bush" meetings.

The ruling only bars those violating it during their two-year-old form, so that should any great ones develop at any of the winter meetings, it will only will be necessary to have them rest up through the remainder of their juvenile period and then they can be entered in any of the stakes of the following year that are open to three-year-olds. After an early season of racing, the rest may prove all the more to their advantage, but that will be something for time to show.

Long has there been dissatisfaction expressed at the prevalence of races for the young horses. The argument has been that stamina has been sacrificed to speed and that there were not enough distance races and events for the three-year-old and still older horses. It is not to be hoped that those in favor of races for the older horses will see a great change in the coming season of racing, for there will be no dearth of two-year-old material. All through the past season owners have been paying almost fabulous prices for yearlings.

There are a number of newcomers to the turf, nearly every one of whom has been a bidder at the yearling sales. It is but natural to suppose that these newcomers will be eager and impatient to see their own horses and their new colors at the earliest opportunity. These men, new to racing, are not of those who have shipped their strings to the winter tracks, so they will not be barred.

Naturally, the wealthier owners are not following the sport during the off season, so the ruling will not affect them. The ruling may work a hardship to some of those who have shipped to the winter season of racing, but in the long run it may prove a blessing all around.

Since it has been announced that there would be $15,000 added money to the Kentucky Derby, to be run at Churchill Downs next May, the members of the Blue Grass region are predicting that all the stars among the two-year-olds that were seen during the past season, will be entered for this classic. There has been much speculation as to Mr. Wilson's entering Campfire and Mr. Belmont's sending Hourless after the rich Kentucky stakes.

It is a practical certainty that neither of these two star performers will be even entered for the Derby. Those close to both owners say that there is no chance of either trying for the big three-year-old event, and, while in the past it has been more or less of a custom to send in complimentary entries, this practice will not be engaged in by the owners of the two principal New York stars.

There is no doubt but A. K. Macomber will enter more than one of his present two-year-olds for the three-year-old stakes of next year at Louisville. It is one of his chief ambitions to win this event, which he came so close to capturing with Star Hawk, which ran second to George Smith last May. North Star, the most recent purchase of Mr. Macomber in England, is certain to be named, and there will be one or more others from his big string among the entries when they are announced.

H. C. Hallenbeck believes he owns the best handicap horse in the country in The Finn, that great son of Ogden and Livonia. It is but natural that he should be enthusiastic over the performances of his star. The Finn took up top weight and beat the best of them during the season, and his owner expects still greater things of him next year.

Mr. Hallenbeck's success with a small stable has encouraged him to go into racing on a larger scale, and he expects to have from twenty to thirty horses in training next season, where he only showed four under colors during the past year. Also he has gone into breeding at Meadow Brook Farm in New Jersey.

FOR SALE.—A young stallion, by Yankee. Admirable type for sire of hunters. Priced right for quick sale. THE THOROUGHBRED RECORD CO.

LOCAL NOTES.

"The past season has demonstrated that the American thoroughbred is the equal of any in the world at any distance," remarked John E. Madden in THE RECORD office Wednesday. "The Lexington blood in the horse Star Hawk, that came from England, and other winners in America, shows that American blood will assert itself," continued Mr. Madden. "While in England Richard Croker's stallion Orby, whose dam is by our Hanover, may be mentioned. Orby, you know, is sixth on the leading sires' list this year, among his winners being Diadem (two-year-old winner of $12,915, the largest two-year-old winner in England only having $16,875 to his credit), Eos (three-year-old winner of $10,345), etc. The marked improvement of the race horse of today, and the demand for the service of the thoroughbred sire by the farmers, show its increasing popularity. Another pleasing feature of the situation at present is the large increase of patrons from the leisure class, both as breeders and attendants at the race track.

"It is to be regretted that the Western associations, Kentucky among the number, have abolished steeplechasing, a sport admired by all and especially the ladies.

"The war in Europe has awakened the authorities to the great necessity of having good thoroughbred stallions for our native mares, and those who formerly abused the running horse now stand in the ranks of those who see much virtue in him."

Word comes from Ireland, that H. R. A. West, who has just returned from the War, and who is a well-known trainer (Eastern Circuit) is leaving for Canada on the S. S. Pretorian, with a shipment of thoroughbred horses. All these horses except the yearlings have shown good form in Ireland and they will be disposed of on arrival in Canada. Mr. West will act as the agent of the Irish Bloodstock Agency of Dublin, and will be located at Hamilton, Ont. This firm has sent many good horses to this country, among them Fair Mac, property of Grant Hugh Browne. They are also sending to Canada Opera Glass, ch c, 3, by William Rufus—Spyglass, by Royal Hampton, winner of many races.

The horses Mr. West is bringing over are as follows:

Never Fear, b g, 9, by Clonmell—Lady Glenwood, by Hackler.

Iron Cross, b c, 2, by Galloping Simon—Madame Gull, by The Gull.

Peter Pan will head the stud composed of some twenty mares recently sent to Kentucky by Mr. Whitney and quartered at a farm near Lexington, under the management of C. H. Berryman. Along in the same car, came the bay yearling filly by Quebec out of Simon Queen, by Perigord, purchased by Brownell Combs at the recent sale in New York of imported yearlings belonging to the Brownleigh Park Breeding Corporation.

Entry blanks for the Futurity, to be run at the autumn meeting of 1919 at Belmont Park, may be had at THE RECORD office. The entries for mares, bred in 1916, close on Wednesday, January 3.

THE FUTURITY FOR 1919.

Racing Secretary A. McL. Earlocker, of the Westchester Racing Association, announces the closing of the Futurity, to be run at Belmont Park in 1919, in this issue of THE RECORD. Nominations will close at the office of the Westchester Racing Association, 18 East Forty-first Street, New York City, on January 3. This stake, inaugurated by the Coney Island Jockey Club in 1888, is the most coveted of juvenile prizes and it has always attracted an immense entry list. It was the big two-year-old fixture at the Sheepshead Bay course, but the last running over that famous track was in 1909. Since Belmont Park took over the Futurity from the Coney Island Jockey Club, the added money to the event has been made $5,000, of which $1,750 is divided among the breeders of the placed horses. Every breeder of a thoroughbred should make an entry in this race.

Full conditions appear in the announcement on another page. With the adequate return of the sport, it is assured that the nominations for the 1919 running will be large.

PROPOSED SELLING RACE RULES.

Following are the selling race rules, proposed by the committee appointed at the annual meeting of the Jockey Club in January, 1916, to be acted on at the annual meeting of the Jockey Club on January 11, 1917. The Committee is composed of F. R. Hitchcock, H. K. Knapp and E. B. Cassatt.

Part XVIII—Selling Races.

170. In all selling races a horse's liability to be claimed or offered for sale at auction shall terminate with the day of the race.

171A. All boys who, while under age, have of their own free will and with the consent of their parents or guardian, bound themselves to an owner or to a trainer for a term of not less than three years by a written instrument, copy of which has been lodged with The Jockey Club, are permitted during their apprenticeship to claim a five pound allowance in all selling races, except selling handicaps, provided no horse carries less than 84 lbs. They will be entitled to this allowance for one year (or 365 days) after winning their first race in any country.

B. The allowance under this rule must be claimed at the time of naming the selling price, and this allowance shall not be abandoned except by consent of the Stewards.

172A. Every horse running in a selling race may be claimed by anyone after the race for his entered price plus the value of the race and as much more in addition as the claimer wishes to bid.

B. But if it is the condition of the selling race that the winner shall be sold at auction the sale of the winner shall take place immediately after the race, and beaten horses may be claimed only by the owners of starters in the race for their entered selling price plus the value of the race and as much more in addition as he may wish to bid. The surplus bid on the horse either claimed or sold at auction shall go to the Association, to be added to the overnight events of the day following the sale.

C. If the conditions of the selling race permit any horse to be claimed before the race any horse so claimed shall be ineligible to start in the race; intended starters in a race where horses are liable to be claimed before the race shall be in the paddock forty-five (45) minutes before the time fixed for the race and may be claimed from that time up to thirty (30) minutes before the time of starting when the right to claim before starting expires. Any horse not being in the paddock and being reported to the paddock judge as being present shall be ineligible to start.

D. In claiming races, if two persons bid the same amount, the disposition of the horse shall be decided by lot.

E. In races where the winner may be claimed after the race an owner may claim his own horse.

173A. All claims shall be in writing and accompanied by the amount of the claim in cash if so required and shall be deposited in a box provided for that purpose.

B. All claims after the race must be deposited in the claiming box within fifteen minutes after the official conclusion of the race, when the time of claiming shall cease and the box be opened by the Clerk of the Course in the presence of one of the Stewards.

174A. If the surplus occurs on the last day of a meeting it shall be added to the first day of the next meeting given by the same Association.

B. No person shall submit more than one bid.

C. The winner, if he is to be sold at auction, must not leave the paddock without permission of the Clerk of the Course; and if he is sold or bought in and the price be not paid or satisfactorily secured within fifteen minutes the Stewards may direct that the horse be offered again at auction by sealed bid under the same conditions as hereinabove described and the purchaser at the first sale shall be responsible for any deficiency arising from the second and he shall be disqualified until it is paid.

175A. If the owners of two or more horses having equal rights claim the same horse they shall draw lots.

B. No person can claim more than one horse.

176. The price of every horse claimed must be paid or guaranteed to the Clerk of the Course, and an order given him for the delivery of the horse.

177. In case of a horse being claimed if the price be not paid or satisfactorily guaranteed within fifteen minutes after the claim is made, the claimant forfeits his right, but the owner may insist on the claimant's taking and paying for the horse, and if he refuse or neglect to do so, he shall be disqualified until he shall have paid.

178. A horse's liability to be sold is not affected by his walking over for a selling race, but he shall receive all the money offered by the conditions of the race to the winner and any surplus from the sale shall go to the Association.

179. In case of a dead heat for a selling race the time of selling or claiming is postponed until the dead heat is run off. In case of a division each of the dividing horses is a winner for the purposes of the rules relating to claiming and selling, and if it is an auction race, both horses shall be put to auction and any surplus shall be disposed of as provided in paragraph B, Rule 172.

180. If an objection to the winner of an auction race be not decided before the expiration of the time for selling, the horse objected to shall be put to auction, as shall be also, after the decision, the horse to which the race is awarded any surplus from the sale of either shall be treated as surplus from the sale of the winner.

181. If an objection to a horse which has been claimed or sold at auction as the winner of a selling race he declared valid, the purchaser may, within such time as the Stewards consider reasonable, reject or return the horse and place on the forfeit list any default by the owner in the repayment of the price.

182. Any person refusing to deliver a horse bought or claimed in a selling race shall be suspended and his case shall be reported to the Stewards of the Jockey Club, for such further action as they may think appropriate; the horse in the case is disqualified only until he is ultimately delivered to the original purchaser by the original vendor.

LET US TAN YOUR HIDE.

Cattle or Horse hide, Calf, Dog, Deer, or any kind of skin with hair or fur on. We tan and finish them right; make them into coats (for both men and women), robes, rugs or gloves when ordered.

Your fur goods will be worth more than to buy them, and be worth more. Our illustrated catalog gives a lot of information which every stock raiser should have, but we never send this valuable book except upon request.

It tells how to take off and care for hides, how and when we pay the freight both ways; about our safe dyeing process which is a tremendous advantage to the customer, especially on horse hides and calf skins; about the fur goods and game trophies we mount, as dermy, etc. If you want a copy send us your correct address.
